LBJ TRIP TO SHATTER RECORD

ELIGIBILITY QUESTIONED . . .

Swanson May Face Challenge

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The election of Republican treasurer nominee Wayne Swanson may be challenged on constitutional grounds if he defeats Democratic State Treasurer Fred Sorensen in next month's general election.

"He subjects himself to the possibility of being disqualified should he win," Democratic State Chairman John Mitchell of Kearney said Thursday.

Swanson is now a member of the State Railway Commission. His term does not expire until 1969.

Article 4, Section 2

Subject of a possible challenge would be Article IV, Section 2 of the state constitution which states that "none of the officers mentioned in this article shall be eligible to any other state office during the period for which they have been elected . . ."

The Railway Commission is mentioned in Section 20 of the same article.

Swanson said he is relying on an attorney general's opinion which he said was issued in 1964 stating that railway commissioners are not covered by the prohibition in Section 2.

Doesn't Apply

"We are not constitutional officers, as such," Swanson said. "The prohibition does not apply."

Swanson noted that nobody challenged his candidacy when he filed for the May primary election.

"If it should have been challenged, the secretary of state had the duty to challenge it," he said.

Issued Opinion

When Railway Commissioner Richard Larson sought a newly-created district post on the commission in the midst of his current term in 1964, he reported that the attorney general had issued an opinion declaring him eligible as a candidate.

The Railway Commission, Larson said he was told at the time, is a wholly independent body not bound by the ban which prevents executive officers, with the exception of lieutenant governor, from seeking any other state office.

The section creating a Railway Commission was added to Article IV of the constitution in 1906.

Unavailable

Both Attorney General Clarence Meyer and Secretary of State Frank Marsh were traveling Thursday and unavailable for comment.

"I think there is an infraction," Mitchell said.

"We have not formally taken action, and we do not intend to at this time. Mr. Sorensen has not requested that he be disqualified at this time."

But, Mitchell noted, "we are not waiving our right" to challenge Swanson's eligibility should he win next month's general election contest with Sorensen.

Under Question

The portion of the constitution under question will itself be on the ballot in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment.

Amendment 1, proposed by the Legislature, would remove the ban on elective executive state officers seeking other state office during their elected terms.

Erratic Inez Draws Bead On Yucatan

New Orleans (AP) — Erratic winds of Hurricane Inez battered the Yucatan Peninsula Thursday night as the killer storm bore down on the land of low tropical rain forests.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau late Thursday said Inez was only 40 miles northeast of the coast, where the great Mayan civilization once flourished.

Authorities began evacuating the 15,000 residents of Port Progreso, anticipating waves up to nine feet. Those who chose to remain were told to take shelter in the schools.

Mexican fishing boats sailing off Yucatan were ordered to seek refuge in Campeche, the peninsula's major port.

Oriental Peace Tour Widest For Any Chief

. . . HONORABLE VIET SOLUTION IS AIM

From Press Reports

Washington — Lyndon B. Johnson confirmed officially Thursday that his first presidential trip overseas will be the most extensive visit to the Far East ever launched by an American chief executive.

It begins Oct. 17 and winds up Nov. 2 and in between Johnson will cover roughly 25,000 miles and visit the capitals of New Zealand, Australia, the Philippines, Thailand, Malaysia and South Korea.

Cause of Peace

The overriding objective of the trip is to help the cause of an honorable peace in Viet Nam. This will be a focal point of a conference in Manila.

But, he said, the present prospects for peace are not encouraging.

Johnson said "no consideration has been given at this time to" visiting Viet Nam itself.

No president has been in a combat area since the late Franklin D. Roosevelt went to North Africa after most of the World War II fighting there had subsided.

Wouldn't Be Surprised

Still, it would not be surprising should Johnson show up suddenly and unannounced, under strictest security precautions, somewhere in Viet Nam sometime during the Pacific expedition.

Johnson also said he hoped the week-long halt in U. S. bombing of part of the Viet Nam Demilitarized Zone would lead to de-escalation of the war.

As a courtesy to the nations he is visiting, the White House let them spread the word first that the President is coming. Mrs. Johnson will go along.

She will be looking in on "various projects and historic sites" to gather ideas for such things as the beautification program at home.

Johnson denied suggestions that the timing of the trip was motivated by domestic political considerations. Others would have to "draw their own conclusions," he said, adding he did not intend to spend "all afternoon talking about my critics."

The President said he had nothing to say now about the possibility of taking a bipartisan congressional delegation with him to Manila.

President also siad:

—Llewellyn E. Thompson, the State Department's top authority on Soviet and Eastern European affairs, will go back to his former post as ambassador in Moscow, succeeding Foy D. Kohler, new deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs.

Linowitz to OAS

—Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. Ambassador to the Organization of American States, will succeed Thompson as ambassador at large, and Sol M. Linowitz, board chairman of Xerox International, Inc., will take Bunker's seat at the OAS.

—He still had not determined whether he would request an anti-inflationary tax increase, but warned Congress that "each vote to increase the budget is likely a vote for increased revenues later."

—he planned to deliver a major address on European policy in New York Friday before the National Conference of Editorial Writers.

—He had tried "everything I could to bring about equality between the races." In reply to a Republican leadership charge that his administration had failed to stop street violence, Johnson said "we want to have the voice of reason drown out the voice of violence." He cautioned Negroes that street riots hurt them the most.

'Good' Year

—The economy had been "very good" in 1966 and that 1967 "is going to be equally as good."

—He had no request to do support, and "has no plans to do so," recently nominated Democratic candidates for governor in the South with segregationist views. It was "very evident," he said, that their civil rights policies differed from his.

On Viet Nam, the President commented carefully about recent statements by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who had said he would not automatically exclude anything, including use of nuclear weapons, to end the war quickly.

"It is the policy of this government to exercise the best judgment of which we are capable in an attempt to provide maximum deterrence with minimum involvement," Johnson said.

Deterrent

The United States is "constantly concerned," he added, that the conflict might widen and bring in other nations. He said it had sought to use the power required to deter aggression "without attempting to conquer, invade or destroy Viet Nam."

At the same time, Johnson said, "we have no desire to capitulate or to retreat."

Eisenhower, incidentally visited Korea as president-elect in 1952 in fulfillment of a campaign promise. Then in 1960 he went back to Korea as president and also visited the Phillippines and Formosa.

Anti-American demonstrations brought cancellation of arrangements for Eisenhower to go to Japan at that time. And there has been no indication that Johnson might visit Tokyo this time.

As Johnson prepares to head out across the Pacific, he sees nothing specific, he said, to indicate that peace in Viet Nam is any more within reach than it has been.

$437,000 To Employes Of Youth Corps

Washington (UPI) — The U.S. Department of Labor said Thursday the Nebraska economy is $437,680 better off as a result of the seven Neighborhood Youth Corps projects operating in the state this summer.

The total represents the federal share of operating costs allocated to local sponsors of Youth Corps projects, principally for wages for 975 young people recruited from impoverished sections of the state.

These enrollees, ranging in age from 16 through 21, were paid $1.25 per hour for working nearly full time in Youth Corps programs designed to fight the local war on poverty.

In most cases the department said the money thus earned enabled these youths to return to school this fall and reduced the number of students who left school for economic reasons.

Nebraska projects with enrollees and federal share:

—Lincoln Public Schools, Lincoln, 200, $83,970.
—Omaha Public Schools, Omaha, 250, $108,600.
—Winnebago Tribal Council, Winnebago, 65, $28,910.
—Omaha Tribal Council, Macy, 55, $26,060.
—Northwest Nebraska Community Action Council, Chadron, 22, $8,750.

Expert Stresses Paid Exports

. . . TO AID BALANCE OF PAYMENTS PROBLEM

By JOHN DeCAMP
Star Staff Writer

A U.S. Export-Import Bank official told a Lincoln audience Thursday night that American exporters, in their enthusiasm to promote exports, should not extend too much credit in their transactions.

Albert Hamilton, of the bank's information office, told Nebraska World Trade Council people meeting here that too often we ignore the "getting paid" part of it. This practice, he pointed out, doesn't help the balance of payments problem.

Though a variety of solutions to this problem have been proposed—from reducing military expenditures to discouraging U.S. tourist travel abroad—Hamilton suggested the easiest solution was simply "increase our exports."

Receipts Help

However, he cautioned, "It should be made crystal-clear that our balance of payments is helped only by receipts for exports—by getting paid — not the exports themselves."

Hamilton admitted that immediate payment was not always possible.

But, he contended, if credit is extended the "sales contract should call for a substantial cash payment." This yields an immediate benefit to the balance of payments, and reduces accordingly the amount of credit which must be made available."

Financing the export sale is not as difficult as one might believe despite the "tight money" situation, Hamilton explained. "In extending credit for the financed portion of the sale, we believe that this should be shared as widely as possible. The exporter, who stands to gain from the sale should take for his own risk and account a portion of the financing.

Commercial Credit

"For the balance, commercial sources of credit should be explored to the fullest possible extent. This is in the American tradition, and is one reason why our banking system has evolved one of the more sophisticated money markets in the world."

If an exporter still finds credit difficulties, Hamilton said, "The Export-Import Bank exists only to serve you."

"We do this not by taking business away from the banks, but by enabling them to perform the financing function so urgently needed. We are prepared, other things being equal, to issue our guarantee to the commercial bank covering the major portion of the credit risks, both commercial and political."

From the standpoint of the exporter then, Hamilton said, "he arranges his financing with his own banker, whom he knows and who is familiar with his particular problems."

Strategy Changes Pondered

. . . FOR DELTA, HOT BORDER ZONE

Saigon (AP) — Allied strategists looked ahead Thursday from sweeping gains on the central coast and hilltop skirmishing on the jungled roof of South Viet Nam to changes this fall in prosecution of the war.

U.S. military leaders are considering a new campaign with swift, shallow-draft assault boats and military landing teams — probably American infantrymen — to block the Viet Cong from waterways of the Mekong Delta. This would augment smaller patrols by the U.S. Navy. The final decision may come when Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara arrives next week.

The U.S. command plans heavy reliance on artillery and air strikes to stem an expected offensive from North Viet Nam across the old Demilitarized Zone when a shift in monsoon winds brings seasonal rains and fog later this month to that region where North and South Viet Nam collide.

175mm Piece Tops

With self-propelled 175mm guns among batteries already in place and jet squadrons based only minutes away, American officers express confidence the infiltrating enemy will be ground into the mud. In size, range and destructive power, the 175mm is the top artillery piece manufactured in the United States.

The aim is to step up firepower in support of U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops — now totalling nearly a full division of 15,000 men — who have identified elements of three Red divisions in action south of the DMZ.

Artillerymen have fired nearly a million shells in this sector over the last two months. Two thousand air strikes have pounded the communist positions in the campaign that saw Marines Wednesday capture Hill 484, the final objective on a four-mile ridge they had been clearing of North Vietnamese for 15 days.

Mass Surrender

The mass surrender of a hard-core Viet Cong unit of 66 men cut deep into the shrunken ranks of communist units trapped by U.S. air cavalrymen and their Korean and Vietnamese allies on the central coast between the Phu Cat Mountains and the sea.

Waving safe conduct passes air-dropped by the allies, the 66 gave up to South Viet Nam's 22nd Division and swelled to 853 the roll of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops killed or captured in five days of fighting. The dead totalled 553, the prisoners 300.

The bag of captives was probably the war's biggest in any one operation.

The campaign caps a drive that South Korea's Tiger Division launched Sept. 23 against enemy holdings in the Phu Cat Mountains.

Casualties

Over-all casualties were slightly lower on both sides last week than for the previous week, but U.S. losses exceeded those of South Viet Nam's armed forces for the fifth time this year.

Of 202 allied servicemen who fell in action, 99 were Americans. The rest were 87 Vietnamese and 16 of other nationalities. The total for the week of Sept. 18-24 was 248.

Spokesmen listed 1,104 communist dead, compared with 1,208 in the previous week.

The U.S. command said that, in addition to the 99 killed, 642 Americans were wounded and 12 were missing or captured.

The roll of American dead in five years of war rose to 6,543. Of these 5,401 fell in combat and 1,142 died from other causes such as aircraft accidents, traffic crashes and drowning.

Motor Vehicle Dept. Seeks More Money For Proposed Programs

The State Motor Vehicle Department will ask the next Legislature for a 1967-69 operating budget of $3.1 million, an increase of more than $1 million from the previous two-year period.

Motor Vehicle Director James Dunlevey said the boost would be needed to help cover costs of a proposed driver's license re-examination program.

He said his recommendation for re-testing will cost $412,320 to operate. It will call for re-examination every four years, the date to fall near a person's birthday.

He said his examination staff would have to be doubled by adding 26 new men. Another testing station would be required in Omaha, bringing the total to four, and increasing Lincoln's from one to two stations.

Dunlevey said he would also propose that Nebraska begin an annual vehicle inspection program, administered through private garages that would be licensed by the state.

This would be a cash fund program, he said, costing an estimated $237,231 over the biennium. He said it is proposed that each vechicle be charged $1 per inspection.

He said 85 cents would go to the garage, with the remaining 15 cents going to the state to help cover licensing expenses.

Dunlevey said he is "confident" that both programs would be part of national regulations proposed as a comprehensive state safety program.

He said states which fail to comply will be shut off from federal safety funds and could be docked 10% of their federal aid highway construction money.

Dunlevey said his budget increase is based on proposed salary hikes within the department and the higer costs of supplies.

He said he would recommend to the next governor that the director's annual salary be boosted from $10,000 to $12,000.

He also said the costs of producing license plates will go up a nickel per plate or $122,000 when the state makes new plates in 1969.

New York Exiles Pete The Collie

Raleigh, N.C. (AP)—Pete the collie arrived here Thursday to begin his exile from New York City, which had sentenced him to death as a vicious dog.

Pete was sentenced to die after the New York City health department and the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals received complaints from persons who claimed that the dog had bitten them. But Authony, his friends and neighbors insisted that Pete was only playful.

Anthony, meanwhile, has a new dog—a 3-year-old collie who looks a lot like Pete and is named Rusty.

Budget-Busters Okayed

. . . SENATE, HOUSE WON'T CUT SCHOOL AID

Washington (UPI) — The House and Senate approved separate budget-busting school aid bills Thursday. The House attached to its version a strong new curb on federal efforts to end racial discrimination in the schools.

The Senate bill, passed 54 to 16, carried $6.4 billion spending authority for the two years starting last July 1. The House bill, approved 237 to 97 a few hours later, would authorize $5.7 billion for the same period.

Both far exceeded President Johnson's requests. The measures now must go to a conference committee to work out differences.

No Economizing

But efforts to cut back the spending were knocked aside in both the House and Senate.

(Nebraska GOP Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska were announced in favor of the bill.)

The House, by a 185 to 150 vote beat down, 185 to 150, a last-ditch attempt to knock about $1.3 billion out of the bill despite Republican leader Gerald R. Ford's appeal to members to heed Johnson's latest economy pleas.

The main controversy was the volatile question of federal aid to schools, both Northern and Southern, where racial integration has become an issue.

The House, with the backing of many Northern Democrats, approved, 220 to 116, an amendment that would forbid the U.S. Office of Education to defer school aid applications from districts whose desegregation plans do not, in the agency's view, comply with the 1964 civil rights law. That law banned federal aid to schools and other institutions that practice racial discrimination.

By Fountain

The amendment by Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., would require a formal finding, after full hearings, that the district actually is discriminating before funds could be held up. The 1964 law required such hearings and findings before funds could be formally denied or withdrawn, but made no mention of temporary deferrals of applications.

Opponents of the Fountain amendment said it would require Education Commissioner Harold Howe to send school aid funds to districts that were in obvious violation of the civil rights law until he could get a formal determination of that fact. They said that could take three months or more.

The House also adopted, 263 to 5, an amendment which would forbid the education commissioner to require assignment or transportation of students or teachers to local schools to achieve racial balance.

Funding Later

Actual funds for the elementary-secondary school aid program and the older "impacted areas" assistance for schools crowded with the children of federal workers and servicemen must come in separate appropriations legislation.

A civil rights battle was averted in the Senate when language referring to racial imbalance was deleted from the bill, as proposed by Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Arz. He said it gave the U.S. Office of Education power to dictate a local district's racial "mix" of pupils.

The Senate also shouted down a "sense of Congress" amendment proposed by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., that would have permitted a school system to set aside time each day for prayerful meditation in the classroom if no public official prescribed or recited a prayer.

The amendment was opposed by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and by Dirksen, who lost an earlier attempt this year to "clarify" the Supreme Court's school prayer ruling.

Moon Lots Livelier Than Was Thought

Hampton, Va. (AP) — Recent photographs of the lunar surface provide evidence the moon is more alive than previously thought, scientist reported Thursday.

However, they said, the photographs, which were made by Lunar Orbiter 1, did not provide enough information with which to determine a landing site for America's Apollo astronauts.

And for that reason, it was announced, Lunar Orbiter will be launched between Nov. 6 and Nov. 11 to make another round of pictures, concentrating on the moon's smoother areas.

Dr. Lawrence Rowan of the U.S. Geological Survey said Lunar Orbiter's photographs disclosed evidence of dynamic processes on the moon. This evidence, he said, included faults or slippages of the surface such as occur on earth.

The pictures also disclosed evidence of volcanic activity on the moon's surface, which Rowan attributed to radioactivity.

Still another bit of evidence was in photographs that showed "slumping" or sliding of materials from the rims of countless craters, Rowan said.

Wilson Has Party Rebellion On Hands; It's Embarrassing

Brighton, England (AP) — Two former cabinet ministers led British Socialists into rebellion Thursday against Prime Minister Harold Wilson—winning votes demanding embarrassing changes in his Viet Nam and defense policies.

But the British leader is certain to shrug aside the demands of his Labor Party's annual convention, knowing if he met them his government soon would be in serious conflict with President Johnson's administration.

One resolution adopted by the conference puts the onus on the Americans to end the Viet Nam war by, among other things, ending their North Viet Nam bomb strikes.

Despite Brown

This was voted 3,851,000 to 2,644,000, in the face of a declaration by Foreign Minister George Brown, in presenting a six-point Vietnamese peace plan, that:

"The truth, unpalatable as it may be to some, is that only when someone can persuade Hanoi to go as far as the Americans have already gone shall we be on the way to creating the climate and finding the situation and the moment when a peaceful settlement may be achieved."

In a first reaction, Radio Moscow said Brown's proposals were "unacceptable" because his plan for de-escalating the fighting is "almost an exact copy of American proposals."

The English-language broadcast heard in London said both the American and British proposals call for simultaneous reduction in hostilities on both sides.

"This puts the (American) aggressor and his victim on an equal footing, which makes the proposals unacceptable."

To Push It

Brown's program which he said he would urge on U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko after he reaches the United Nations Friday, includes a call for a peace parley as soon as possible at which the Viet Cong would have a place.

The second resolution, approved 3,470,000 to 2,644,000, called on the government to pull British forces out of Malaysia, Singapore and the Persian Gulf—"ending over-dependence on American support" and to cut the nation's $6 billion annual defense bill by at least one-eighth.

Setback

For the Wilson government the adverse votes represented politically damaging setbacks. Only a few minutes before they were taken Brown had advised the 1,250 delegates to reject them.

In Britain governments of the day are not bound to obey—only to be guided by—decisions of the parties they represent.

Wilson and his colleagues were quick to point out that during the same process of voting, the conference overwhelmingly accepted a statement of foreign and defense policy issued last weekend by the leadership.

Stark

Brown's text for Viet Nam was stark:

"There cannot be, nor should there be, a military solution to this conflict."

"Cannot"—because of the terrain.

"Should not"—because victory "could only embolden the victor" and sow seeds of new, more horrible conflicts.

This led Brown to say the only feasible solution" is a negotiated peace—and here he blamed the Hanoi Communists for rejecting a long series of offers.

Russia Boasts Big Harvest

Moscow (UPI) — The Soviet government Thursday announced the largest grain harvest in the nation's history.

The announcement amounted to a tangible vote of confidence in multibillion-dollar efforts to boost farm output and end the necessity for expensive, embarassing wheat purchases from capitalist nations.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, quoted agriculture ministry official Ivan Khoroshilov as saying the harvest of all grains this year will be about 160 to 165 million tons.

He did not give exact figures for different kinds of grain, such as wheat, oats or barley.

The previous record was set in 1964, when a bumper crop brought in 152.1 million tons. Bad weather last year drove yields down to 120.5 million tons.

Since then, the Kremlin has invested millions of dollars in a program of irrigation, land reclamation, fertilization and mechanization in an attempt to end these cyclical ups-and-downs and make Soviet farming self-sufficient.

Frenchman Says Chinese Behind In H-Bomb Race

Papeete, Tahiti (UPI) — A French official claims that the testing of two recent atomic bombs has put France ahead of Communist China in the race to build an H-bomb.

Jean Sicurani, governor of French Polynesia, told a news conference that the force of the atomic device exploded Sunday "exceeds any result the Chinese have obtained in similar thermonuclear ways."

The blast rounded out the 1966 test series.

Bankrupt Company Accepts Settlement

Sioux City, Iowa (AP)—Authority was granted Thursday to accept a $5,000 offer in settlement of all claims against four former officers of a company which went bankrupt after a $2 million embezzlement by Mrs. Bernice Geiger from a Sheldon bank.

It is to settle all claims against Harold Kistner Jr., Harold Kistner Sr., James Kistner, Peter Robinet and Bio-Zyme, Inc., a company the four men owned.

Bio-Zyme produced the enzymes used by Northern Biochemical in producing enzyme-treated animal feeds. Kistner Jr. was president of Northern Biochemical and the other men served on its board of directors.

W. M. Whicher, attorney for the trustee, said Bull was in favor of accepting the offer because Kistner Jr. has several federal tax claims pending against him, his father and brother James say they have no money, and Bio-Zyme's only assets are of questionable value.

Federal investigators have said a substantial amount of the money embezzled from the Sheldon National Bank went to Northern Biochemical Corp. Mrs. Geiger was one of the largest holders of Northern stock.

Rush-Volunteers Proposal Poses Problem For Kremlin

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

Moscow (AP) — Proposals that communist countries rush volunteers to fight in Viet Nam and then hold a communist unity meeting posed a problem for the Soviet Union Thursday.

The Soviet press did not report the proposals of North Korea's Communist leader, Kim Il Sung. His speech Wednesday in Pyongyang criticized both the Soviet and Chinese positions in the Moscow-Peking rift but urged that all communist countries unite in sending volunteers to Viet Nam.

The chances that the speech would influence the Kremlin's attitude toward sending volunteers looked remote to experienced observers here.

North Korea was long under Moscow's influence, then moved into the Peking orbit. Last Aug. 12 it declared its independence.

If Hanoi Asks

The position of the Soviet Union and its East European allies is that they will send volunteers if Hanoi asks for them.

Some observers here suspect that a secret understanding with Hanoi makes further consultation necessary before the North Vietnamese government makes any public request.

China has also said it would send volunteers if needed. But the basic Chinese line is that Vietnamese communists must rely upon their own resources.

This line apparently is intended to discourage a significant Soviet presence in North Viet Nam.

Aside from the physical difficulties arising from China's control of land routes to Hanoi and U.S. naval control of sea routes, there is another problem for Moscow.

Kremlin leaders seemingly do not want to strain relations with the United States any more than necessary. They have emphasized that Soviet technicians did not combat while training North Vietnamese to use Soviet-supplied weapons.

The Soviet release of a U.S. Peace Corps volunteer and the agreement to resume talks on a Moscow-New York air service indicate that the Kremlin is watching its Western relations.

A lot of domestic signs indicate that peaceful development internally is more important in the Kremlin than taking risks to spread communism in Southeast Asia.

Road Builders' New Equipment Revising Marks

. . . As Interstate Work Continues

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Aurora—Nearly every field of endeavor has records, and highway building is among them.

Technology has produced the slip-form paving machine that has been used to close the gap in Interstate 80 between Omaha and North Platte.

A plaque is at permanent rest on the super road just south of here, stating that the final gap in those twin ribbons of concrete was filled Oct. 1.

"I don't see how we could have finished this soon without that machine," said Virgil Miller of Lincoln slab foreman on the job contracted by Abel Construction Co. "It has made a lot of difference."

"Two separate days this summer we have paved a mile. One day we did 5,370 feet, another day something over 5,300."

He admitted that Missouri Valley Construction Co., working on a section of Interstate east of here, had beaten his company, posting a new mark of 6,600 feet one day.

3,000 Feet Old Mark

"We used to figure 3,000 feet was a good day's work with the old forms," continued the foreman. "We had got as high as 3,400, and always tried to beat it."

The slip-form equipment carries its own forms. "Mud" is poured into the front, the machine vibrates it, then proceeds forward, leaving the concrete to stand by itself.

The first of two machines lays down 7½ inches of roadway 24 feet wide. A steel mesh is placed on that, and a second machine applies the finishing 2½ inches.

Formerly, steel forms had to be put in place, into which the mix was poured and vibrated manually. The forms were removed later.

"We don't have to work with forms anymore except on interchanges and small work," noted Miller.

This construction season is the first time the equipment has been used on Nebraska Interstate jobs.

Abel's equipment was being dismantled early this week for movement to Walthill, where it will try to get a U.S. 77 paving job finished this fall.

Shoulders and interchanges will keep crews busy in this area for a couple more months before the missing link opens the state's I-80 belt. belt.

Hard To Find Baseball Pool

Fremont (AP) — One of the toughest things to find in Fremont Thursday — the second day of the World Series—was a baseball pool.

Police Chief Edward F. Clinchard has conducted pinball and bookie raids and shortly before the World Series a caller asked the chief what he was going to do about baseball pools.

Clinchard replied he would enforce the law.

The word quickly spread. Though there were no raids and no arrests, the apparent threat of a crackdown appeared to have been enough to discourage the usual baseball pools.

"It's not Clinchard's fault. He was put on the spot," said a beer distributor.

As for the chief himself, Clinchard said that "as long as there are laws on the books to enforce we will enforce them. This is the same as horse racing or bingo. There are ways of making them legal if the public wants them."

Coffin Sentenced To Penal Complex

Kimball (AP) — Glen Coffin, 29, Kimball, was sentenced in Kimball County District Court to six years in the Nebraska Penal Complex on charges of breaking jail at Kimball Sept. 12 and for breaking and entering at a grain elevator at Dix, Neb.

Demos Trying To Smear Our GOP Group—Martin

Kearney (UPI)—Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., said the Democrats are "desperate (and) have been trying to smear our fine group of candidates."

The Third District congressman spoke while the state GOP caravan made a stop at a free barbecue here.

"Now they're even trying to knock our free barbecues," Martin said. "They're criticizing us for holding these barbecues to get people together to see and hear our candidates."

He added: "We're proud to be serving Nebraska beef — the best in the world. It certainly beats the steady diet of propaganda and empty promises that the people are getting from the Great Society."

This country's government needs "a strong minority" in Washington, Martin said. "The House of Representatives recently approved one and three-quarters billion dollars for the poverty program. The Republicans were unsuccessful in attempts to cut the proposed appropriations.

"Word came down from the White House, and the Democrats in the House of Representatives went ahead and rubber-stamped the President's request."

Lincolnite Receives Hero's Award For Saving Omahan From Drowning

Hastings (UPI) — Bill J. Reeves, 21, Lincoln, Thursday was named the latest recipient of the Nebraska hero's award.

Along with other Nebraska heroes, he will be honored during the annual convention of Nebraska Funeral Directors Association next April.

Reeves in June saved the life of Raymond Mensen, 25, Omaha, while swimming at Desoto Bend near Blair.

An inspector for the Nebraska Department of Roads and an adviser in scuba diving, Roca Boys' Explorer Troop in Lincoln, Reeves credited his YMCA scuba training for aiding in the rescue of Mensen.

"I stuck one finger in the bottom of the lake and swam in a circle around it, trying to feel for him with my other hand. When I completed the circle, I went forward a little and did the same thing," he said.

He found Mensen on the second circle. After he hauled the Omahan to the surface, Reeves administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Mensen recovered and was taken to a hospital.

Tractor Overturns Killing Gretna Man

Springfield (UPI) — Chester Keyes, 41, of rural Gretna, was killed Wednesday when his tractor overturned on him.

The accident occurred in a field northwest of Springfield.

It will not be counted as a traffic death.

Col. McKenzie Named District Army Engineer

Washington (AP) — Col. William McKenzie III will become the Omaha District Army Engineer in January.

The 43-year-old Georgian and West Point graduate will succeed Col. Harold J. St. Clair. St. Clair, who has held the post since 1963 and is going to Viet Nam.

McKenzie now is assigned to the headquarters of the Army's 9th Logistical Command in Thailand.

Patrol Checks For Possible Plane Crash

Ainsworth (AP) — The Ainsworth office of the State Safety Patrol reports troopers were checking the area about 15 miles north of Taylor for the possible source of an explosion reported by a high-flying aircraft.

However, a spokesman said that officers had found nothing. The check was continuing.

A spokesman at the Denver Air Traffic Control Center said the center had accounted for all military and civilian aircraft flying under flight plans in the area and none were missing or overdue, as far as they knew.

Nebraska News

He said the report of the explosion — feared to have been an aircraft in difficulty—came from a pilot flying at high altitude. Under those circumstances, the spokesman said, "it could have been any type of small explosion" which could have caused such an effect.

The patrol spokesman said that officers had received no reports from residents of the area of any such occurance.

Two Nebraska Girls Candidates For Royal Queen

Kansas City (AP)—Two Nebraska girls are among the candidates for queen of the American Royal Stock Show.

The winner, selected from among 18 candidates from colleges and universities in eight states in the Kansas City trade area, will be crowned Saturday night.

The Nebraskans are Karen E. Goble of Beatrice, a student at Kearney State College, and Cynthia Hardin of Lincoln, a student at the University of Kansas, and daughter of Chancellor and Mrs. Clifford Hardin of Lincoln.

Money Back Requested By Prison Inmate

Omaha (AP) — Something new has turned up in the stream of legal motions from state prison inmates.

Comes now Maurice J. Smith who wants his money back.

"I've had everything else," said County Attorney Donald Knowles. His deputies have been conducting court fights against writs of mandamus and habeas corpus, tax injunctions, motions to suppress and pleas of abatement.

$87 Involved

Smith has filed a writ of replevin asking return of $87 which he says was taken as evidence following his arrest for a service station robbery earlier this year.

Smith noted he had pleaded guilty and had no trial, therefore it was never established that the money was not rightfully his.

Eight Teenagers Jailed On Lincoln Auto Theft Count

Lincoln police Thursday said that eight teenage youths have been arrested in connection with the theft and subsequent dismanteling and sale of a 1966 automobile. The car was taken in Lincoln September 28.

Three of the boys were located Thursday night by Kansas state police near Coffeyville, Kan.

Lincoln police will go to Kansas Friday with warrants and bring the boys back to Lincoln.

Health Picture Chaotic Most Places, Claims Rev. Weishar

Omaha (AP) — A hospital director said Thursday that despite Medicare and many medical-social agencies, the health picture in most cities is chaotic.

The Rev. John Weishar, director of hospitals for the Diocese of Peoria, Ill., said many people who really need help often cannot get it.

"Many miss qualifying for programs and many more just don't know who to see. Whatever the case, people are not pleased," he said.

Father Weishar was among more than 300 persons attending the annual convention of the Nebraska Hospital Association.

He suggested that a step in the direction of solving the dilemma would be "metropolitan health-welfare authorities —perhaps like the Port Authority of New York. Almost every town has hundreds of agencies doing some aspect of health welfare work. Many of these are duplicating efforts of others. Certainly there is a waste of activities and staff effort."

Smuggling Charged

Bombay, India (AP) — Bombay, which has prohibition and a smuggling problem usually involving gold, has arrested Capt. George Abatielos, master of the Liberian-flag tanker Capistrano, on charges of smuggling liquor in a harbor boat. Customs reported he was short $20,000 worth of liquor in his bonded cargo. He was released on $10,000 bail pending a hearing.

Lagoon Sewage System Okayed For Columbus

Columbus (AP) — In a meeting which attracted so many spectators it had to be moved to the city auditorium, the City Council called for construction of a mechanically aerated lagoon sewage treatment system.

In doing so, the council accepted the recommendation of an Omaha engineering firm. The vote was 5-3.

Afterward, Mayor Barney Micek, who has previously vetoed lagoon system legislation, commented: "The resolution will have to become law without my signature."

Asked if that meant he would or would not veto the measure, he declined further comment.

Possible For Youths With Vision To Become Beef Cattlemen–Baker

York—It still is possible for a high school boy with vision and desire to become a beef cattle farmer, despite the heavy capitalization required for such an operation.

This belief was expressed by Frank H. Baker, chairman of the University of Nebraska Department of Animal Science, in a talk presented at the York junior feeders show and sale here Thursday.

"Today's high-schooler can pursue beef cattle farming as a career if he is willing to work in preparation for such a career, and continue to work after he has prepared himself," Baker advised.

The boy interested in livestock as a lifetime occupation must be willing to start at the bottom of the ladder and work up, the NU administrator said.

"In the Midwest, research has shown that an investment of more than $150,000 is needed in beef operation to produce a net income of $115 to $120 per week. To become proprietor of any business using such an investment, a high school boy needs special education and a number of years of experience," Baker continued.

Justice Continues Evolution

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The reversal of the first degree murder conviction of Jack Ruby for the killing of presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald continues the evolutionary process that has left many people in a state of confusion and consternation. If defense attorneys are correct, and it would seem that they have a most plausible position, the most Ruby could now be convicted of would be murder without malice.

Such a conviction carries a sentence of from two to five years in prison. Since Ruby has already spent three years in jail, it is assumed that even if he were convicted of the murder without malice charge, he would walk out of the court a free man. Even the possibility of this seems incredible to many citizens. They simply fail to understand how a man can pull a gun, shoot another individual in cold blood before a national television audience and get off with a few years in jail. From such a simple point of view, we can't quite understand it, either, but there are other factors not quite so simple.

Understanding Difficult

There are two main points to consider in the situation—the right to a fair trial and premeditation. The Texas appeals court which reversed Ruby's conviction did so on the grounds that he should have been granted a change of venue from the original Dallas court and that the original court permitted the admission of testimony it should not have accepted.

Change of venue is nothing more than a fair trial. It means that an individual convicted of a crime can ask that his trial be conducted outside the area of the original crime and in an area where no prejudice is apt to work against him. The Texas appeals court did not rule that newspaper publicity had denied Ruby a fair trial.

It did state that the jury in the original trial could have been affected by a feeling throughout Dallas that the city itself was on trial, that Ruby had to be convicted to uphold the good name and reputation of the city. It is a stretch of the imagination to say that, as a result of this, newspaper publicity created a prejudiced atmosphere against Ruby. The case itself had sufficient aspects to motivate people in various directions without any help from press reports. Even in the total absence of the press, the people of Dallas and the nation would have known what happened and been emotionally disturbed as a result of it. Of course, the people of Dallas did occupy an unusual role and may well have been affected by a guilt complex that would be no part of the makeup of people elsewhere.

In the matter of change of venue, the average citizen should have little argument. This is a basic part of your right to a fair and impartial trial and none should ever wish that it be ignored. Nor does a change of venue usually have any great influence on the ultimate fulfillment of justice. It does not in this case provide the grounds by which Ruby may find his freedom. Those grounds are found in the appeals court decision relative to the admissibility of certain testimony. This is testimony offered by police officers as to statements made by Ruby after the killing.

Without a formal legal background and without access to the full text of the court decision, it is impossible to fully discuss this aspect of the case. One can only find certain things on which to base some speculation. Apparently, the high court ruled that Ruby's statements were not in the nature of a legal confession.

Specifically, the court said Ruby's statements were made too long after the actual shooting to be considered as spontaneous. These were statements showing Ruby's prior intent to commit the act, supposedly proving his premeditation. In the absence of such statements, the prosecution failed to prove premeditation and Ruby, therefore, could not be convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to death.

Ruby's defense maintains that without this testimony, the prosecution will be unable, in any new trial, to prove premeditation. Thus, the defense assumes that murder without malice is the only charge of which Ruby can be convicted. Of course, the prosecution may not see it all this way. It may have other testimony or evidence it could submit in support of its first degree charge. At this time, one cannot tell what the future holds for sure, since it is not even certain that Ruby will have a new trial. But again, we have for consideration a vital element in the law —the admissibility of evidence.

Future Still Uncertain

Certainly, no citizen would want trials conducted without proper rules governing the submission of evidence. Rumor, hearsay, wild speculations, irrelevant material —no one would want such things admitted by the court. So once again, while we have a development that leaves us perplexed in its final end, we are hard put to indict the means of getting there.

"This Is Supposed To Serve 200,000,000?"

A Loss To Lincoln

With the death of Edward M. O'Shea, Sr., a permanent smile has gone from the scene. This is just one of the things for which Mr. O'Shea will be missed by the countless people who knew him and counted him as a friend. He was a man who was always pleasant to be around, who found it possible to smile no matter what the problem he faced might be.

Additionally, he was one of Lincoln's and Nebraska's pioneering businessmen. His success in business was known far and wide and he was the author of a number of unique undertakings that were later carried on by others to become substantial ventures.

He built a business on what might be called the old-fashioned qualities of personal integrity and a good product. No one who had any dealings with Mr. O'Shea came to regret the fact. He was a keen businessman but he was an honest one and the reputation was never tarnished.

At the same time, he had a faith in and loyalty to his community and his state. Throughout his life, he gave unstintingly of his time and possessions to further the general welfare of the place where he lived and worked. He believed in giving something back to his community in return for the benefits he received from it.

These same characteristics of ability, willingness to sacrifice, understanding and cordiality could be seen in his family and church life. We doubt that he had many regrets in life and we know that his presence will long be missed.

It Is A New Day

The Nebraska State Grange has pointed a way toward economic improvement for the state.

It said: "Foster the canning industry."

According to Albert J. Ebers, Seward, master of the Grange, "Income from marketing the food Nebraska produces would amount to $2.7 billion, or nearly twice the income from our agricultural production.

Surely there is sense in this position. Food products are natural to Nebraska, as coal is to west Virginia or iron ore to northern Minnesota. Why do we not proceed father in our biggest field? The canning industry should be a natural for Nebraska.

Seventy five years ago every city of consequence in Nebraska possessed a canning factory. One or two remain today turning out nationally distributed products.

There were reasons for the decline in local canning. The plants existed before irrigation. They did not have an ever normal source of supply. They lacked products during the off season. The farmers preferred to grow corn and wheat. Plants operating a month or two a year did not return enough profit to justify expansion and modernization. So much of the industry was abandoned.

But most of the barriers that blocked expansion 75 years ago have been removed. Off season canning sustains all canning factories today. Meat, dry beans and other products now keep factories busy most of the year.

It is time to reexamine the field. It is time to think seriously about other crops than corn, wheat and milo. The coming of irrigation and abundant ever normal production should stimulate more wide examination of things we can do.

We have been too dedicated to a past that no longer exists.

A Way To Die

Usually when a town dies, and towns frequently do die, the thing to do is to let the corpse gradually disintegrate where it fell.

Grass casts its mantle over what was once a busy street, roofs fall in. Trees grow out of paneless windows. A robin builds a nest in what was once the post-office. A rabbit rears its young in the one time hardware store.

As the remains over the years gradually disappears from view nothing is left but depressions in the sod marking where there were once basements. Silence rules the area and defeat is clearly marked.

Not so with the town of Quandahl, in northeast Iowa.

It went out in the presence of 3,000 people and got $15,000 for its demise—an example of free enterprise at its best.

Once, long ago, founders laid out the town and gave it a name. Like all towns it started with great hope. Who knows, it might have been another London, or New York City. But the hope didn't jell.

Map makers gave it a location. The post office department recognized it as a going town. A railroad built through and people came to live and businessmen came to serve the people and a banker decided it was a good place to live a gainful life and he settled down there. But somewhere along the line decay set in. The railroad locked up the depot. Later the trains quit running. The government pulled out its post office. The bank failed and people began moving away. It was the end.

By a week ago nothing was left of the business section. But there were still six homes on the main street and there was the townsite property.

So the surviving citizens held an auction and sold the whole works.

All in all it was a clean way to die.

'Black Power' Hurts White Helpers

Washington, D.C.
Oct. 5, 1966
Dear George:

Just 20 years ago I went down to Atlanta to face the Ku Klux Klan on the steps of the Georgia state capitol. I am not at all sure that I was smart in doing this, for I did not realize what the Klan's record was to be for violence and murder.

Anyway I accepted a Klan challenge to deliver a radio broadcast in Atlanta, and I am writing you about this only because it involves a man who ran for governor of Georgia the other day in a race which will mold southern history.

He is Ellis Arnall, who was governor of Georgia when I went down to Atlanta, and who had the courage then to introduce me on the radio.

This led to a lot of criticism of Gov. Arnall. Nevertheless Georgia made progress. When I was in Atlanta I visited police headquarters where I found a forward-looking police chief, Herbert Jenkins, training Negro policemen to patrol the Negro sections of the city. And I met Mayor William Hartsfield who was encouraging Negroes to play a greater role in city affairs.

I am quite sure Gov. Arnall paid politically for that confrontation with the Klan. He didn't run again for office for 20 years, though he was very active in Georgia educational and business affairs and he went to Washington for a time to serve in one of the toughest jobs in the nation—Wartime Price Administrator.

Meanwhile Georgia, especially Atlanta, made a lot of progress. Northern industry moved South. Business boomed. Race relations seemed much better. At this point Ellis Arnall ran for governor again.

At first he seemed sure to win. But during the summer Stokely Carmichael became leader of SNCC, the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee. He not only abandoned its policy of "non-violence" but coined the slogan "Black Power."

Then last summer he championed black power and the principle of violence. Suddenly, as if in answer, riots broke out in big cities all over the nation, and simultaneously the progress Negoes had been making all over the nation began to go backward.

And with every riot, every recourse to violence, the white reaction, the white criticism of this violence set back white men who had worked for Negro progress. So by the time Ellis Arnall's second primary election rolled round, this reaction was so strong that a restaurant owner whose chief fame was that he had used axe-handles to bar Negroes defeated Arnall for the Democratic nomination.

This man never served one day in government, never studied government, knows nothing about the intricate machinery of government. But he won merely because he campaigned against Negroes.

Love,
YOUR GRANDFATHER

Gov. Rockefeller Campaigns Strongly

NEW YORK — As the make-or-break period of the New York state campaign begins, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has achieved momentum bringing him close to Democrat Frank O'Connor, who has been standing still.

Another surprise is the unexpectedly aggressive campaign being waged by Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the Liberal party nominee. He is drawing nostalgic crowds in the vote-thick city boroughs, and the possible size of his vote worries the Democrats.

A sunny fall day in the city suggested the trend. It found Rockefeller touching ethnic bases like mad and adding to labor support already remarkable for a Republican. O'Connor's day featured the sorry recent past of his party when Abe Beame lost the mayoralty to Republican John V. Lindsay in a genuine upset. Roosevelt was working Brooklyn on foot, pressed by enthusiastic well-wishers.

The governor, slimmed down and beaming, started off with applause from David Dubinsky, elder statesman of the liberals, as a great humanitarian. Dubinsky bore with grace some probing questions from reporters about how this might affect Roosevelt, assuring them the occasion was a "humanitarian" celebration of a housing project in Israel which Rockefeller helped initiate. The governor smiled, as well he might, as cameras recorded the Dubinsky embrace.

O'Connor is an attractive and persuasive speaker, but he was reworking opposition ground, reviving memories best forgotten and on the defensive. Earlier, he had put former Mayor Robert Wagner on stage for an endorsement which turned out to be considerably less than fiery.

O'Connor's failure to devise new and more powerful campaign propellants perplexes veteran Democratic congressmen who have it brought home to them daily how the face of New York is changing, its voters becoming younger and demanding fresh solutions.

Democratic discouragement helped to bring Sen. Robert F. Kennedy out sooner than planned. Kennedy is helping, too, with the O'Connor planning, though he doubts the value of his coattails in the situation. But he cannot do less than asked, since he opposed the O'Connor nomination until county leaders rejected all others, including Roosevelt.

The governor had seemed an easy mark when he undertook last fall to reverse the tide. His own dogged efforts and his careful planning had paid off. What Democrats had thought of as a milk run for any nominee they picked is a battle. Rockefeller contends he is the underdog, and he may be, but O'Connor's political gifts are now in question within his own party.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

Memories Of Two Years

By MONA B. PARKER

"Beautiful, just absolutely beautiful" is how Gladys Lindstrom describes autumn weather in the Midlands, in her Gresham Gazette column . . .

"The grass is a dark lush green, the milo is turning red . . . corn is still green and big fat ears are hanging down. Cattle are slick and sassy. The trees along the creeks are turning color — and it's a good time of the year."

Arnie Kuhn says a year ago about now, the Hemingford Ledger was reporting an early snow that dumped about two inches there, but 15 in Crawford. He very nearly had a repeat this year on that particular news item.

The early frost at that time cut the average growing days from 138 to 128. "Anything freezing can stay away for some time yet, as far as the Cruiser's concerned. I like it hot!"

Marlin Waechter notes in the Stanton Register that World Series time, formerly a perennial topic of lively conversation in the early fall, now elicits almost a "so-what" attitude . . . .

Pigskins flying through the air symbolize instead what has become the No. 1 favorite, nationwide, among sports fans.

A reunion of the old Fifth Nebraska National Guard regiment brought back many memories for Lloyd Kain of the Lexington Clipper and his war-time buddies . . .

It was just 49 years ago that they rolled into Camp Cody, New Mexico, "in company with more soldiers than Omaha receives in a combined hog, sheep and cattle market on a busy Monday morning. And in many ways we were just about as confused as the fat animals are when they are herded into pens to sell."

As is the way with wars, there was a big surplus of things not needed and a shortage of the necessities. Anything available in clothing didn't seem to fit. "The Army had thousands of feed bags for mules and horses, but no animals to use them on."

Best day of all was pay day. A private's pay in those days was $15 a month and it came in gold, two small coins, a five-dollar piece and a ten-dollar piece. The little coins were not too practical, Mr. Kain chuckled, in the games that immediately sprung up, "but who needed money?"

Many of the frierds of those days have answered taps, he wrote. Those remaining "couldn't carry a rifle more than two blocks." But if anyone were really interested to know who won the war, he should have been on hand for the gathering.

It was a different war. But Jerry Pickerell of the Banner-Journal at Bruning recalled something else. It was the matter of his radio . . .

It was near Rome and he had purchased a used radio from another GI for $5. When it quit playing, he took it to Rome to find an English-speaking Italian repairman. He couldn't find one, but did wind up in an ice-cream parlor. Here he checked the radio. The proprietor "didn't like the Nazis. He did like the Americans and he wanted to see us happy when we come to town on pass."

Two days later he remembered where he had left the radio, but he never got back that way. Anyone heading toward Italy is asked to stop by Mario's Ice Cream Parlor on Via Venuto in Rome and make solemn inquiry.

Two Hastings secretaries were discussing the installation of a labor-saving machine in one of the downtown offices. "I know it takes the place of three men," commented one, "but personally I'd prefer the men."

Jack Lough of Albion and a few other newsmen were sniping at the ladies several weeks ago. Dorothy Payne of the Hooper Sentinel put some of the local (male) golfers in their place rather neatly, and with a few well chosen words . . . "We gals aren't the only ones who kill a few 'snakes along the way. I saw a certain very good Hooper golfer miss a chip shot and have to replace a very healthy sized divot. Sure made me feel better. Of course, he had been on vacation and hadn't played for a week or two . . you know how it goes"

Then And Now

Plymouth, Neb.

We hear these days that we need more teachers and better education. I will agree with this, for I had very little education myself. I went to school a little while, then thought I knew more than the teacher. Then I had to shuck corn and herd cows, and now I miss that education. I can't agree with all that today's education covers, however — football, basketball and baseball. Are they ever in school?

I am in favor of 12-month school — the first three months for us parents and the next nine for the children. I do not believe in child delinquency; a great deal of today's trouble is parent delinquency. Seeing a crowd of young people on the streets these days with their long hair-dos reminds me of a story when I was young that people originated from monkeys. It makes me wonder if it is not so, and think perhaps we should give the country back to those we took it from.

Young people these days think they have it pretty hard. My sister and I walked five miles to school. Today if it's five blocks, they have to be taken or provided with a car. They come to town in air-conditioned cars, sweating for fear they might have to do a little work. When I was at home, a neighbor hired me to plow 40 acres of ground at a dollar a day. I had four horses on a walking plow and was afraid to stop for a drink of water because the boss might see me killing time. Today they think nothing of a two-hour coffee break.

I plowed with a walking plow, sulky gang steam and tractor plow, manned a threshing machine, corn sheller and buzz saw, and thought the city folks had it good. When President Hoover got through with me, I moved to town where they had it so good. I got a hammer and saw and worked as a carpenter. I worked in a lumberyard in the 30's. The manager told me we had taken in nine dollars all week, so I was laid off. Then I sold cars and machinery but business was poor.

If someone saw a farmer with a load of wheat, the city folks would say, there goes another hundred dollars, all profit. It would work out better if we would all be satisfied. A person should farm 10 years, then go into business in town for 10 years. Farmers think if there is a hailstorm, the city doesn't suffer, but the merchant and business are hurt, too.

I have never seen Mr. Curtis so helpful as he is right now. Always before, the only mention of him in the paper was when a "no" vote was recorded.

War And Honor

Crete, Neb.

We are now in the political season, with candidates promising everything under the sun and moon. I wish they would explain about this "national honor" war in Viet Nam. Who decided that our armed forces should be committed to national honor, and for what reason? Isn't there enough of stealing and murder going on right here in the United States?

I feel very sorry for the men fighting on the front lines, also for their wives and mothers. I was in the eastern theater during World War II, and know what war is all about. It seems so futile that our best young men must be drafted, trained and shipped off to be killed and crippled — for national honor.

Segregation

Lincoln, Neb

Regarding the racial policies at the penitentiary, whoever heard of a warden running a prison and permitting the prisoners to tell him in which section they preferred to reside? Warden Sigler is quoted as saying there is a hard core who will not accept integration. What he is really saying is that he himself is not willing to accept integration. We cannot make excuses for anyone other than ourselves.

The Negro knows that whenever there is a separation of the races, it is done so at the Negro's expense. This is the main purpose of segregation—to deny the Negro something, even in prison.

Hushing the matter up or talking it down will not eradicate the tensions. Bad conditions when not improved can only get worse. Legitimate grievances have to be met with positive action. And a beating or solitary confinement or threat of death or death will not stop the Negro from fighting racial discrimination. Racal segregation and discrimination are real and alive and have corroding effects. They do not go away from a lack of acknowledging their existence.

Why are the lights on 56th at Vine and Holdrege not in? We've needed them for years. They have been started but for weeks there have been barricades and that is all.

Let's have action on them. We need them.

KLOSTERMAN SAYS . . .

Tax Act Rejection Would Prompt New Try

The 1967 Legislature will be asked to consider another income tax bill patterned after the 1965 law if that act is repealed by a vote of the people next month, the chairman of Nebraskans for Fair Taxation said Thursday.

"We're not going to give up until we get the job done," John Klosterman of David City told newsmen.

If the 1965 tax act is rejected by the electorate in a referendum vote Nov. 8, "the same legislation will be introduced" in the next Legislature, Klosterman said.

One proposal for a combination sales-income tax "will include LB797 in this form," he noted. LB797 is the 1965 state income tax law.

Klosterman declined to say at this time whether Nebraskans for Fair Taxation would support a combinaton sales-income tax in the 1967 session if LB797 is repealed.

Rising Tide

"A rising tide of support for letting LB797 stand as a good beginning on the tax reform we need is sweeping across Nebraska today," Klosterman said.

"The emotion which followed its passing is being replaced with calm reasoning as people are deciding to vote for 300 (the referendum's ballot designation) on the non-political ballot."

The tax, he said, will be economical to administer and, despite its flat rate provision, it is progressive as a result of built-in exemptions and deductions.

Nebraskans for Fair Taxation supports a vote for the income tax law and a vote for the initiative proposing a constitutional amendment to prohibit the state from levying a tax on property.

Preferable

The initiative proposal is "preferable" to Constitutional Amendment 14, which would tie a broadened tax base to state aid to education and permit the state to continue to finance capital construction projects through a property tax after the base is broadened, Klosterman said.

Approval of the initiative question "would force tax reform in Nebraska, regardless of the outcome of the vote" on the income tax law, he noted.

Approval of the income tax "does not in any way preclude the possibility of eventual adoption by the Legislature of a combination tax," he pointed out.

Klosterman said his organization will spend money campaigning for the income tax law. It has thus far spent more than $17,000 in support of the act, including the costs of the lawsuit challenging the validity of the referendum petition drive, he said.

Low Bids On State Cars Told

State Purchasing Agent Dale Karnopp announced Thursday Misle Chevrolet of Lincoln submitted the apparent low bid for 190 general-use state vehicles.

Karnopp said the firm bid $1,626 per car. He said contract should be awarded next week. Last year the state paid $1,684 for each Ford it bought.

The apparent low bid on State Safety Patrol cars was $1,785 also submitted by Misle, Karnopp said. In 1965, the low bid from Ford was $1,884.

Karnopp said the state will also buy 40 six passenger station wagons from Gerelick Ford of Omaha which submitted a bid apparently low at $1,896.

Gotfredson Motor Co. of Lincoln had the low bid for nine-passenger station wagons at $1,987 for each Plymouth.

Grange Keeps Stand On Tax

The Grange members did resolve that they would consider a sales-income combination, providing the production exemptions were included for agriculture.

In another Grange resolution support was favored for urging passage of the income tax law as it was passed by the 1965 legislature.

Grange members voted to wait on road recomendations for a crash highway building program until current study results are available after which time the state executive committee in consultation with the subordinate Granges would take a position that the farm organization members believe will best serve the state's interest.

Many of the resolutions acted on by the Grange had to do with taxing problems.

The grange resolution on taxes for schools said, "We believe that a portion of any broadened tax should be returned to the local school district for property tax relief and that all of any sales tax be returned to the common schools in proportion to the number of public school students."

It was recomended that the 1967 Legislature start legislation calling for a constitutional convention.

"The Nebraska State Grange believes that the present constitution of Nebraska adopted in 1875 and revised in 1920 is too limited and inadequate to meet present day legislative needs," said the Grange.

Townsend Calls Progress 'Miracle'

Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend Thursday labeled as "a miracle" the progress the department has made in implementing fiscal reforms authorized by the last Legislature.

Townsend told the legislative council's executive board he is satisfied with the progress although consultants have advised him "serious problems" still exist in the department's computer operation, which he called "the heart" of the new fiscal system.

"Our problems basically stem from the fact that we tried to do too much in too short a time with too small a staff," said Townsend. "Now we're getting to the place where some of the difficulty is being cleared up."

The executive board interviewed Townsend and other department personnel as it began a two-day investigation of the operations of the much-maligned agency created by the 1965 Legislature.

"We've heard many bad rumors," said board member Elvin Adamson of Valentine. "Now we're looking for facts. From what I've learned so far, I'm optimistic about the department's future."

Board Chairman W. H. Hasebroock of West Point said he would make a statement Friday following conclusion of the discussions.

The department, established to centralize and coordinate state fiscal activities under a new computerized system, has come under attack from agencies for errors and mix-ups in accounting, budgeting and payroll matters.

Townsend said it still is too early to tell when the department will be operating smoothly, but he said a three-man consulting team is at work identifying problems and recommending solutions.

Rep. Callan Says Hooper, Walthill, Table Rock Post Offices Are OKd

Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., announced in Washington Thursday that new postal facilities have been approved for Table Rock, Walthill and Hooper.

He also reported that the village of Hubbard in Dakota County has received a $3,450 grant from the federal Water Pollution Control Administration toward the $12,500 cost of an interceptor sewer and waste stabilization pond.

The proposed Table Rock post office will have an interior of 1,207 square feet, a 120 square foot platform and a 3,400 square foot parking area.

The Walthill building will have 2,250 square feet inside, a 120 square foot platform and a 4,600 square foot parking area.

The Hooper facility will have an interior of 2,305 square feet and a parking area of 4,300 square feet.

The buildings will be constructed under the department's lease program and the department will begin obtaining options on sites within 30 days, Callan said.

Deception Charged To Administration

Washington (UPI) — Top leaders of the Republican Party Thursday accused the Johnson administration of deceiving the public by not telling the whole truth on policy matters, including Viet Nam.

A statement issued by the Republican Coordinating Committee implored the administration "to be frank with the American people." But it added:

"Since the Democratic Party cannot be frank with the American people, the Republicans will tell them the truth."

The committee, which met here to discuss campaign strategy, is composed of Republican leaders in Congress, five governors, party officials and all living GOP presidential candidates.

The committee's statement charged that the administration was guilty of issuing conflicting statements about the extent of U.S. involvement in Viet Nam and of fuzzing budgetary issues and decisions.

It quoted a statement, attributed to a news commentator, which claimed that "the political lie has become a way of bureaucratic life." The commentator was not identified.

"In an era in which the United States seeks, and needs, friends, how can we expect the peoples of other lands to trust our administration's statements when our own people are becoming increasingly suspicious of its motives and actions?" the statement asked.

Demilitarized Zone Defoliation Charged

Tokyo (AP)—North Viet Nam charged Thursday that the United States sprayed tons of toxic chemicals on the western sector of the Demilitarized Zone Sept. 29 for the second time within 10 days.

In a message sent to the International Control Commission (ICC), the communists said a number of civilians in three villages in the northern part of the Demilitarized Zone were affected and the vegetation and crops in the area destroyed.

The U.S. Command in Saigon has acknowledged limited defoliation of areas south of the Demilitarized Zone in efforts to deprive North Vietnamese infiltrators of natural cover. The U.S. Command, however, previously has denied reports that the zone itself was being defoliated.

The message said that the United States has been continuously conducting air and ground operations in the 45-mile-long, six-mile-wide strip set up by the 1954 Geneva agreements as a military-free buffer zone between North and South Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in New York Wednesday that air attacks on the eastern part of the buffer area had been suspended. The White House previously described this as an effort to permit the ICC to investigate alleged violations of the area by North Vietnamese infiltration of troops and supplies into South Viet Nam.

In Saigon, reliable sources reported U.S. and Vietnamese planes halted bombing of a 24-mile-square area of the zone 10 days ago so commission teams could carry out inspections.

Physicist Sees Intelligence Behind UFOs

Tucson, Ariz. (UPI) — A University of Arizona physicist says he believes some unidentified flying objects come from outside the earth's atmosphere and are "operated or controlled in some way by thinking beings."

James McDonald, senior physicist at the Institute of Atmospheric Physics, criticized Air Force explanations of the UFO sightings.

He said the most common explanation is that they result from two natural phenomena—swamp gas and ball lightning.

In the "several cases I have investigated, atmospheric conditions were not such as to allow either of these to occur," he said.

McDonald also said the Air Force method of investigation "is a scientific scandal." He said none of the investigators had training in astronomy, physics, or related sciences.

He said he has "absolutely no idea where the objects come from, or how they are operated," but "after 10 years of research I know they are something from outside of our atmosphere."

McDonald said they seem be be "extra-terrestrial probes."

"Some of the sightings are bound to be more than optical illusions or imagination," he said. The physicist said he never has seen such an object himself.

Try Sukarno, Remove Him, Say Students

—The powerful Student Action Front issued a statement declaring it no longer recognizes him as Indonesia's president.

—Unofficial student sources said new demonstrations against Sukarno appear likely.

—The student paper, Harian Kami, said in an editorial that Sukarno again has refused to condemn the Communist party for its role in the coup attempt.

Sukarno, meanwhile, said history will show who is right—himself or his critics. He made the statement during a tour of naval facilities near Jakarta as part of Armed Forces Day celebrations here.

Unofficial student sources said the students would not retreat in their demands that Sukarno be toppled from power and brought to trial. But they said they had agreed to call a halt in demonstrations during Armed Forces Day celebrations.

$20,210 Awarded Seward Co. For Educational Study

Seward — A federal grant of $20,210 has been awarded to study the educational and cultural needs and resources of Seward County. Superintendent of Schools Verl Scott reports that the funds were awarded under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

The survey will involve parents, students, educational, civic, and religious groups. They will be given opportunity to voice their concerns about education in Seward County. The study may well result in curricular changes that will improve educational and cultural opportunities in the county, Scott said.

Everett W. Holmgrain from the University of Nebraska has been named the project director.

School Milk Bill To White House

Washington (AP) — Congress sent to the White House today a $545.5 million child nutrition bill including a four-year extension of the school milk program and the start of a breakfast program for needy children.

Most of the money, $465 million, was authorized for carrying the milk program in the schools through June 30, 1970.

Sen. Hruska Blasts Demos' Ag Record

Humboldt (UPI) — Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., Thursday night said that Governor Morrison and Congressman Callan share with Agriculture Secretary Freeman "a shoddy record of failure to the farmer and rural America."

Speaking at a joint meeting at Richardson, Pawnee and Nemaha County Republicans, the senator said:

"The farm family today has only two-thirds the per capita income of the non-farm family and the responsibility for agriculture's failure to share in the national economic well-being must be shared by these three men who embrace the same political philosophy."

Approximately 100,000 farms will go out of existence during 1966. The GOP audience was told, as a result of Johnson-Freeman farm policies.

"These are family sized farms which will either be absorbed into larger farming units or go back to weeds because the operators can no longer tolerate the cost-price squeeze. They are men and women who have devoted their lives to the soil but cannot cope with rising production costs which have soared by $4 billion since 1960 and farm prices which have remained virtually unchanged or have even dropped," Hruska said.

Since Freeman became secretary of agriculture, Hruska said, "the exodus from American farms has totaled two and a half million men, women and children and half a million farms have disappeared."

Sorensen Asks Clear Tax Stand

Wayne (AP)—Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen Thursday challenged his gubernatorial opponent to "say what his tax position will be should the voters repeal the income tax but not the property tax."

Sorensen, the Democratic candidate for governor, said Republican Norbert Tiemann's "somewhat cloudy position" has been taken only in case voters throw out both the present income tax and the property tax in the November election.

"My opponent certainly has not made himself clear as to what he would do if the property tax survived," Sorensen declared in a speech prepared for a luncheon meeting in Wayne. "And that is just what the polls now seem to show as the likely situation in November."

Sorensen said his own position is clear: if the income tax is not repealed, that should be Nebraska's tax; if the income tax is repealed, and regardless of what action voters take on the property tax, he will favor a combination sales-income tax to reduce the property tax burden.

Backlog Of Untrained Reservists Poses Army Growing Problem

Washington (AP) — The Army is facing some critical decisions in the next few weeks, officials said Thursday, because of a growing backlog of untrained National Guardsmen and reservists.

At the present level of enlistments and training of these reservists and guardsmen—restricted by the active Army needs for Viet Nam and elsewhere — the backlog is expected to swell to more than 150,000 by June.

At the end of fiscal 1966, June 30, a total of 133,100 in the program, were still untrained. This has brought persistent, sharp criticism from Congress that the program is a haven from the draft while other men are being drafted for Viet Nam.

But thus far no steps to cut off enlistments or boost training have been taken and the reserve units are continuing to add new men as vacancies occur.

Cutback Planned

Top-level Defense Department officials long have been known to be considering a cutback in enlistments or a boost in training in an effort to stem the growing number of untrained personnel in the Reserve Enlistment Program (REP).

Training programs have cut down the backlog to an estimated 121,000 as of last month, but sources said this was due to a loosening of regular Army training schedules this spring that enabled a few more thousand reps to get training.

The recent increases will be adjusted, officers said, by smaller REP training allotments in the coming months as the Army training bases strain to meet the heavy Viet Nam manpower and rotation needs.

The over-all rate of REP training is not expected to exceed a 7,000-a-month rate, officials said, barring a top-level decision.

Another National Guard officer estimated that about 5,000 openings show up every month and he described that rate as "a pretty good indication of the attrition." At that level, the National Guard will induct about 60,000 men by the end of the year, some 30,000 less than in 1966.

Army Reserve induction figures were not available, but Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and others have estimated the attrition of those units at about two per cent monthly—meaning about 60,000 men would be needed to keep the 250,000-man reserve force at its authorized strength during this fiscal year.

To boost the training of reserves, it was explained, active combat divisions in the United States must increase their share of the training load. Some training now is done in the 1st and 2nd Armored Divisions in Texas and the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division in Colorado.

Officials said the over-all reserve training program is based around the 3,000-men a month it takes to keep the selected reserve up to authorized strength. The selected reserve force is up to strength, one reserve officer said, "the big backlog is in the other units."

Ted For Drafting 19-Year-Olds First

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Thursday all 19-year-olds should be first in line for the draft, preferably by the lottery system, with only limited deferment allowances.

Kennedy, himself just 34, said the Selective Service System's order to administer pre-induction physical examinations to men between the ages of 26 and 34 pointed up the nation's increasing concern over the over-all draft system.

Neither the concern nor the fact the Selective Service was being forced to dig deeper and deeper ino the nation's manpower pool was surprising, Kennedy said, "for the current method of drafting some and exempting others is outdated."

Experts Disagree On Soviet Response To West Troop Cut

By ENDRE MARTON

Washington (AP)—The experts give contradictory opinions on whether Russia will reciprocate if the "searching reappraisal" of Western needs for European defenses results, as expected, in a cut in Anglo-American troops in Germany.

But the officials seem to agree on one point: even if Russia does not reciprocate, the forces will be reduced if the forthcoming tripartite review shows that a credible deterrent can be maintained with fewer forces without encouraging Soviet probes of Western determination to defend itself.

The question of what Russia's reaction will be has been raised frequently since President Johnson and West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard agreed last month to have a reappraisal and the British government consented to participate.

One Opinion

According to one school of thought, no Soviet move should be expected because Moscow would be in an awkward position if it cut its forces in view of Red Chinese accusations that Russia is "colluding" with the United States against Asian communism.

Other experts are not so sure.

Moscow, they speculate, must have recognized by now that whatever it does, it cannot change Peking's hostility so it might as well go ahead cooperating with the United States to ease tensions, at least in Europe. There are small signs, including the recently announced resumption of U.S.-Soviet air route talks, which seem to justify this view.

Much Possible

If Moscow decides to reciprocate in kind, there is a lot that could be done. Soviet forces outside the Russian border are formidable, and the communist nations of Eastern Europe also maintain strong national armies.

Though it is not a communist custom to discuss publicly the strength of their forces, there are apparantly no secrets in this area, and Anglo-American military experts claim to know the number of troops on the other side of the Iron Curtain.

Out of the 140 Soviet divisions, totaling two million men, 26 are outside Russia's western borders; 20 in East Germany (300,000 men); four in Hungary (50,000 men); and two in Poland (25,000 men). In addition, 75 divisions are in European Russia relatively close to the western Soviet border.

All 26 divisions in East Germany, Hungary and Poland are "combat ready," and so is the majority of the 75 divisions in the European U.S.S.R., the experts say.

To the 26 Soviet divisions in Central-Eastern Europe one should add at least the East German and Czechoslovak armies. These two countries have a common border with West Germany, and perhaps the Polish and Hungarian forces, being geographically one step behind. The Romanian and Bulgarian armies, however, could be ignored, as they are remote from NATO's Central European area.

East German ground forces total 80,000 men, the Czechoslovak army 200,000 men. The Polish army consists of 215,000 men, the Hungarian of 100.000. These together with the 375,000 Russians give an impressive total of 970,000 men, counting ground forces only.

On this side of the Iron Curtain, again counting only NATO forces in the heart of Europe, there are: the U.S. 7th Army, presently 218,000 men; the British Army of the Rhine of about 55,000; 12 German divisions of 278,000; 20,000 Canadians; 83,000 Belgians; 33,000 Danes and 92,000 Dutch troops. That's a total of 779,00 men.

Numerical Stand-Off

Officials frown on any attempt to compare figures. The number of troops, they say, is only one factor, but acknowledge that considering the figures alone already shows an approximate standoff.

Should the West cut troops in Germany, it can be assumed that there will be a growing pressure on Moscow to withdraw at least partly from Poland and Hungary, some experts believe.

While there is some military justification for keeping Soviet soldiers in Poland to secure access routes to East Germany—which the United States still considers a Soviet occupation zone—there is no such justification in the case of Hungary, a country which has no common border with Germany, but with neutral Austria.

Swedes Spot 2nd Alien Sub

Stockholm (AP) — The navy Thursday night reported another suspected foreign submarine in Swedish waters.

The report followed a series of similar incidents during navy maneuvers off the west coast, climaxed Wednesday night when a Swedish helicopter dropped a depth charge close to one reported intruder to scare it off.

A navy helicopter Thursday reported the new contact, strongly suspected to have been a submerged submarine in an area northwest of Vinga Lighthouse off Goteborg.

The suspected sub was within the Swedish three-mile limit on a westerly course, like previous ones, and the helicopter kept the contact until it left Swedish waters, the defense department said.

The nationality of the suspects has not been determined. The navy maneuvers are displaying Sweden's most modern naval weapons.

Mayor Honored For Handicapped Hiring Practice

The Mayor's Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped honored Mayor Dean Petersen Thursday for his "fine record of considering and hiring handicapped unemployed."

The award, presented by chairman Larry Westphalen, praised the mayor as setting "a fine example of considering individuals for their abilities rather than disabilities, thus giving these individuals a chance to prove they can compete, if placed on the right job."

Mayor Petersen presented a special citation to Miller and Paine for work in the handicapped field.

Educational TV Serving 106,000 Nebraska Pupils

The Nebraska Council for Educational Television reported Thursday it now serves 106,000 pupils in more than 200 member schools.

Coverage was extended when two new stations opened last month—KPNE Channel 9 at North Platte and KTNE Channel 13 at Alliance.

NCETV began in 1960 with six member schools — Lincoln, Beatrice, Wilber, Syracuse, Nebraska City and Omaha Westside.

Member schools pay $2 per pupil to belong, and member schools now include more than 50% of all the pupils in the viewing areas, according to Victor Christensen, NCETV director.

Delinquents' Group Homes Formulated

A special committee drafted guidelines Thursday for proposed legislation authorizing establishment of so-called group homes to provide special supervision for juvenile delinquents.

The study group, sponsored by the Public Institutions Advisory Committee, said it will issue a formal report later.

Institutions Director George Morris has said he will seek funds from the 1967 Legislature to establish a group home program. Enabling legislation will also be necessary.

The committee said the group homes would serve boys and girls who were committed to the institutions department and either had no need to be sent to the training schools or lacked suitable home environments after being released from the schools.

Under the proposal, the institutions department would contract with private citizens to supervise the youngsters in private homes.

Sen. Rasmussen Congratulates 3 Power Districts

Hooper (AP) — Sen. Ross H. Rasmussen of Hooper Thursday congratulated Nebraska's major power districts for voluntarily negotiating a realignment of their properties "to more efficient use public funds in providing electrical and irrigation services.

The Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor said the agreed-upon realignment involving Loup, Platte Valley and Consumers Public Power Districts should result in better service at lower rates.

Grain To Pakistan

Rawalpindi, Pakistan (UPI) —The United States agreed Thursday to supply Pakistan with more than $26 million worth of wheat and other food grains in the next few months. The additional aid brings the total of U.S. aid under an existing agreement to $57.9 million.

LAP Board Supports Housing Referendum

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

The board of directors of the Lincoln Action Program went on record Thursday in favor of the Housing Authority referendum to be voted on in the Nov. 8 election.

The board, in its resolution, stated that because a recent survey by the Lincoln Action Program indicates a "great need for low-cost housing," it would fully support the referendum which would give the Housing Authority authorization to obtain federal funds for the purchase, construction, and operation of low-cost housing in Lincoln.

"We believe that it is urgent that the Lincoln Housing Authority receive a favorable vote of the electorate of Lincoln to enable it to purchase, construct and operate such housing facilities," the board stated, pointing to the need, especially for senior citizens, shown by the survey.

Offers Staff

LAP further offered the use of time from its staff to assist the Lincoln Housing Authority in effectively informing the general public of the facts related to the issue.

Arthur T. May, executive director of LAP, urged board members to bring the subject up and discuss it in various groups of which they may be members.

He pointed out that the program has "nothing to do with urban renewal" and emphasized that this point should be stressed in view of the fact that many favor the low-cost housing program but are against urban renewal.

Borrow Money

At the last LAP board meeting, president Robert Barlow told board members that passage of the resolution would enable the authority to enter into contracts allowing it to borrow federal money to buy Lincoln Air Force Base houses or start construction of others.

Barlow and May explained Thursday that most Air Base housing is not adaptable to senior citizen housing, since those homes are family-type living units.

It was also pointed out that the survey showed that the senior citizens like to reside close to a shopping area to which they may walk and at the present time the Air Base units do not have such an area within easy access.

Trade Patterns Could Hurt U.S.

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Herbert Hughes of Imperial, a member of the President's National Food and Fibre Commission, told those attending the Nebraska World Trade Council conference at the Nebraska Center Thursday that patterns of trade now being developed could work against United States in the future.

Hughes objected to the U.S. policy of not selling to Communistic countries while "our friends and allies do not subscribe to our policy."

He said the biggest cash market for wheat is developing in the communistic countries and with the U.S. policy of not selling into these areas we are letting patterns of trade develop that could exclude the U.S. in the future.

Hughes also objected to wheat being singled out as the commodity that must be shipped in at least half U.S. ships for export sales.

"I don't know why this policy is not challenged by our congressmen," said Hughes.

Warren Wells, executive vice president of Consolidated Blenders at Fremont, in describing his impressions of a trade mission to Europe said.

"I can't say enough for trade missions. If you have a product that is needed you will be amazed at how easy it is to do business if you can meet the people you are doing business with. This develops a trust that can't be established any other way."

Dr. E. E. Peterson, extension economist for the University of Nebraska, said his experience from visiting 18 foreign countries shows that quite frequently market development work done by the U.S. is taken over by another country in sales.

He noted each country strives to become agriculturally self-sufficient and that just being price competitive is not enough in going after export business.

James Naive of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. told members of the World Trade Development Council that U.S. agricultural exports had a value of $6.2 billion in 1965, about double 1952 exports, with an expected goal of $8 billion by 1970.

"Farm exports are becoming so important that future U.S. farm production will be determined more and more by U.S. export policy and less and less by our actual capacity to produce," said Naive.

One Third Of Base Housing Occupied

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln Housing Authority chairman Kenneth King said Thursday that 312 of the 1,000 federally-owned housing units west of the old Air Force Base are now occupied, following the Air Force pullout.

The authority is now under a three-year contract with the government to operate and maintain the units, once filled with military personnel and their families and civilians who were connected with base operations.

Rental rates to various categories of tenants range from $70 to $250 per month.

King noted that if a special referendum is approved by city voters Nov. 8, the authority will be empowered to purchase the base housing facility as well as provide other low-income housing by participating in federal programs.

Students Lead

According to the figures released by King, students lead the list of tenants by occupying 108 of the dwellings, followed closely by remaining Air Force personnel who live in 101 of the units.

The remaining occupancy count listed in number of housing units:

Job Corps employes, 36; Navy and Marines, 29; low income elderly, 7; Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) low income, 6; former Huskerville residents, 13; housing authority employes, 4; temporary occupants, 7; and one "housed from Lincoln."

King noted that housing at Huskerville will never again be rented as dwellings, adding that "everybody is out of there for all practical purposes."

He said that it has not been decided whether to demolish the units or use them in some other capacity.

Rent Goes Up

Former Huskerville residents now living in base housing are now paying $70 monthly rent as compared to the $50 rate in Huskerville.

King said the goal of the housing authority, if the referendum passes, is to purchase the base housing and build other housing for low income groups, especially the elderly.

He said he doubted whether many more low income elderly would locate in the base housing because "there is not much for them out there—they are too far removed from services."

King also released housing authority answers to questions asked by the Lincoln Action Program concerning the upcoming referendum.

He stressed that no city, county or state tax funds would be used for future housing authority programs.

The questions and answers:

Q. What is the purpose of the special referendum on housing?

A. To make it possible for the Housing Authority to aid in the providing of low-income housing by participating in federal programs.

Q. What is the Lincoln Housing Authority?

A. A public body consisting of five non-paid commissioners appointed by the Mayor and City Council for the purpose of administering public housing programs.

Q. What is low-cost housing?

A. Housing meeting minimum standards or better which is made available to families or individuals of low income at a rental rate which they can afford.

Q. Who pays for low-cost housing?

A. The difference between the actual cost of the units and the rents collected will be paid by annual contributions from the federal government.

Q. Who may use low-cost housing?

A. Persons whose income is below that set by the Housing Authority.

Q. Who sets qualifications and rentals for low-cost housing?

A. The local Housing Authority.

Q. Does Lincoln need low-cost housing?

A. From a recent survey, there appears to be a serious need for a minimum of 500 units for the low-income elderly.

Q. For whom would low-cost housing be provided in Lincoln?

A. In addition to the housing at the air base, our major emphasis would be on housing for the low-income elderly.

Q. How would the Lincoln Housing Authority determine the number of low-cost housing units to be used in Lincoln?

A. The Housing Authority would be guided by surveys and demonstrated needs.

Q. Would passage of the referendum involve the spending of money from Lincoln, Lancaster County, or Nebraska tax funds?

A. No.

Q. Would passage of the referendum enable the Lincoln Housing Authority to purchase air base housing?

A. Yes.

Q. How will the referendum appear, and what is the wording on the ballot, November 8th?

A. The question appears on a separate, white ballot and is worded as follows: " 'Shall the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, be authorized and permitted to exercise the powers granted by the Housing Cooperation law as set forth in Chapter 71, Article 15 of the Nebraska Reissue Revised Statutes of 1943, as amended, in order to aid and cooperate with the Housing Authority of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, in the planning, undertaking, construction or operation of housing projects for persons of low income, provided that no city tax funds are used for the purchase or construction of public housing units.' Vote FOR or AGAINST."

Dockers Will Return

Liverpool, England (UPI) —A mass meeting of dockers voted to return to work after a dispute over the employment of three non-union members snowballed into a stoppage by 9,109 longshoremen that idled 78 ships. The strike started when 50 men walked off their jobs.

Some of our best newspapermen are women.

If anyone still thinks that a woman's only place is in the kitchen, it's certainly no fault of ours.

As a member of The Associated Press, we point with pride to our sixty women AP reporters whose place is anywhere the news is breaking. That includes politics, finance, world affairs, as well as entertainment, fashion, home and children. Treatment Of Addicts Approved

Washington (AP)—The Senate approved a new approach to the problem of drug addiction Thursday by passing a bill providing for civil commitment and treatment.

The House has passed a similar bill and a Senate-House conference committee is expected to iron out the differences. The legislation was urged by President Johnson as part of his anti-crime program.

Under the bill an addict charged with a federal crime other than crimes of violence could be committed to the custody of the U.S. surgeon general for treatment and rehabilitation rather than sent to prison.

The maximum period of confinement to a hospital would be limited to 18 months, but the bill also would provide for a three-year period of post-hospital treatment and supervision as a safeguard against a relapse into addition.

In addition, the legislation would permit the commitment and treatment of addicts not accused of crimes upon petition to a federal court and a finding of addiction. The commitment could be initiated either by the addict or others.

The bill would provide for federal grants of $15 million a year for each of the next three years for building, developing, staffing and operating treatment facilities.

Western Subversion Charged

Kinshasa, Congo, (UPI) — Congolese President Joseph Mobutu Thursday accused Western nations of having "woven a network of subversion" in the Congo.

This was the reason he had ordered all consulates outside the capital closed, the president said in an interview with the official Congolese press agency.

He said Eastern countries were often accused of subversion, "but it is Western countries, in the name of Christian civilization and under cover of technical assistance which had woven a network of subversion" in the Congo.

He blamed consulate officials for fomenting a rebellion in July at Kisangani which his army put down after bloody fighting two weeks ago. He said similar rebellions were being organized at Lubumbashi, Albertville and Bukavu.

Portuguese nationals in the Congo "have nothing to fear. They have nothing to do with the actions of (Portuguese Premier) Dr. Salazar and former (Congolese) Minister Tshombe," Mobutu said. The government claims Portugal allowed Tshombe to train mercinaries in its territory of Angola to the south.

Housewives Advised To 'Go European'

Washington (AP) — Housewives struggling against rising food costs were told Thursday to "get off the old meat and potatoes routine" and try cheaper European gourmet dishes.

One more thing: leave your husband home when you shop.

These, and more hints for beating the cash register, came at a news conference by grocer and government spokesmen who plan nationwide distribution of a pamphlet with food-saving ideas.

Clarence G. Adamy, president of the National Association of Food Chains, said the Europeans know how to do it. "Lots of prize gourmet dishes in Europe are really very cheap when you look what's in them.

"We're experiencing a general inflationary pressure," Adamy said. "Prices are higher. You just have to know how to do it."

2 Killed In Conflict

New Delhi (UPI) — At least two persons were reported killed as police battled students in three Indian cities, AA Agra, Mathura and Tikamgarh. The students were protesting "police excesses" during the recent Lucknow riots.

RFK Not Candidate In 1968

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said Thursday that he was not in the running as a possible candidate for either the presidency or vice presidency in 1968.

In an interview published by the Washington Post, Kennedy said that he would not run as vice president even if President Johnson asked him to.

He expressed strong support for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Public opinion polls have given Kennedy a substantial lead over Humphrey among Democratic voters in their listings of who they would prefer to see run with Johnson in 1968. There has also been widespread speculation that Kennedy was interested in the possibility of being Johnson's running mate.

Bray-on-Thames is a winding little village an hour out of London center. When England's kings wavered between Catholicism and the Reformation, the vicar changed religion several times to suit the current mood.

"And this will I maintain
"Until my dying day, sir.
"That whatsoever king shall reign,
"I'll still be Vicar of Bray sir."

The Hind's Head is an old, sagging door restaurant with good food. Well worth the drive out for lunch or dinner.

The leggy miniskirt swings on every London street, and shoulder-length hair on most teen-age boys.

Every chick under 25 is miniskirted way up thataway. Good legs. Bow legs. Knock knees. I never realized there were so many bad legs. On the other hand, there's a lot of good legs.

There is nothing like a dame. But how did they manage to package them so differently?

The world's second largest city seems small and intimate. The streets curved to circuses. The Georgian neighborhoods built around tiny, grassy squares.

I come to London with a feeling of coming home. No other city but my own makes me feel that way.

Amid the sunny noon, the Englishman carries his umbrella, furled to the thin lines of a rapier. The weather will change. And anyway, it's part of the uniform along with the bowler hat.

Weather reports (dial WEA 2211) do not say "occasional rain." They say "occasional bright periods." It's all in the way you look at it.

The government has put new, sealed measures on the liquor bottles in pubs.

The drink comes "small" or "large" — "large" is double. The "small" is a little less than our jigger measure. The "large" is a little bit more. A "large" costs just about what our regular measure does — 80 cents to $1.

Whisky is served in a stemmed glass — when you call for whisky, it means Scotch.

There are pub closing hours. But they don't apply to hotel guests. Under ancient British law, a traveler is entitled to food and drink at all hours and oats for his horse. Very few of us order oats.

Costs are up here — as they are everywhere. This is the time, if you come, to bring a bundle to Britain.

Dr. Samuel Johnson was the most quoted talker of the 18th century. He banged off his quotes at the Cheshire Cheese.

The admiring Boswell said: "Johnson's conversation was much too strong for a person accustomed to obsequiousness or flattery; it was mustard in a young child's mouth."

The talk today is of "the squeeze." The government is making it tough to build any industry that doesn't export. Bring in fresh money.

For some peculiar reason this includes new hotels. Though Britain's tourist business is its No. 1 fresh money industry — "We don't even have to send anything or go and collect for it. They bring it to us."

From May to October it is impossible to get a hotel room unless you have advance reservations. "And it's going to get worse," they told me.

That's London this bright October.

Denney Supports Four Types Of Aid To Education

First District Republican congressional candidate Robert Denney says there are four types of federal aid to education which he supports.

He listed them as direct grants for buildings, tax credit for educators who undertake advanced training, grants for advanced research, and funds that permit educators and colleges to assist in foreign educational projects.

The comments were made in an address to the University of Nebraska Faculty Club.

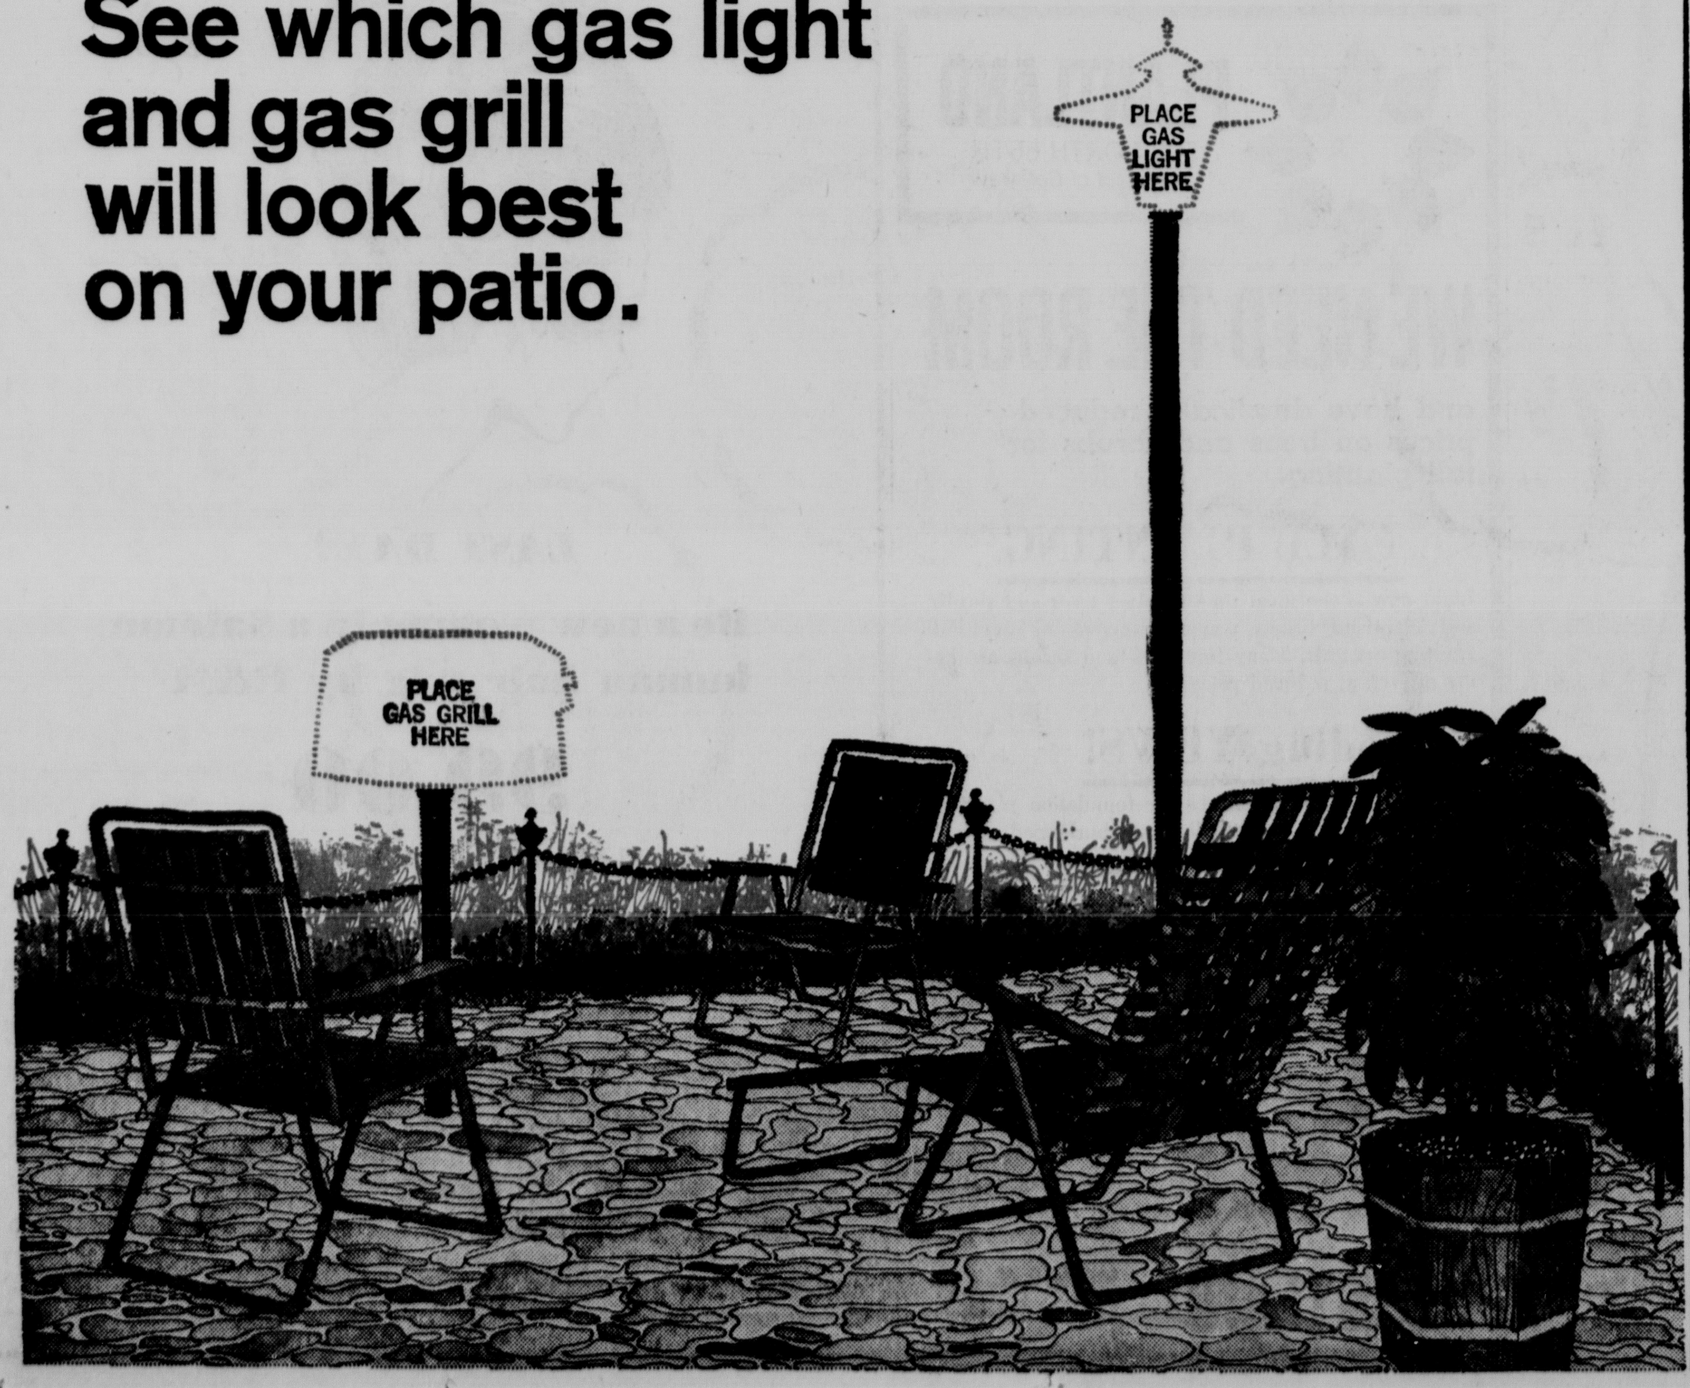
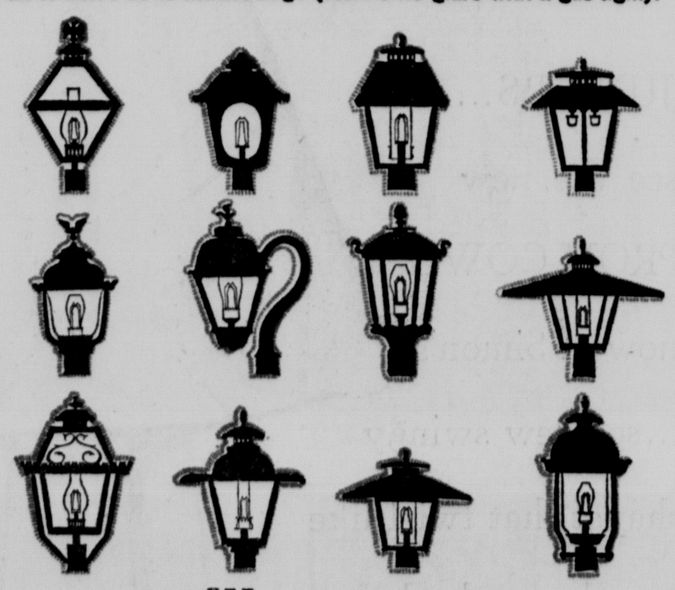
See which gas light and gas grill will look best on your patio.



gas lights:

A gas light does more than stand around and look pretty. Its soft, gentle glow can guard your yard with all-night light. Light up steps so people won't stumble. Or turn a patio into an extra room. About all it won't do is attract bugs (there's no glare with a gas light).



gas grills:

A new gas grill is ready to cook instantly. You don't have to wait and wait for the coals to get just right. The cooking's better, too, because you control the heat on a gas grill just as you do in the kitchen. What you get with a gas grill is a real "charcoal" cookout with none of the bother. So get one.

THE WEEKEND

For all practical purposes Friday begins each and every weekend. But if this were not true suburban residents wouldn't be even remotely concerned. At this moment they are as busy as the proverbial bee making plans for a variety of interesting things — such as guests, parties — and even a trip or two.

PARK VALLEY HEIGHTS

Mrs. Fred C. Hall celebrated her 87th anniversary Thursday at a luncheon for which her daughter, Mrs. Orvin Erway was hostess. The party came a day early, but Friday also will be full of festivities as Mr. and Mrs. Erway host an evening party for members of the family.

Guests at the Thursday luncheon were Mrs. Ronald Hall, Mrs. L. E. Case, Miss Elizabeth Hall, Mrs. Ruth Hall, Mrs. Emily Hall, Mrs. Anna Gilman and Mrs. William Dauer.

Mrs. Sarah Brinkman is saying goodbye to a houseguest this morning. Mrs. Brinkman's daughter, Miss Carolyn Brinkman, is returning to her home in Chicago, Ill., after a five-day visit in Lincoln.

Broken Bow was the destination of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Eastman last weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Eastman, and their youngsters, Shawna, Lisa and David, were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brock and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wenquist. The family was especially pleased to see Mrs. Brock who recently returned from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Norm Weideman and their children, Brian and Kamala, will be doing a lot of visiting and traveling next week when they drive to Ladimer, Iowa, and Edina, Minn. In Iowa members of the Lincoln family will be the guests of Mrs. Weideman's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donn Wolf. After a few days stay the fivesome go on to Minnesota to be the houseguests of Mrs. Weideman's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Strobel in Edina.

One member of this Lincoln family has been doing some celebrating on her own. Sunday evening Miss Kamala was the center of attention when relatives honored her second anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Sapp will be moving from their Lincoln home at 910 No. 58th St. on Saturday for a new residence in Auburn. Departing with their parents will be Bruce and Mark Sapp.

SOUTHBROOK SUMMIT

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bice entertained at their home in honor of Mrs. Bice's birthday. Guests for the festive evening were Mrs. Bice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vosta, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lehr of Hastings.

Introductions this morning are for Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Pearson who are the new residents at 5000 Newton St. Mr. and Mrs. Pearson and their son, Fred, who is a sophomore at Union College, are former residents of Berthoud, Colo., arriving in Lincoln on Sept. 19.

BRIDGE

possible or impossible

B. Jay Becker

QUIZ

There are some sequences of bidding which, for practical purposes, are regarded as impossible — that is, you cannot have a hand that fits the bid or bids you've made. In each of the following five cases, specify whether the last bid by South is Possible or Impossible.

1.	South	West	North	East
	1♣	Pass	1♥	Pass
	1♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
	Pass
2.	South	West	North	East
	1♣	Pass	2♦	Pass
	2♥	Pass	3♦	Pass
	3 NT	Pass	4♦	Pass
	Pass
3.	North	East	South	West
	1♦	Pass	2 NT	Pass
	3♦	Pass	Pass
4.	West	North	East	South
	Pass	1♠	4♥	5♠
5.	North	East	South	West
	1♣	Pass	1♠	Pass
	2♥	Pass	Pass

1. Impossible. In line with the general theory that responder's jump bids are forcing, South is required to bid again. North's two notrump bid in this sequence shows 13 to 15 points, though he may occasionally have only 12 points. The same general principle would apply if North's last bid were three clubs instead of two notrump. This also would be a forcing bid which South could not pass.

Of course, a partnership could easily arrange for jump bids by responder to be nonforcing — for example, with 11 points — in which case passing two notrump would become permissible, but that is not the way most people play.

2. Impossible. The two diamond response by North shows at least 17 points and it therefore becomes impossible to play the hand at less than game. It would be utterly inconsistent with North's bidding for South to be permitted to pass four diamonds.

3. Impossible. The two notrump response showed 13 to 15 points and committed the partnership to game. South must therefore bid again over three diamonds.

4. Possible. The generally accepted meaning of the five spade bid is that South has a slam-going hand which depends almost entirely on not losing the first two tricks in the adversely bid suit. Thus, South may have a hand such as ♠KQ84 ♥952 ♦— ♣AKJ983.

5. Possible. North, having bid his suits in reverse order, shows an excellent hand with at least 17 points, but, as played by nearly everyone, the bid is not forcing and South is permitted to pass. The sequence is roughly equivalent to 1♣-1♠-3♣ or 1♣-1♠-3♠. South is being urged to bid again, but with a poor hand he is expected to pass.

FORMER coed is autumn bride

For the wedding of Miss Carol Bieck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bieck of Lexington, and David Bogardus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clive Bogardus of Red Cloud, which took place Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10, white poppon chrysanthemums and salal foliage decorated the candlelighted altar of the First Presbyterian Church at Lexington. The 4 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Donn Jann.

Silk crepe and Venise lace in muted autumn green fashioned the floor-lenght frocks of Miss Jean Pittman, Columbus, the maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Linda Muff, Sioux Falls, S. D.: and Mrs. J. William Henry, Omaha.

Gary Bieck, brother of the bride, served Mr. Bogardus as best man, and the groomsmen were Stanley Killinger, Hebron; and Carroll Cederburg, North Platte.

The bride-s period gown of white crepe was trimmed with Chantilly lace. Lace edged the elbow sleeves of the Empire bodice and was repeated in a wide banding on the slim skirt, which was draped into back fullness and continued into a chapel train.

Mr. and Mrs. Bogardus are making their home in Lincoln, at 1227 D. A graduate of the University of Nebraska and of the College of Medical Technology in Omaha, the bride is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi honor societies, and is a past president of Gammi Phi Beta sorority. Mr. Bogardus, a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity, is a graduate of the university's College of Pharmacy.

Anniversary Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Diefenderfer of Baywood Park, Calif., formerly of Lincoln, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday, Oct. 1, at a reception for which their children were hosts and hostesses at the Baywood Park Community Bldg.

Married in Omaha, Oct. 3, 1916, the couple left Lincoln in 1951 to reside in California.

The reception was preceded by a luncheon given by Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Diefenderfer, San Luis Obispo, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. George Woods, Morro Bay, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Lancaster, Lakewood, Calif., and Kenneth Diefenderfer, Kalamazoo, Mich.

PTA Program Planned

Bryan PTA will sponsor a series of open houses for the parents of school pupils during the coming week.

Parents of first and fourth graders have been invited to attend the 7 o'clock open house to be held Tuesday evening at the school.

An open house for parents of kindergarten pupils, both morning and afternoon classes, will be held Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

To honor the members of the faculty, the Havelock PTA will entertain at a 6:30 o'clock, potluck supper, Tuesday evening at the school. A program, "What It Means to be an American," will be presented.

BRIDE at evening wedding

Lighted white candles in hurricane shades formed the background in the United Church of Christ at Ravenna, Sunday evening, Oct. 2, for the marriage of Miss Enny Jay Redekop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Redekop of Cuauhtimoc Chihuahua, Mexico, to Frank James Marrs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Marrs of Ravenna. The Rev. Jonathan Bunge read the lines of the 7 o'clock ceremony.

Miss Margaret Redekop of Phoenix, Ariz., as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Maria Redekop, Lincoln, and Miss Alvina Redekop, Henderson, all sisters of the bride, wore Empire frocks of blue-green brocade and blue crepe. They carried pinnacle bouquets of fern.

Serving his brother as best man was Dale Marrs, Chicago, and the corps of ushers included Aaron Redekop, Kearney, brother of the bride Dale Muff, Omaha; Jacob Dernig, Crete; and Gary Jurgenson, Fremont.

The bride chose delustered satin in traditional white for her wedding gown. The sculptured bodice was designed with a rounding neckline and fitted sleeves, and the slender skirt, banded with Alencon lace, was pleated into back fullness and extended into a chapel train beneath a Watteau panel of satin and lace. Her bouffant veil of illusion was held by a crown of pearls and crystal beading, and she carried a cascade of sweetheart roses.

Mr. Marrs and his bride will live in Lincoln, following a wedding trip to Mexico.

ABBY: don't confuse worth with education

DEAR ABBY: My husband has had 5 years of college. He works long hours (no overtime pay) in a position of responsibility with a large, highly respected firm. His judgment is heavily relied upon. But some of the men who operate the machinery make more money than my husband. This hurts.

For instance, our neighbor never even finished high school, but because he has a unionized job of manual labor, his income far outstrips my husband's. It doesn't seem fair that with all my husband's education he isn't able to give his family as much as some uneducated laborers.

I am not saying common laborers should make less, but in a society screaming for youngsters to get an education, it's ironical that uneducated laborers should make more than college graduates. I hope you aren't too frightened by big business to answer.

EDUCATED BUT HUNGRY

DEAR EDUCATED: I don't blame you for being resentful, but perhaps what you term "common laborers" are skilled laborers in their fields. Many men who have never seen the inside of a college (or high school) have a technical knowledge equal in importance to some college educations.

I, too, would like to see higher education bring greater rewards, but don't confuse a man's worth with his college education or the lack of it.

DEAR ABBY: Men think nothing of wearing a suit for 4 and maybe 5 years. Some even longer. So can you please tell me why a woman won't wear last year's dress?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: Some don't want to. Others can't.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. J. H.: Instead of yearning for some kind of immortality, remember the words of Benjamin Franklin:

"If you would not be forgotten,
As soon as you are dead and rotten,
Either write things worth reading
Or do things worth the writing."

FASHIONS are fun for students' wives

What the well-dressed, college student's wife will be wearing this fall and winter—or rather what would she like to be wearing—was on parade in the Student Union ballroom Wednesday evening when the University of Nebraska Law Wives sponsored a fashion show.

Joining the Law Wives for the evening were the wives of Architecture, Pharmacy and Dental College students.

Huskers Are Due

Nebraska followers can expect the Huskers to bust loose in a big way one of these first Saturdays, but you can go broke trying to figure out when it will be.

Those with a long range view would prefer that it wait until Oct. 22 at Boulder, Colo. Those who have already laid their money down, would prefer it be this week.

The sentimental folks are hoping it won't be next week, but it's likely to come against lowly Kansas State, the team coach Bob Devaney would least like to run the score up against.

Figuring the Huskers may start on it this week, but will still make enough errors to keep it close: NEBRASKA 24, Wisconsin 10.

Errors, Palmer Sabotage Dodgers In World Series

. . . WILLIE DAVIS HUMILIATED

Los Angeles (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles took a commanding two-game lead in the World Series and nearly reduced it to pure comedy Thursday by capitalizing on six errors, including three by Willie Davis, and Jim Palmer's four-hit pitching to humiliate the Los Angeles Dodgers, 6-0.

It was a day in which the eager, ambitious young Orioles could do nothing wrong and one in which the fumbling, bumbling Dodgers could do nothing right as they tied a World Series record for futility and saw their 27-game ace, Sandy Koufax, sabotaged by a butter-fingered defense.

Palmer, a nerveless, 20-year-old right-hander from Scottsdale, Ariz., had the satisfaction of becoming the youngest pitcher ever to hurl a shutout in a World Series contest, the previous Waite Hoyt, who did it when he was 22 way back in 1921.

And Palmer, who struck out six men, walked only three and was in only one tight spot all afternoon, also came up with another distinction. He tied Bullet Joe Bush as the youngest pitcher ever to turn in a victory.

"When you beat their best," happily declared Baltimore's Hank Bauer, meaning Koufax, "you have to feel good. And when you're going home you have to feel even better."

He was alluding to the switch in the site of the series, which after a day off Friday for travel, will resume Saturday in Baltimore where the third and fourth games will be played, along with the firth, if necessary.

As far as the Dodgers were concerned, they were happy to leave town—even if it was only the second World Series game they ever had lost in their own ball park.

The six errors they committed—three by the pitiful Willie Davis and one each by Jim Gilliam, Ron Fairly and reliever Ron Perranoski — equaled a World Series record held by three clubs, the last of which were the 1917 White Sox.

Things got so bad as the Orioles collected eight hits and ran the bases at random that the crowd of 55,947 booed their sad sack one-time Dodger heroes, particularly Willie Davis, any time a ball was caught.

That wasn't too often.

Most of the trouble came in the fifth inning, which turned out to be a personal nightmare for Willie Davis.

Davis, 26, will never forget it if he lives to be 1,000. chances are neither will Koufax.

There was no score in the ball game and no real sweat on Sandy's part when Boog Powell singled to left leading off the fifth for the Orioles' first hit since Luis Aparicio had opened the game by out-legging an infield roller.

Dave Johnson followed with a foul pop to catcher John Roseboro that accounted for the first out and contained no hint whatsoever of the catastrophe which was to follow.

Paul Blair, who used to root for the Dodgers as a kid in Cushing, Okla., set the stage for the high drama that was to come by sending a high fly to Fairly deep center field.

The ball was hit well, but it was a routine type of fly, the kind Willie Davis has stuffed in his hip pocket thousands of times in his career. This one didn't end up in his hip pocket, though, or even in his glove.

As he set himself to make the catch, Davis seemed to come unhinged at the last instant, possibly because the sun got in his eyes or maybe because he took his eyes off the ball for a moment.

Anyway, he dropped it and the startled Powell, who is no gazelle, scooted all the way to third while Blair streaked to second.

Koufax doesn't lose his composure too easily, but it was obvious he was a little shaken by the turn of events.

Bearing down with runners on second and third, Koufax ran the count to 2-and-2 on Andy Etchebarren, then induced the Oriole catcher to hoist another innocent looking fly ball to short center.

Davis loped in easily and again it looked like a simple matter for him to make the catch. He came in so far, in fact, that it appeared he'd have no trouble holding Powell at third.

First, of course, Davis would have to catch the ball He didn't!

The ball skidded out of his glove the way a wet grapefruit does when you reach for it too quickly and then, applying panic to sheer excitement, Davis finally scooped up the ball from the grass and hurled it at least 15 feet over Roseboro's head.

Powell scored easily on Davis' double error and so did Blair while Etchebarren made it all the way to third without really drawing a deep breath.

Koufax somehow found the energy to strike out Palmer, but Aparicio doubled down the third base line to drive in Etchebarren with the third run of the inning.

Sun Caused Bobbles

Los Angeles (AP)—"I just lost both of them in the sun. There's nothing you can do about a case like that."

So said Willie Davis, the unfortunate goat of the second game of the World Series as the Baltimore Orioles blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-0.

The Dodger center fielder set a Series record when he committed three errors on two successive plays as 55,947 fans in Dodger Stadium and a national television audience gasped in disbelief.

First Willie dropped a fly ball hit into center field by Paul Blair. Then he muffed another fly ball to the same area hit by Andy Etchebarren, recovered the ball and threw wildly past third for the third error.

Before it was over, the Orioles had three runs in and Sandy Koufax was soon to go to the showers.

After the horror, Koufax put his arm around Davis' shoulder as the two headed to the club house runway between innings.

"I told him not to let it get him down. Those things happen," Sandy disclosed later

Manager Walt Alston was asked if he said anything on the bench to Davis.

"I didn't have to. I saw what happened. He lost them—at least the first one, I'm sure—in the sun."

"I got a quick peek at the ball the second time," Davis continued as he explained the bobbles to the baseball writers surrounding him in the dressing room after the game.

"I made a stab at it but it was no use. Sandy put his arm around me later and told me, 'Things happen like that.'

"I missed only one other in the sun this year, at Pittsburgh," Willie continued.

"If I could see the ball, you know I'm gonna catch it."

As Willie Davis stood backed up in his tiny dressing cubicle, Don Drysdale signalled over the heads of the writers for Willie to move out of discussion range. But Willie stayed as long as the writers, who appeared in waves, wanted him to talk.

What about a third fly ball that dropped between him and right fielder Ron Fairly off Frank Robinson's bat and went for a triple in the next inning?

"Neither one of us called for it," Willie said.

"I was just getting ready to call, then he hollered at me," said Fairly. "He'd run a long way, and I've got to take as much blame as either of us. If I'd taken charge sooner, it might not have happened."

Alston said he took Koufax out after six innings "because I thought he was laboring a little, his arm maybe hurting so I just decided to get him out of there."

Left fielder Lou Johnson, who eased the booing pressure on Willie Davis between innings, said, "This was the toughest sun I ever seen."

Willie, Johnson and Fairly were tossing the ball back and forth in the outfield after Willie had been unmercifully jeered. Each time Willie caught a toss, the crowd cheered wildly.

Johnson suddenly dropped a throw from Willie — obviously on purpose—and the crowd roared in good humor.

Koufax described his pitching as normal.

"My curve was coming in high but I'd say I was pitching normal—no worse, no better." Will he be ready to pitch in Baltimore Sunday, following Claude Osteen Saturday?

"I'll be ready whenever the man asks me," said Sandy, referring to Alston.

Match Play Meet Pairs Old Pros

Nicklaus will play Casper and Palmer will face Player Friday in a renewal of the 36-hole elimination matches. The winners will clash Saturday for the $14,000 first prize put up by a cigarette company.

The powerful Nicklaus, of Columbus, Ohio, holder of the Masters and British Open crowns, fired the best single round — a ten-under-par 64—but Palmer, bidding to reclaim the title he won two years ago, scored the most decisive victory in the opening matches.

Nicklaus grabbed a 5-hole lead with his sensational morning round and lost only three holes in beating Dave Thomas, a bull-shouldered Welshman, 6 and 5. Palmer, coming from a six weeks layoff, looked like the imposing charger of old in crushing Roberto DeVincenzo of Argentina 10 and 8.

Casper, the U.S. Open champion from San Diego, Calif., canned an eagle putt of 60 feet from off the green at the fourth hole for an early lead and went on to beat Peter Thomson of Australia, five times winner of the British Open, 3 and 2.

Player, who won the American Open, Canada Cup, World Series and this event last year, had the hardest time of it. One down after 18 holes, he rallied for a 1-up triumph over Neil Coles, the British Ryder Cup ace.

The Player-Coles match was touch-and-go all around the 6,997-yard, par 36-38-74 course, the Englishman going three holes ahead after 13. But Player finished the morning round with two birdies and got even at the 20th. The South African was 2-up at the 32nd but lost the 35th. Player shot rounds of 69-69, Coles 68-70.

City Prep Gridders On Road

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln's prep football teams are hoping to earn "King of the Road" labels this week with three of the four contests slated on foreign turf.

Pius X invades Fremont, Northeast travels to Beatrice and Lincoln High goes to Grand Island while Southeast stays in town to entertain Bellevue.

The Knights will be going without regular quarterback Craig Lutz in their battle with the Chieftains.

"We're not certain just what the extent of his injury is, but we won't use him this week," says coach Bill Stephenson of Lutz, who was forced to leave last week's Fremont game with a knee injury.

Moving in will be Scott Dworak, the defensive cornerback who was pressed into service last week.

Stephenson is hopeful that the Knights, now 2-2, can bounce back after their setback at the hands of Fremont.

"We actually played good football except for those two blocked punts and that intercepted pass. You just can't afford to give a team the ball three times deep in your own territory," he points out.

SCOTT DWORAK

"Bellevue really should have beaten Tech last week," says Stephenson of the game in which the Chieftains lost to the No. 1 ranked Trojans, 21-13.

"They're a tough bunch of kids, but we've always played well against them," he says of the series.

Fremont (3-1), loser to Northeast in its season opener, shoots for an upset of unbeaten Pius X.

Meanwhile, Northeast is in the unfamiliar role of making a comeback as it invades unbeaten Beatrice. Coach Art Bauer is still looking for more offensive punch from his Rockets.

Lincoln High takes its 2-1-1 record to Grand Island (1-3) and if comparative scores are meaningful the Islanders could provide a stiff test. Last week the young Third City club stopped Columbus, 27-0, while Lincoln High managed only a 20-12 win over the Discoverers four weeks ago.

Pancakes, Gum Aid To Palmer

. . . PITCHES HELP TOO

Los Angeles (AP)—Jim Palmer, Baltimore's young right-hander, came to Dodger Stadium Thursday with four pancakes, three pieces of bubble gum and two pitches.

He had the pancakes for breakfast, the bubble gum for superstition, the pitches for the Dodgers and a shutout for his efforts.

For Palmer followed the advice he was given and pitched a four-hit, 6-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers, becoming the youngest pitcher in World Series history to throw a shutout.

And, as Palmer stood in his cubicle in the Orioles' dressing room after the game, he told about the things he brought to the park in 4-3-2 order.

"I had four pancakes for breakfast," he said, "just the regular kind,"

Palmer then explained that he began the pancake routine early this season after he won eight of his first nine decisions.

"I don't really worry about them," Palmer said, "but then I've been getting a little publicity because of them so I figured I'd might as well eat them."

Palmer needed the publicity because he was virtually an unknown commodity this spring. Signed by the Orioles for a $50,000 bonus, the 20-year-old right-hander had a 5-4 record with Baltimore last season in only his second season of organized ball.

But Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer tapped him for a starter's role, and he responded by becoming the Orioles' biggest winner, with 15 victories.

And he kept eating pancakes because "I didn't want to find out if they had any bearing on how I was doing. The bubble gum is just a little superstition."

Despite following the pancake-bubble gum routine, Palmer said he was not nervous, even at the prospect of pitching against Sandy Koufax.

"I had a good fast ball and a good curve," he said, "and that's what we're supposed to pitch to them. Koufax? you just try to pitch as good a game as you can.

"I wasn't nervous, but I don't usually pitch as fast as I did. I had a lot of energy, and everything seemed like it was going so fast I didn't have time to think."

As for becoming the youngest pitcher in Series history to throw a shutout, Palmer said he had no idea about that and said he wasn't too familiar with Waite Hoyt and Joe Bush, the guys whose records he surpassed and threatened.

But then he was just following orders by throwing the shutout.

"I don't know who it was," he said, "but someone was teasing me in the hotel last night and told me if I could pitch a shutout I'd win."

And what did Palmer answer?

"I said I'd try."

Senate May Stall Off FB Merger

Washington (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle said today the merger of the National and American Football Leagues will be called off if Congress fails to approve it.

In a statement presented to the House Antitrust Subcommittee, the NFL commissioner said the threat of legal action against the merger by the Justice Department or private individuals makes a Congressional grant-of-immunity mandatory.

With Congress driving for adjournment, swift action by the House would be needed to meet Rozelle's ultimatum. But chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., showed no intention of being pressured into quick action.

"The antitrust subcommittee intends to explore thoroughly the extent of antitrust immunity requested and the results that would flow from any such grant of immunity," Celler said.

Celler opened hearings on a Senate-passed bill that would exempt the merger from the antitrust laws, but was forced to adjourn them by an early meeting of the House before Rozelle could testify. The hearings will resume next Tuesday.

Rozelle already had distributed copies of his statement, however.

The statement said it would be his "strong, although reluctant recommendation' that the merger be canceled if Congress fails to pass the bill.

One private suit against the merger has already been filed and Rozelle said the Department of Justice has told him "they have serious concern about the plan although they have not yet decided whether to bring suit."

Rozelle's statement indicated the salary war between the leagues for outstanding college players was the basic reason the merger was put together.

Rozelle said the huge bonuses given to some players to get them to sign have already undermined the financial stability of some clubs. He did not identify them

Celler, who is the author of the antimerger legislation that professional football now wants to get around, said exemptions from it should be given "only with the greatest reluctance and only upon a showing of an overriding need therefor."

He also indicated that if professional football is given such an exemption, it may be necessary to set up some sort of governmental regulatory body to protect the interests of the public and the players.

Celler noted that professional football has been seeking laws since 1957, claiming that its existence would be threatened without it.

Cipriano Set To Unveil '66 Cornhuskers

Nebraska basketball coach Joe Cipriano has announced that following the freshman football game with Kansas State on Oct. 14 the University will hold its annual press day for the news media.

Nebraska will have fourteen players return on the varsity this season, including four of the five starters from last year's record setting team.

Also to be on hand will be 13 freshman reporting for coach Glen Potter.

The Huskers are seeking their first outright conference championship since 1915-16 this season and have been picked by some pre-season polls to do it. Last year Nebraska finished the season with a 20-5 record, 12-2 in the Big Eight, finishing second to Kansas.

Key Tigers Still Doubtful Starters

Columbia (AP) — Decisions won't be made until a noon workout Friday on whether halfback Earl Denny and guard Jim Willsey will be on Missouri's travel roster for its Big Eight football opener with Kansas State at Manhattan, Coach Dan Devine said.

Denny has been hospitalized all week with a back ailment Willsey, who missed the UCLA game last week with a foot injury, has been slow in recovering, Devine said.

Defensive back Roger Wehrli and linebacker Rich Bernsen, out of action most of the week with shoulder bruises, are expected to be ready for full duty against the Wildcats.

Berres Remains With Sox Staff

Chicago (AP) — Ray Berres, Chicago White Sox pitching coach since 1949, announced Thursday he would remain with the White Sox as pitching instructor for their minor league clubs.

The status of Berres had been doubtful following a recent shakeup of the Sox staff by Manager Ed Stanky in which Tony Cuccinello and Don Gutteridge were dismissed.

Southeast Reserves Stave Off Fremont

Southeast reserves broke past Fremont reserves in Lincoln Thursday night, 22-6, in a hard-fought defensive contest. Larry Feerhusen quarterbacked the Knight reserves to victory, passing for one touchdown and an extra point. Southeast also added a safety in the fourth quarter when a contered ball went into the end zone for the visitors.

Southeast led 14-0 in the third stanza, when Fremont returned the kick for a TD and a score, but the home squad held on for their third straight win.

Southeast	7	0	7	8	—22
Fremont	0	0	6	0	—6

Southeast—Hill, 2 run; Menton, 35 pass from Feerhusen; Hall, 7 run. PAT—Hall; Manton, pass from Feerhusen. Safety.

Ex-Champ Moves In

Coloradoans Invade NWU

. . . PLAINSMEN AFTER FOURTH WIN

Colorado College will try to snap the Plainsmen win streak at three in a 7:30 encounter at O.M. Magee Stadium tonight.

"They'll run from all kinds of formations, and we expect them to throw a lot, "Plainsman coach Ray Westover said.

The Tigers trounced St. Mary of the Plains 48-0 to post their only win of the year against a crew that topped perennially tough Peru State.

Colorado College is 1-2 for the season with a last minute loss to Doane (14-20) and a 6-28 loss to Colorado Mines.

"Defensively, we look for them to throw a lot of different formations at us. We've been working all week on blocking assisgnments and plays, trying to polish our offense

"We need to be more consistent. We can't always wait until the last quarter to play football," he said, recalling last week's fourth quarter surge that gave the Plainsmen a 16-6 win over Dana.

Bill Rohrig, senior halfback, will be called on regularly for the important yardage. Against Dana he had runs of 32, 24, and 21 yards.

Rohrig's 147 yards against Dana makes him the offensive leader with 273 yards rushing on 48 carries for a 5.6 yard per carry average.

NWU opponents have been held to a 5 points per game average and to an average of 182 yards total offense per game.

Sooners Prime For Longhorn Tilt

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma football coach Jim Mackenzie was cautiously optimistic Thursday about his team's condition for Saturday's annual clash with the Texas Longhorns in Dallas.

"We're in pretty good shape physically, I hope we are mentally," Mackenzie said after putting his charges through a brisk hour and 50-minute workout in sweatclothes.

"We worked on our kicking game today," Mackenzie said. "We're going to have to work extra hard to beat Texas . . . they have a great kicking game."

Husker Harriers To Open At Ames

Ames, Iowa — Iowa State will open its 1966 cross country season Saturday, facing teams from Nebraska and South Dakota in a series of dual meets.

The running will be on the George F. Veenker Memorial golf course at 10 a.m. The race will start and finish at the fourth tee.

Nebraska will be favored to win the meet, bringing in its strongest cross country team in 10 years. Peter Scott, the NCAA half mile champion, is the leader of the Cornhuskers. Ray Martinez is fresh from the British Empire games and is another strong runner for the Nebraska team.

The squad will fly out of Topeka at 1 p.m. Friday and work out in Des Moines in the afternoon.

Riots, Housing Issue Arouse Fear Backlash May Send Gov. Brown To Defeat

By BILL BOYARSKY

Sacramento, Calif. (AP)—Racial strife and voter hostility to open housing laws have raised fears among California Democrats that a white backlash will hurt Gov. Edmund G. Brown's chances for re-election.

Both Brown and his Republican opponent, Ronald Reagan, have said they'll try to avoid playing politics with last week's rioting in San Francisco Negro districts.

A Brown aide said the governor's action in calling out the National Guard "came off so well there doesn't seem to be any backlash."

But he echoed private fears in the Brown camp when he said, "You always figure you're an automatic loser when you have trouble. You're the manager of the team and you take the losses."

The violence, just six weeks before the election, renewed talk of the racial issue—a major one in 1964 when Californians, by a more than 2-1 vote, adopted a constitutional amendment that nullified the state law requiring open housing.

This year, the state supreme court overturned the amendment.

Despite their "no politics" statements, Brown and Reagan criticized each other during and after the San Francisco riots.

There are other issues, including charges and countercharges over what both candidates call extremism.

They also disagree over taxes, welfare, government spending, education and what to do about student conduct at the University of California at Berkeley.

Constantly reminding voters Brown is running for a third term, Reagan has said the administration has been "in power too long."

Brown, in turn, has frequently called attention to Reagan's inexperience. The actor has never held public office.

How does the election shape up today?

Stock Market Drops Sharply

It was a continuation of a slide which has continued, with barely any worthwhile interruption, for about 2½ weeks. The latest phase began Monday with a break below the 1966 lows set Aug. 29. Some steadying occurred in a doubtful session on Tuesday. The drop continued Wednesday and resumed at roughly the same tempo Thursday.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 5.84 to 749.61, its lowest close since Nov. 27, 1963, when it read 741.0. That was five days after the Kennedy assassination.

The Dow industrials were down as much as 8.18 at noon. CST Thursday, so the final figure represented a partial recovery.

Some of the recovery was based on what traders hoped would be bullish statements by President Johnson at his news conference. As these reports began to come over the wires, however, brokers saw nothing much in them to spur prices.

Volume was 8.1 million shares compared with 5.88 million Wednesday.

Not one of the 15 most-active stocks advanced. Losses of 2 to 7 or more points were taken by these volume leaders.

Of 1,424 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 961 fell and 243 rose. There were 433 lows for the year and not a single high.

The same elements that have plagued the market right along were cited Thursday—tight money, concern about Viet Nam, worry about possible recession, evidence of the profit squeeze due to inflation and higher wage costs.

Sperry Rand was most active stock for the second straight session, losing 1 at 22⅜ on 369,200 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 2.4 at 271.6, its lowest close since Aug. 8, 1963 when it read 271.0. Industrials fell 4.2, rails 1.2, both to new

Prices fell on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was moderately active, with volume at 2.27 million shares compared with 1.68 million Wednesday.

Grain Market Closes Mixed

Chicago (AP)—Grain futures prices closed in an unsettled and somewhat mixed range Thursday after having rallied fairly broadly from a period of early weakness then falling from the peaks of the day.

Trade volume was believed to have been a little larger than on most other recent days with speculators active on both sides of the market, buying on the setbacks and selling on the bulges.

In all the pits, the trade was believed to have included a good deal of commitment balancing against the first crop report of the month to be used Friday.

Wheat closed ⅞ cent a bushel higher to ½ lower. December $1.68⅜-69; corn ⅜-½ higher, December $1.35⅜-¾; oats ¼ higher to ⅛ lower. December 74-74⅛ cents; rye unchanged to ½ lower, December $1.22¼; soybeans ½ higher to 1 cent lower, November $2.89⅞-92¼.

Morrison Answers GOP Smear Claim

Governor Frank Morrison Thursday night answered Republican charges that he was conducting a smear campaign by saying, "If you create your own smear you have to sit in your own smear."

He spoke to a Democratic rally here and party workers termed his speech "the most rousing" speech they have heard the U.S. senatorial candidate deliver.

Morrison said that Curtis's record must be an issue in the campaign and that the "smear" was only the facts of his record. He said the facts were that Curtis has talked about flood control for the Elkhorn and Loup rivers but "that the Babylonians 2000 years before Christ had more flood control on the Tigres—Euphrates River."

Curtis's refusal to place himself in the public eye where his record can be questioned is "placing Nebraskans under political guardianship" and causing them to be "spoon fed" appraisals of his record. Morrison charged.

"Do you want to help write the history of the nation or sit on the side and watch others complain about how it is being written," Morrison asked, emphasizing the need for Nebraska to take part in federal programs.

Morrison cited the progress of the state in the past eight years and said that "Curtis can't tolerate progress even when clothed in frugality and economy. He is not only attacking the Democrats but the thousands of Republicans who are helped in this record of achievment."

Mrs. Anderson Dies, Daughter Of Ex-Governor

Helen Marie Anderson, 89, widow of Walter L. Anderson who served in the Nebraska Legislature and was a member of the convention which gave Lincoln home rule, died Thursday.

She is the daughter of former Nebraska Governor Albinus Nance who served from 1879 to 1883 and for whom Nance County was named.

She was a member of the Eastern Star, the PEO, the DAR and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Anderson is survived by a niece Mrs. Linard Gambell of Lincoln.

GOVERNOR RECEIVES CENTERPIECE

Curtis Is Unhappy With 'Great Society' Spending

North Platte (AP)—Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., told a gathering at a Republican barbecue that the Johnson Administration's big spending and big deficit cannot be blamed on the Viet Nam war.

Curtis noted that since 1960 the expenditure for Health, Education and Welfare have increased by 200%. And, he said, expenditures by the State Department have gone up 64%, by the Commerce Department up 70%, and by the Interior Department, 91%.

In comparison, Curtis declared, the Defense Department spending, including the cost of war, is up only 34%.

Earlier in the day at a stop in McCook, the senator warned Nebraskans to beware of any plans which would result in further water controls vested in Washington.

"Every irrigator in Nebraska should become aware of the danger in the proposal to establish a Missouri Basin Commission with any additional power and authority whatever vested in the federal governmsnt," he declared.

"Some of the Washington planners haven't given up on the idea of forming a Missouri Valley Authority to control the development and operation of the Missouri River and all of its tributaries," he continued. "They would use the proposed commission as an entering wedge."

"Water rights are subject to state law. The right to use irrigation water follows the ownership of the land and is a property right that must be protected by state law.

"The federal government should not have the power to decide that water belonging to the land owner must be released at a given time for navigation, power, or any other purpose, even though the other purposes have merit."

Man Reported Dead In Crash Found Unharmed

Minatare (AP) — If Mrs. Lawrence Two Bulls of Minatare was unusually happy Thursday, there was a good reason.

She went to Hermosa, S.D. Sunday for the funeral of her husband, reportedly a traffic accident victim, in Montana, and he showed up unharmed.

Two Bulls, a rodeo hand, traveled throughout the rodeo circuit. He was erroneously reported to have been burned beyond recognition in a traffic accident.

The funeral was arranged for Hermosa and Mrs. Two Bulls and other relatives made the trip to South Dakota. They found Two Bulls there. He had not been involved in the accident.

LBJ TRIP TO SHATTER RECORD

ELIGIBILITY QUESTIONED . . .

Swanson May Face Challenge

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The election of Republican treasurer nominee Wayne Swanson may be challenged on constitutional grounds if he defeats Democratic State Treasurer Fred Sorensen in next month's general election.

"He subjects himself to the possibility of being disqualified should he win," Democratic State Chairman John Mitchell of Kearney said Thursday.

Swanson is now a member of the State Railway Commission. His term does not expire until 1969.

Article 4, Section 2

Subject of a possible challenge would be Article IV, Section 2 of the state constitution which states that "none of the officers mentioned in this article shall be eligible to any other state office during the period for which they have been elected . . ."

Swanson said he is relying on an attorney general's opinion which he said was issued in 1964 stating that railway commissioners are not covered by the prohibition in Section 2.

Doesn't Apply

"We are not constitutional officers, as such," Swanson said. "The prohibition does not apply."

Swanson noted that nobody challenged his candidacy when he filed for the May primary election.

"If it should have been challenged, the secretary of state had the duty to challenge it," he said.

Issued Opinion

When Railway Commissioner Richard Larson sought a newly-created district post on the commission in the midst of his current term in 1964, he reported that the attorney general had issued an opinion declaring him eligible as a candidate.

The Railway Commission, Larson said he was told at the time, is a wholly independent body not bound by the ban which prevents executive officers, with the exception of lieutenant governor, from seeking any other state office.

The section creating a Railway Commission was added to Article IV of the constitution in 1906.

Unavailable

Both Attorney General Clarence Meyer and Secretary of State Frank Marsh were traveling Thursday and unavailable for comment.

"I think there is an infraction," Mitchell said.

"We have not formally taken action, and we do not intend to at this time. Mr. Sorensen has not requested that he be disqualified at this time."

But, Mitchell noted, "we are not waiving our right" to challenge Swanson's eligibility should he win next month's general election contest with Sorensen.

Under Question

The portion of the constitution under question will itself be on the ballot in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment.

Amendment 1, proposed by the Legislature, would remove the ban on elective executive state officers seeking other state office during their elected terms.

Erratic Inez Draws Bead On Yucatan

New Orleans (AP) — Erratic winds of Hurricane Inez battered the Yucatan Peninsula Thursday night as the killer storm bore down on the land of low tropical rain forests.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau late Thursday said Inez was only 40 miles northeast of the coast, where the great Mayan civilization once flourished.

Authorities began evacuating the 15,000 residents of Port Progreso, anticipating waves up to nine feet. Those who chose to remain were told to take shelter in the schools.

Mexican fishing boats sailing off Yucatan were ordered to seek refuge in Campeche, the peninsula's major port.

Oriental Peace Tour Widest For Any Chief

From Press Reports

Washington — Lyndon B. Johnson confirmed officially Thursday that his first presidential trip overseas will be the most extensive visit to the Far East ever launched by an American chief executive.

It begins Oct. 17 and winds up Nov. 2 and in between Johnson will cover roughly 25,000 miles and visit the capitals of New Zealand, Australia, the Philippines, Thailand, Malaysia and South Korea.

Cause of Peace

The overriding objective of the trip is to help the cause of an honorable peace in Viet Nam. This will be a focal point of a conference in Manila.

But, he said, the present prospects for peace are not encouraging.

Johnson said "no consideration has been given at this time to" visiting Viet Nam itself.

No president has been in a combat area since the late Franklin D. Roosevelt went to North Africa after most of the World War II fighting there had subsided.

Wouldn't Be Surprised

Still, it would not be surprising should Johnson show up suddenly and unannounced, under strictest security precautions, somewhere in Viet Nam sometime during the Pacific expedition.

Johnson also said he hoped the week-long halt in U. S. bombing of part of the Viet Nam Demilitarized Zone would lead to de-escalation of the war.

As a courtesy to the nations he is visiting, the White House let them spread the word first that the President is coming. Mrs. Johnson will go along.

She will be looking in on "various projects and historic sites" to gather ideas for such things as the beautification program at home.

Johnson denied suggestions that the timing of the trip was motivated by domestic political considerations. Others would have to "draw their own conclusions," he said, adding he did not intend to spend "all afternoon talking about my critics."

The President said he had nothing to say now about the possibility of taking a bipartisan congressional delegation with him to Manila.

President also siad:

—Llewellyn E. Thompson, the State Department's top authority on Soviet and Eastern European affairs, will go back to his former post as ambassador in Moscow, succeeding Foy D. Kohler, new deputy undersecretary of state for political affairs.

Linowitz to OAS

—Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. Ambassador to the Organization of American States, will succeed Thompson as ambassador at large, and Sol M. Linowitz, board chairman of Xerox International, Inc., will take Bunker's seat at the OAS.

—He still had not determined whether he would request an anti-inflationary tax increase, but warned Congress that "each vote to increase the budget is likely a vote for increased revenues later."

—he planned to deliver a major address on European policy in New York Friday before the National Conference of Editorial Writers.

—He had tried "everything I could to bring about equality between the races." In reply to a Republican leadership charge that his administration had failed to stop street violence, Johnson said "we want to have the voice of reason drown out the voice of violence." He cautioned Negroes that street riots hurt them the most.

'Good' Year

—The economy had been "very good" in 1966 and that 1967 "is going to be equally as good."

—He had no request to do support, and "has no plans to do so," recently nominated Democratic candidates for governor in the South with segregationist views. It was "very evident," he said, that their civil rights policies differed from his.

On Viet Nam, the President commented carefully about recent statements by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who had said he would not automatically exclude anything, including use of nuclear weapons, to end the war quickly.

"It is the policy of this government to exercise the best judgment of which we are capable in an attempt to provide maximum deterrence with minimum involvement," Johnson said.

Deterrent

The United States is "constantly concerned," he added, that the conflict might widen and bring in other nations. He said it had sought to use the power required to deter aggression "without attempting to conquer, invade or destroy Viet Nam."

At the same time, Johnson said, "we have no desire to capitulate or to retreat."

Eisenhower, incidentally visited Korea as president-elect in 1952 in fulfillment of a campaign promise. Then in 1960 he went back to Korea as president and also visited the Phillippines and Formosa.

Anti-American demonstrations brought cancellation of arrangements for Eisenhower to go to Japan at that time. And there has been no indication that Johnson might visit Tokyo this time.

As Johnson prepares to head out across the Pacific, he sees nothing specific, he said, to indicate that peace in Viet Nam is any more within reach than it has been.

For more on conference see page 10.

$437,000 To Employes Of Youth Corps

Washington (UPI) — The U.S. Department of Labor said Thursday the Nebraska economy is $437,680 better off as a result of the seven Neighborhood Youth Corps projects operating in the state this summer.

The total represents the federal share of operating costs allocated to local sponsors of Youth Corps projects, principally for wages for 975 young people recruited from impoverished sections of the state.

These enrollees, ranging in age from 16 through 21, were paid $1.25 per hour for working nearly full time in Youth Corps programs designed to fight the local war on poverty.

In most cases the department said the money thus earned enabled these youths to return to school this fall and reduced the number of students who left school for economic reasons.

Nebraska projects with enrollees and federal share:

—Lincoln Public Schools, Lincoln, 200, $83,979.
—Omaha Public Schools, Omaha, 250, $108,600.
—Winnebago Tribal Council, Winnebago, 63, $28,910
—Omaha Tribal Council, Macy, 53, $26,000
—Northwest Nebraska Community Action Council, Chadron, 22, $8,750.

New York Exiles Pete The Collie

Raleigh, N.C. (AP)—Pete the collie arrived here Thursday to begin his exile from New York City, which had sentenced him to death as a vicious dog.

Pete was sentenced to die after the New York City health department and the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals received complaints from persons who claimed that the dog had bitten them. But Authony, his friends and neighbors insisted that Pete was only playful.

Anthony, meanwhile, has a new dog—a 3-year-old collie who looks a lot like Pete and is named Rusty.

Expert Stresses Paid Exports

. . . TO AID BALANCE OF PAYMENTS PROBLEM

By JOHN DeCAMP
Star Staff Writer

A U.S. Export-Import Bank official told a Lincoln audience Thursday night that American exporters, in their enthusiasm to promote exports, should not extend too much credit in their transactions.

Albert Hamilton, of the bank's information office, told Nebraska World Trade Council people meeting here that too often we ignore the "getting paid" part of it. This practice, he pointed out, doesn't help the balance of payments problem.

Though a variety of solutions to this problem have been proposed—from reducing military expenditures to discouraging U.S. tourist travel abroad—Hamilton suggested the easiest solution was simply "increase our exports."

Receipts Help

However, he cautioned, "It should be made crystal-clear that our balance of payments is helped only by receipts for exports—by getting paid — not the exports themselves."

Hamilton admitted that immediate payment was not always possible.

But, he contended, if credit is extended the "sales contract should call for a substantial cash payment." This yields an immediate benefit to the balance of payments, and reduces accordingly the amount of credit which must be made available."

Financing the export sale is not as difficult as one might believe despite the "tight money" situation, Hamilton explained. "In extending credit for the financed portion of the sale, we believe that this should be shared as widely as possible. The exporter, who stands to gain from the sale should take for his own risk and account a portion of the financing.

Commercial Credit

"For the balance, commercial sources of credit should be explored to the fullest possible extent. This is in the American tradition, and is one reason why our banking system has evolved one of the more sophisticated money markets in the world."

If an exporter still finds credit difficulties, Hamilton said, "The Export-Import Bank exists only to serve you."

"We do this not by taking business away from the banks, but by enabling them to perform the financing function so urgently needed. We are prepared, other things being equal, to issue our guarantee to the commercial bank covering the major portion of the credit risks, both commercial and political."

From the standpoint of the exporter then, Hamilton said, "he arranges his financing with his own banker, whom he knows and who is familiar with his particular problems."

Strategy Changes Pondered

. . . FOR DELTA, HOT BORDER ZONE

Saigon (AP) — Allied strategists looked ahead Thursday from sweeping gains on the central coast and hilltop skirmishing on the jungled roof of South Viet Nam to changes this fall in prosecution of the war.

U.S. military leaders are considering a new campaign with swift, shallow-draft assault boats and military landing teams — probably American infantrymen — to block the Viet Cong from waterways of the Mekong Delta. This would augment smaller patrols by the U.S. Navy. The final decision may come when Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara arrives next week.

The U.S. command plans heavy reliance on artillery and air strikes to stem an expected offensive from North Viet Nam across the old Demilitarized Zone when a shift in monsoon winds brings seasonal rains and fog later this month to that region where North and South Viet Nam collide.

175mm Piece Tops

With self-propelled 175mm guns among batteries already in place and jet squadrons based only minutes away, American officers express confidence the infiltrating enemy will be ground into the mud. In size, range and destructive power, the 175mm is the top artillery piece manufactured in the United States.

The aim is to step up firepower in support of U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops — now totalling nearly a full division of 15,000 men — who have identified elements of three Red divisions in action south of the DMZ.

Artillerymen have fired nearly a million shells in this sector over the last two months. Two thousand air strikes have pounded the communist positions in the campaign that saw Marines Wednesday capture Hill 484, the final objective on a four-mile ridge they had been clearing of North Vietnamese for 15 days.

Mass Surrender

The mass surrender of a hard-core Viet Cong unit of 66 men cut deep into the shrunken ranks of communist units trapped by U.S. air cavalrymen and their Korean and Vietnamese allies on the central coast between the Phu Cat Mountains and the sea.

Waving safe conduct passes air-dropped by the allies, the 66 gave up to South Viet Nam's 22nd Division and swelled to 853 the roll of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops killed or captured in five days of fighting. The dead totalled 553, the prisoners 300.

The bag of captives was probably the war's biggest in any one operation.

Casualties

Over-all casualties were slightly lower on both sides last week than for the previous week, but U.S. losses exceeded those of South Viet Nam's armed forces for the fifth time this year.

Of 202 allied servicemen who fell in action, 99 were Americans. The rest were 87 Vietnamese and 16 of other nationalities. The total for the week of Sept. 18-24 was 248.

Spokesmen listed 1,104 communist dead, compared with 1,208 in the previous week.

The U.S. command said that, in addition to the 99 killed, 642 Americans were wounded and 12 were missing or captured.

The roll of American dead in five years of war rose to 6,543. Of these 5,401 fell in combat and 1,142 died from other causes such as aircraft accidents, traffic crashes and drowning.

Motor Vehicle Dept. Seeks More Money For Proposed Programs

The State Motor Vehicle Department will ask the next Legislature for a 1967-69 operating budget of $3.1 million, an increase of more than $1 million from the previous two-year period.

Motor Vehicle Director James Dunlevey said the boost would be needed to help cover costs of a proposed driver's license re-examination program.

He said his recommendation for re-testing will cost $412,320 to operate. It will call for re-examination every four years, the date to fall near a person's birthday.

He said his examination staff would have to be doubled by adding 26 new men. Another testing station would be required in Omaha, bringing the total to four, and increasing Lincoln's from one to two stations.

Dunlevey said he would also propose that Nebraska begin an annual vehicle inspection program, administered through private garages that would be licensed by the state.

This would be a cash fund program, he said, costing an estimated $237,231 over the biennium. He said it is proposed that each vechicle be charged $1 per inspection.

He said 85 cents would go to the garage, with the remaining 15 cents going to the state to help cover licensing expenses.

Dunlevey said he is "confident" that both programs would be part of national regulations proposed as a comprehensive state safety program.

He said states which fail to comply will be shut off from federal safety funds and could be docked 10% of their federal aid highway construction money.

Dunlevey said his budget increase is based on proposed salary hikes within the department and the higer costs of supplies.

He said he would recommend to the next governor that the director's annual salary be boosted from $10,000 to $12,000.

He also said the costs of producing license plates will go up a nickel per plate or $122,000 when the state makes new plates in 1968.

Budget-Busters Okayed

. . . SENATE, HOUSE WON'T CUT SCHOOL AID

Washington (UPI) — The House and Senate approved separate budget-busting school aid bills Thursday. The House attached to its version a strong new curb on federal efforts to end racial discrimination in the schools.

The Senate bill, passed 54 to 16, carried $6.4 billion spending authority for the two years starting last July 1. The House bill, approved 237 to 97 a few hours later, would authorize $5.7 billion for the same period.

Both far exceeded President Johnson's requests. The measures now must go to a conference committee to work out differences.

No Economizing

But efforts to cut back the spending were knocked aside in both the House and Senate.

(Nebraska GOP Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska were announced in favor of the bill.)

The House, by a 185 to 150 vote beat down, 185 to 150, a last-ditch attempt to knock about $1.3 billion out of the bill despite Republican leader Gerald R. Ford's appeal to members to heed Johnson's latest economy pleas.

The main controversy was the volatile question of federal aid to schools, both Northern and Southern, where racial integration has become an issue.

The House, with the backing of many Northern Democrats, approved, 220 to 116, an amendment that would forbid the U.S. Office of Education to defer school aid applications from districts whose desegregation plans do not, in the agency's view, comply with the 1964 civil rights law. That law banned federal aid to schools and other institutions that practice racial discrimination.

By Fountain

The amendment by Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., would require a formal finding, after full hearings, that the district actually is discriminating before funds could be held up. The 1964 law required such hearings and findings before funds could be formally denied or withdrawn, but made no mention of temporary deferrals of applications.

Opponents of the Fountain amendment said it would require Education Commissioner Harold Howe to send school aid funds to districts that were in obvious violation of the civil rights law until he could get a formal determination of that fact. They said that could take three months or more.

The House also adopted, 263 to 5, an amendment which would forbid the education commissioner to require assignment or transportation of students or teachers to local schools to achieve racial balance.

Funding Later

Actual funds for the elementary-secondary school aid program and the older "impacted areas" assistance for schools crowded with the children of federal workers and servicemen must come in separate appropriations legislation.

A civil rights battle was averted in the Senate when language referring to racial imbalance was deleted from the bill, as proposed by Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Arz. He said it gave the U.S. Office of Education power to dictate a local district's racial "mix" of pupils.

The Senate also shouted down a "sense of Congress" amendment proposed by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., that would have permitted a school system to set aside time each day for prayerful meditation in the classroom if no public official prescribed or recited a prayer.

The amendment was opposed by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and by Dirksen, who lost an earlier attempt this year to "clarify" the Supreme Court's school prayer ruling.

Moon Lots Livelier Than Was Thought

Hampton, Va. (AP) — Recent photographs of the lunar surface provide evidence the moon is more alive than previously thought, scientist reported Thursday.

However, they said, the photographs, which were made by Lunar Orbiter 1, did not provide enough information with which to determine a landing site for America's Apollo astronauts.

And for that reason, it was announced, Lunar Orbiter will be launched between Nov. 6 and Nov. 11 to make another round of pictures, concentrating on the moon's smoother areas.

Dr. Lawrence Rowan of the U.S. Geological Survey said Lunar Orbiter's photographs disclosed evidence of dynamic processes on the moon. This evidence, he said, included faults or slippages of the surface such as occur on earth.

The pictures also disclosed evidence of volcanic activity on the moon's surface, which Rowan attributed to radioactivity.

Still another bit of evidence was in photographs that showed "slumping" or sliding of materials from the rims of countless craters, Rowan said.

Wilson Has Party Rebellion On Hands; It's Embarrassing

Brighton, England (AP) — Two former cabinet ministers led British Socialists into rebellion Thursday against Prime Minister Harold Wilson—winning votes demanding embarrassing changes in his Viet Nam and defense policies.

But the British leader is certain to shrug aside the demands of his Labor Party's annual convention, knowing if he met them his government soon would be in serious conflict with President Johnson's administration.

One resolution adopted by the conference puts the onus on the Americans to end the Viet Nam war by, among other things, ending their North Viet Nam bomb strikes.

Despite Brown

This was voted 3,851,000 to 2,644,000, in the face of a declaration by Foreign Minister George Brown, in presenting a six-point Vietnamese peace plan, that:

"The truth, unpalatable as it may be to some, is that only when someone can persuade Hanoi to go as far as the Americans have already gone shall we be on the way to creating the climate and finding the situation and the moment when a peaceful settlement may be achieved."

In a first reaction, Radio Moscow said Brown's proposals were "unacceptable" because his plan for de-escalating the fighting is "almost an exact copy of American proposals."

The English-language broadcast heard in London said both the American and British proposals call for simultaneous reduction in hostilities on both sides.

"This puts the (American) aggressor and his victim on an equal footing, which makes the proposals unacceptable."

To Push It

Brown's program which he said he would urge on U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko after he reaches the United Nations Friday, includes a call for a peace parley as soon as possible at which the Viet Cong would have a place.

The second resolution, approved 3,470,000 to 2,644,000, called on the government to pull British forces out of Malaysia, Singapore and the Persian Gulf—"ending over-dependence on American support" and to cut the nation's $6 billion annual defense bill by at least one-eighth.

Setback

For the Wilson government the adverse votes represented politically damaging setbacks. Only a few minutes before they were taken Brown had advised the 1,250 delegates to reject them.

In Britain governments of the day are not bound to obey—only to be guided by—decisions of the parties they represent.

Wilson and his colleagues were quick to point out that during the same process of voting, the conference overwhelmingly accepted a statement of foreign and defense policy issued last weekend by the leadership.

Stark

Brown's text for Viet Nam was stark:

"There cannot be, nor should there be, a military solution to this conflict."

"Cannot"—because of the terrain.

"Should not"—because victory "could only embolden the victor" and sow seeds of new, more horrible conflicts.

This led Brown to say the only feasible solution" is a negotiated peace—and here he blamed the Hanoi Communists for rejecting a long series of offers.

Russia Boasts Big Harvest

Moscow (UPI) — The Soviet government Thursday announced the largest grain harvest in the nation's history.

The announcement amounted to a tangible vote of confidence in multibillion-dollar efforts to boost farm output and end the necessity for expensive, embarassing wheat purchases from capitalist nations.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, quoted agriculture ministry official Ivan Khoroshilov as saying the harvest of all grains this year will be about 160 to 165 million tons.

He did not give exact figures for different kinds of grain, such as wheat, oats or barley.

The previous record was set in 1964, when a bumper crop brought in 152.1 million tons. Bad weather last year drove yields down to 120.5 million tons.

Since then, the Kremlin has invested millions of dollars in a program of irrigation, land reclamation, fertilization and mechanization in an attempt to end these cyclical ups-and-downs and make Soviet farming self-sufficient.

Frenchman Says Chinese Behind In H-Bomb Race

Papeete, Tahiti (UPI) — A French official claims that the testing of two recent atomic bombs has put France ahead of Communist China in the race to build an H-bomb.

Jean Sicurani, governor of French Polynesia, told a news conference that the force of the atomic device exploded Sunday "exceeds any result the Chinese have obtained in similar thermonuclear ways."

The blast rounded out the 1966 test series.

Soldiers Injured

Paderborn, Germany (UPI) —Nineteen British soldiers were injured when their truck careened off the road and slammed into a barrier. They were among a group of 25 Rhine army troops taking part in maneuvers.

Bankrupt Company Accepts Settlement

Sioux City, Iowa (AP)—Authority was granted Thursday to accept a $5,000 offer in settlement of all claims against four former officers of a company which went bankrupt after a $2 million embezzlement by Mrs. Bernice Geiger from a Sheldon bank.

It is to settle all claims against Harold Kistner Jr., Harold Kistner Sr., James Kistner, Peter Robinet and Bio-Zyme, Inc., a company the four men owned.

Bio-Zyme produced the enzymes used by Northern Biochemical in producing enzyme-treated animal feeds. Kistner Jr. was president of Northern Biochemical and the other men served on its board of directors.

W. M. Whicher, attorney for the trustee, said Bull was in favor of accepting the offer because Kistner Jr. has several federal tax claims pending against him, his father and brother James say they have no money, and Bio-Zyme's only assets are of questionable value.

Federal investigators have said a substantial amount of the money embezzled from the Sheldon National Bank went to Northern Biochemical Corp. Mrs. Geiger was one of the largest holders of Northern stock.

U.S. Policy Is 'Flexible'

Amsterdam (UPI) — Dutch Foreign Minister Joseph Luns said Thursday the United States has a "flexible policy" toward North Viet Nam.

"If there is one country which wants peace, it is the United States," Luns said on his return from the U.S., where he conferred with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and attended the U.N. General Assembly.

Rush-Volunteers Proposal Poses Problem For Kremlin

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

Moscow (AP)—Proposals that communist countries rush volunteers to fight in Viet Nam and then hold a communist unity meeting posed a problem for the Soviet Union Thursday.

The Soviet press did not report the proposals of North Korea's Communist leader, Kim Il Sung. His speech Wednesday in Pyongyang criticized both the Soviet and Chinese positions in the Moscow-Peking rift but urged that all communist countries unite in sending volunteers to Viet Nam.

The chances that the speech would influence the Kremlin's attitude toward sending volunteers looked remote to experienced observers here.

North Korea was long under Moscow's influence, then moved into the Peking orbit. Last Aug. 12 it declared its independence.

If Hanoi Asks

The position of the Soviet Union and its East European allies is that they will send volunteers if Hanoi asks for them.

Some observers here suspect that a secret understanding with Hanoi makes further consultation necessary before the North Vietnamese government makes any public request.

China has also said it would send volunteers if needed. But the basic Chinese line is that Vietnamese communists must rely upon their own resources.

This line apparently is intended to discourage a significant Soviet presence in North Viet Nam.

Aside from the physical difficulties arising from China's control of land routes to Hanoi and U.S. naval control of sea routes, there is another problem for Moscow.

Kremlin leaders seemingly do not want to strain relations with the United States any more than necessary. They have emphasized that Soviet technicians did not combat while training North Vietnamese to use Soviet-supplied weapons.

The Soviet release of a U.S. Peace Corps volunteer and the agreement to resume talks on a Moscow-New York air service indicate that the Kremlin is watching its Western relations.

A lot of domestic signs indicate that peaceful development internally is more important in the Kremlin than taking risks to spread communism in Southeast Asia.

Road Builders' New Equipment Revising Marks

. . . As Interstate Work Continues

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Aurora—Nearly every field of endeavor has records, and highway building is among them.

And, just like the fiberglass pole has rewritten pole vaulting records, better equipment is helping road builders revise theirs.

Technology has produced the slip-form paving machine that has been used to close the gap in Interstate 80 between Omaha and North Platte.

A plaque is at permanent rest on the super road just south of here, stating that the final gap in those twin ribbons of concrete was filled Oct. 1.

"I don't see how we could have finished this soon without that machine," said Virgil Miller of Lincoln slab foreman on the job contracted by Abel Construction Co. "It has made a lot of difference."

"Two separate days this summer we have paved a mile. One day we did 5,370 feet, another day something over 5,300."

He admitted that Missouri Valley Construction Co., working on a section of Interstate east of here, had beaten his company, posting a new mark of 6,600 feet one day.

3,000 Feet Old Mark

"We used to figure 3,000 feet was a good day's work with the old forms," continued the foreman. "We had got as high as 3,400, and always tried to beat it."

The slip-form equipment carries its own forms "Mud" is poured into the front, the machine vibrates it, then proceeds forward, leaving the concrete to stand by itself.

The first of two machines lays down 7½ inches of roadway 24 feet wide. A steel mesh is placed on that, and a second machine applies the finishing 2½ inches.

Formerly, steel forms had to be put in place, into which the mix was poured and vibrated manually. The forms were removed later.

"We don't have to work with forms anymore except on interchanges and small work," noted Miller.

This construction season is the first time the equipment has been used on Nebraska Interstate jobs.

Abel's equipment was being dismantled early this week for movement to Walt hill, where it will try to get a U.S. 77 paving job finished this fall.

Shoulders and interchanges will keep crews busy in this area for a couple more months before the missing link opens the state's I-80 belt. belt.

Hard To Find Baseball Pool

Fremont (AP) — One of the toughest things to find in Fremont Thursday — the second day of the World Series—was a baseball pool.

Police Chief Edward F. Clinchard has conducted pinball and bookie raids and shortly before the World Series a caller asked the chief what he was going to do about baseball pools.

Clinchard replied he would enforce the law.

The word quickly spread. Though there were no raids and no arrests, the apparent threat of a crackdown appeared to have been enough to discourage the usual baseball pools.

"It's not Clinchard's fault. He was put on the spot," said a beer distributor.

As for the chief himself, Clinchard said that "as long as there are laws on the books to enforce we will enforce them. This is the same as horse racing or bingo. There are ways of making them legal if the public wants them."

Demos Trying To Smear Our GOP Group—Martin

Kearney (UPI)—Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., said the Democrats are "desperate (and) have been trying to smear our fine group of candidates."

The Third District congressman spoke while the state GOP caravan made a stop at a free barbecue here.

"Now they're even trying to knock our free barbecues," Martin said. "They're criticizing us for holding these barbecues to get people together to see and hear our candidates."

He added: "We're proud to be serving Nebraska beef — the best in the world. It certainly beats the steady diet of propaganda and empty promises that the people are getting from the Great Society."

This country's government needs "a strong minority" in Washington, Martin said. "The House of Representatives recently approved one and three-quarters billion dollars for the poverty program. The Republicans were unsuccessful in attempts to cut the proposed appropriations.

"Word came down from the White House, and the Democrats in the House of Representatives went ahead and rubber-stamped the President's request."

Lincolnite Receives Hero's Award For Saving Omahan From Drowning

Hastings (UPI) — Bill J. Reeves, 21, Lincoln, Thursday was named the latest recipient of the Nebraska hero's award.

Along with other Nebraska heroes, he will be honored during the annual convention of Nebraska Funeral Directors Association next April.

Reeves in June saved the life of Raymond Mensen, 25, Omaha, while swimming at Desoto Bend near Blair.

An inspector for the Nebraska Department of Roads and an adviser in scuba diving, Roca Boys' Explorer Troop in Lincoln, Reeves credited his YMCA scuba training for aiding in the rescue of Mensen.

"I stuck one finger in the bottom of the lake and swam in a circle around it, trying to feel for him with my other hand. When I completed the circle, I went forward a little and did the same thing," he said.

He found Mensen on the second circle. After he hauled the Omahan to the surface, Reeves administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Mensen recovered and was taken to a hospital.

It will not be counted as a traffic death.

Col. McKenzie Named District Army Engineer

Washington (AP) — Col. William McKenzie III will become the Omaha District Army Engineer in January.

The 43-year-old Georgian and West Point graduate will succeed Col. Harold J. St. Clair. St. Clair, who has held the post since 1963 and is going to Viet Nam.

McKenzie now is assigned to the headquarters of the Army's 9th Logistical Command in Thailand.

Patrol Checks For Possible Plane Crash

Ainsworth (AP) — The Ainsworth office of the State Safety Patrol reports troopers were checking the area about 15 miles north of Taylor for the possible source of an explosion reported by a high-flying aircraft.

However, a spokesman said that officers had found nothing. The check was continuing.

A spokesman at the Denver Air Traffic Control Center said the center had accounted for all military and civilian aircraft flying under flight plans in the area and none were missing or overdue, as far as they knew.

Nebraska News

He said the report of the explosion — feared to have been an aircraft in difficulty—came from a pilot flying at high altitude. Under those circumstances, the spokesman said, "it could have been any type of small explosion" which could have caused such an effect.

The patrol spokesman said that officers had received no reports from residents of the area of any such occurance.

Money Back Requested By Prison Inmate

Omaha (AP) — Something new has turned up in the stream of legal motions from state prison inmates.

Comes now Maurice J. Smith who wants his money back.

"I've had everything else," said County Attorney Donald Knowles. His deputies have been conducting court fights against writs of mandamus and habeas corpus, tax injunctions, motions to suppress and pleas of abatement.

$87 Involved

Smith has filed a writ of replevin asking return of $87 which he says was taken as evidence following his arrest for a service station robbery earlier this year.

Smith noted he had pleaded guilty and had no trial, therefore it was never established that the money was not rightfully his.

Eight Teenagers Jailed On Lincoln Auto Theft Count

Lincoln police Thursday said that eight teenage youths have been arrested in connection with the theft and subsequent dismanteling and sale of a 1966 automobile. The car was taken in Lincoln September 28.

Three of the boys were located Thursday night by Kansas state police near Coffeyville, Kan.

Lincoln police will go to Kansas Friday with warrants and bring the boys back to Lincoln.

Health Picture Chaotic Most Places, Claims Rev. Weishar

Omaha (AP) — A hospital director said Thursday that despite Medicare and many medical-social agencies, the health picture in most cities is chaotic.

"Many miss qualifying for programs and many more just don't know who to see. Whatever the case, people are not pleased," he said.

Father Weishar was among more than 300 persons attending the annual convention of the Nebraska Hospital Association.

He suggested that a step in the direction of solving the dilemma would be "metropolitan health-welfare authorities —perhaps like the Port Authority of New York. Almost every town has hundreds of agencies doing some aspect of health welfare work. Many of these are duplicating efforts of others. Certainly there is a waste of activities and staff effort."

Smuggling Charged

Bombay, India (AP) — Bombay, which has prohibition and a smuggling problem usually involving gold, has arrested Capt. George Abatelos, master of the Liberian-flag tanker Capistrano, on charges of smuggling liquor in a harbor boat. Customs reported he was short $20,000 worth of liquor in his bonded cargo. He was released on $10,000 bail pending a hearing.

Lagoon Sewage System Okayed For Columbus

Columbus (AP) — In a meeting which attracted so many spectators it had to be moved to the city auditorium, the City Council called for construction of a mechanically aerated lagoon sewage treatment system.

In doing so, the council accepted the recommendation of an Omaha engineering firm. The vote was 5-3.

Afterward, Mayor Barney Micek, who has previously vetoed lagoon system legislation, commented: "The resolution will have to become law without my signature."

Asked if that meant he would or would not veto the measure, he declined further comment.

Possible For Youths With Vision To Become Beef Cattlemen-Baker

York—It still is possible for a high school boy with vision and desire to become a beef cattle farmer, despite the heavy capitalization required for such an operation.

This belief was expressed by Frank H. Baker, chairman of the University of Nebraska Department of Animal Science, in a talk presented at the York junior feeders show and sale here Thursday.

"Today's high-schooler can pursue beef cattle farming as a career if he is willing to work in preparation for such a career, and continue to work after he has prepared himself," Baker advised.

The boy interested in livestock as a lifetime occupation must be willing to start at the bottom of the ladder and work up, the NU administrator said.

"In the Midwest, research has shown that an investment of more than $150,000 is needed in beef operation to produce a net income of $115 to $120 per week. To become proprietor of any business using such an investment, a high school boy needs special education and a number of years of experience," Baker continued.

Justice Continues Evolution

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The reversal of the first degree murder conviction of Jack Ruby for the killing of presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald continues the evolutionary process that has left many people in a state of confusion and consternation. If defense attorneys are correct, and it would seem that they have a most plausible position, the most Ruby could now be convicted of would be murder without malice.

Such a conviction carries a sentence of from two to five years in prison. Since Ruby has already spent three years in jail, it is assumed that even if he were convicted of the murder without malice charge, he would walk out of the court a free man. Even the possibility of this seems incredible to many citizens. They simply fail to understand how a man can pull a gun, shoot another individual in cold blood before a national television audience and get off with a few years in jail. From such a simple point of view, we can't quite understand it, either, but there are other factors not quite so simple.

Understanding Difficult

There are two main points to consider in the situation—the right to a fair trial and premeditation. The Texas appeals court which reversed Ruby's conviction did so on the grounds that he should have been granted a change of venue from the original Dallas court and that the original court permitted the admission of testimony it should not have accepted.

Change of venue is nothing more than a fair trial. It means that an individual convicted of a crime can ask that his trial be conducted outside the area of the original crime and in an area where no prejudice is apt to work against him. The Texas appeals court did not rule that newspaper publicity had denied Ruby a fair trial.

It did state that the jury in the original trial could have been affected by a feeling throughout Dallas that the city itself was on trial, that Ruby had to be convicted to uphold the good name and reputation of the city. It is a stretch of the imagination to say that, as a result of this, newspaper publicity created a prejudiced atmosphere against Ruby. The case itself had sufficient aspects to motivate people in various directions without any help from press reports. Even in the total absence of the press, the people of Dallas and the nation would have known what happened and been emotionally disturbed as a result of it. Of course, the people of Dallas did occupy an unusual role and may well have been affected by a guilt complex that would be no part of the makeup of people elsewhere.

In the matter of change of venue, the average citizen should have little argument. This is a basic part of your right to a fair and impartial trial and none should ever wish that it be ignored. Nor does a change of venue usually have any great influence on the ultimate fulfillment of justice. It does not in this case provide the grounds by which Ruby may find his freedom. Those grounds are found in the appeals court decision relative to the admissibility of certain testimony. This is testimony offered by police officers as to statements made by Ruby after the killing.

Without a formal legal background and without access to the full text of the court decision, it is impossible to fully discuss this aspect of the case. One can only find certain things on which to base some speculation. Apparently, the high court ruled that Ruby's statements were not in the nature of a legal confession.

Specifically, the court said Ruby's statements were made too long after the actual shooting to be considered as spontaneous. These were statements showing Ruby's prior intent to commit the act, supposedly proving his premeditation. In the absence of such statements, the prosecution failed to prove premeditation and Ruby, therefore, could not be convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to death.

Ruby's defense maintains that without this testimony, the prosecution will be unable, in any new trial, to prove premeditation. Thus, the defense assumes that murder without malice is the only charge of which Ruby can be convicted. Of course, the prosecution may not see it all this way. It may have other testimony or evidence it could submit in support of its first degree charge. At this time, one cannot tell what the future holds for sure, since it is not even certain that Ruby will have a new trial. But again, we have for consideration a vital element in the law —the admissibility of evidence.

Future Still Uncertain

Certainly, no citizen would want trials conducted without proper rules governing the submission of evidence. Rumor, hearsay, wild speculations, irrelevant material —no one would want such things admitted by the court. So once again, while we have a development that leaves us perplexed in its final end, we are hard put to indict the means of getting there.

A Loss To Lincoln

With the death of Edward M. O'Shea, Sr., a permanent smile has gone from the scene. This is just one of the things for which Mr. O'Shea will be missed by the countless people who knew him and counted him as a friend. He was a man who was always pleasant to be around, who found it possible to smile no matter what the problem he faced might be.

Additionally, he was one of Lincoln's and Nebraska's pioneering businessmen. His success in business was known far and wide and he was the author of a number of unique undertakings that were later carried on by others to become substantial ventures.

He built a business on what might be called the old-fashioned qualities of personal integrity and a good product. No one who had any dealings with Mr. O'Shea came to regret the fact. He was a keen businessman but he was an honest one and the reputation was never tarnished.

At the same time, he had a faith in and loyalty to his community and his state. Throughout his life, he gave unstintingly of his time and possessions to further the general welfare of the place where he lived and worked. He believed in giving something back to his community in return for the benefits he received from it.

These same characteristics of ability, willingness to sacrifice, understanding and cordiality could be seen in his family and church life. We doubt that he had many regrets in life and we know that his presence will long be missed.

It Is A New Day

The Nebraska State Grange has pointed a way toward economic improvement for the state.

It said: "Foster the canning industry."

According to Albert J. Ebers, Seward, master of the Grange, "Income from marketing the food Nebraska produces would amount to $2.7 billion, or nearly twice the income from our agricultural production.

Surely there is sense in this position. Food products are natural to Nebraska, as coal is to west Virginia or iron ore to northern Minnesota. Why do we not proceed father in our biggest field? The canning industry should be a natural for Nebraska.

Seventy five years ago every city of consequence in Nebraska possessed a canning factory. One or two remain today turning out nationally distributed products.

There were reasons for the decline in local canning. The plants existed before irrigation. They did not have an ever normal source of supply. They lacked products during the off season. The farmers preferred to grow corn and wheat. Plants operating a month or two a year did not return enough profit to justify expansion and modernization. So much of the industry was abandoned.

But most of the barriers that blocked expansion 75 years ago have been removed. Off season canning sustains all canning factories today. Meat, dry beans and other products now keep factories busy most of the year.

It is time to reexamine the field. It is time to think seriously about other crops than corn, wheat and milo. The coming of irrigation and abundant ever normal production should stimulate more wide examination of things we can do.

We have been too dedicated to a past that no longer exists.

A Way To Die

Usually when a town dies, and towns frequently do die, the thing to do is to let the corpse gradually disintegrate where it fell.

Grass casts its mantle over what was once a busy street, roofs fall in. Trees grow out of paneless windows. A robin builds a nest in what was once the post-office. A rabbit rears its young in the one time hardware store.

As the remains over the years gradually disappears from view nothing is left but depressions in the sod marking where there were once basements. Silence rules the area and defeat is clearly marked.

Not so with the town of Quandahl, in northeast Iowa.

It went out in the presence of 3,000 people and got $15,000 for its demise—an example of free enterprise at its best.

Once, long ago, founders laid out the town and gave it a name. Like all towns it started with great hope. Who knows, it might have been another London, or New York City. But the hope didn't jell.

Map makers gave it a location. The post office department recognized it as a going town. A railroad built through and people came to live and businessmen came to serve the people and a banker decided it was a good place to live a gainful life and he settled down there. But somewhere along the line decay set in. The railroad locked up the depot. Later the trains quit running. The government pulled out its post office. The bank failed and people began moving away. It was the end.

By a week ago nothing was left of the business section. But there were still six homes on the main street and there was the townsite property.

So the surviving citizens held an auction and sold the whole works.

All in all it was a clean way to die.

'Black Power' Hurts White Helpers

Washington, D.C.
Oct. 5, 1966
Dear George:

Just 20 years ago I went down to Atlanta to face the Ku Klux Klan on the steps of the Georgia state capitol. I am not at all sure that I was smart in doing this, for I did not realize what the Klan's record was to be for violence and murder.

Anyway I accepted a Klan challenge to deliver a radio broadcast in Atlanta, and I am writing you about this only because it involves a man who ran for governor of Georgia the other day in a race which will mold southern history.

He is Ellis Arnall, who was governor of Georgia when I went down to Atlanta, and who had the courage then to introduce me on the radio.

This led to a lot of criticism of Gov. Arnall. Nevertheless Georgia made progress. When I was in Atlanta I visited police headquarters where I found a forward-looking police chief, Herbert Jenkins, training Negro policemen to patrol the Negro sections of the city. And I met Mayor William Hartsfield who was encouraging Negroes to play a greater role in city affairs.

I am quite sure Gov. Arnall paid politically for that confrontation with the Klan. He didn't run again for office for 20 years, though he was very active in Georgia educational and business affairs and he went to Washington for a time to serve in one of the toughest jobs in the nation—Wartime Price Administrator.

Meanwhile Georgia, especially Atlanta, made a lot of progress. Northern industry moved South. Business boomed. Race relations seemed much better. At this point Ellis Arnall ran for governor again.

At first he seemed sure to win. But during the summer Stokely Carmichael became leader of SNCC, the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee. He not only abandoned its policy of "nonviolence" but coined the slogan "Black Power."

Then last summer he championed black power and the principle of violence. Suddenly, as if in answer, riots broke out in big cities all over the nation, and simultaneously the progress Negoes had been making all over the nation began to go backward.

And with every riot, every recourse to violence, the white reaction, the white criticism of this violence set back white men who had worked for Negro progress. So by the time Ellis Arnall's second primary election rolled round, this reaction was so strong that a restaurant owner whose chief fame was that he had used axe-handles to bar Negroes defeated Arnall for the Democratic nomination.

This man never served one day in government, never studied government, knows nothing about the intricate machinery of government. But he won merely because he campaigned against Negroes.

Love,
YOUR GRANDFATHER

Gov. Rockefeller Campaigns Strongly

NEW YORK — As the make-or-break period of the New York state campaign begins, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has achieved momentum bringing him close to Democrat Frank O'Connor, who has been standing still.

Another surprise is the unexpectedly aggressive campaign being waged by Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the Liberal party nominee. He is drawing nostalgic crowds in the vote-thick city boroughs, and the possible size of his vote worries the Democrats.

A sunny fall day in the city suggested the trend. It found Rockefeller touching ethnic bases like mad and adding to labor support already remarkable for a Republican. O'Connor's day featured the sorry recent past of his party when Abe Beame lost the mayoralty to Republican John V. Lindsay in a genuine upset. Roosevelt was working Brooklyn on foot, pressed by enthusiastic well-wishers.

The governor, slimmed down and beaming, started off with applause from David Dubinsky, elder statesman of the liberals, as a great humanitarian. Dubinsky bore with grace some probing questions from reporters about how this might affect Roosevelt, assuring them the occasion was a "humanitarian" celebration of a housing project in Israel which Rockefeller helped initiate. The governor smiled, as well he might, as cameras recorded the Dubinsky embrace.

O'Connor is an attractive and persuasive speaker, but he was reworking opposition ground, reviving memories best forgotten and on the defensive. Earlier, he had put former Mayor Robert Wagner on stage for an endorsement which turned out to be considerably less than fiery.

O'Connor's failure to devise new and more powerful campaign propellants perplexes veteran Democratic congressmen who have it brought home to them daily how the face of New York is changing, its voters becoming younger and demanding fresh solutions.

Democratic discouragement helped to bring Sen. Robert F. Kennedy out sooner than planned. Kennedy is helping, too, with the O'Connor planning, though he doubts the value of his coattails in the situation. But he cannot do less than asked, since he opposed the O'Connor nomination until county leaders rejected all others, including Roosevelt.

The governor had seemed an easy mark when he undertook last fall to reverse the tide. His own dogged efforts and his careful planning had paid off. What Democrats had thought of as a milk run for any nominee they picked is a battle. Rockefeller contends he is the underdog, and he may be, but O'Connor's political gifts are now in question within his own party.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

Memories Of Two Years

By MONA B. PARKER

"Beautiful, just absolutely beautiful" is how Gladys Lindstrom describes autumn weather in the Midlands, in her Gresham Gazette column . . .

"The grass is a dark lush green, the milo is turning red . . . corn is still green and big fat ears are hanging down. Cattle are slick and sassy. The trees along the creeks are turning color — and it's a good time of the year."

Arnie Kuhn says a year ago about now, the Hemingford Ledger was reporting an early snow that dumped about two inches there, but 15 in Crawford. He very nearly had a repeat this year on that particular news item.

The early frost at that time cut the average growing days from 138 to 128. "Anything freezing can stay away for some time yet, as far as the Cruiser's concerned. I like it hot!"

Marlin Waechter notes in the Stanton Register that World Series time, formerly a perennial topic of lively conversation in the early fall, now elicits almost a "so-what" attitude . . .

Pigskins flying through the air symbolize instead what has become the No. 1 favorite, nationwide, among sports fans.

A reunion of the old Fifth Nebraska National Guard regiment brought back many memories for Lloyd Kain of the Lexington Clipper and his war-time buddies . . .

It was just 49 years ago that they rolled into Camp Cody, New Mexico, "in company with more soldiers than Omaha receives in a combined hog, sheep and cattle market on a busy Monday morning. And in many ways we were just about as confused as the fat animals are when they are herded into pens to sell."

As is the way with wars, there was a big surplus of things not needed and a shortage of the necessities. Anything available in clothing didn't seem to fit. "The Army had thousands of feed bags for mules and horses, but no animals to use them on."

Best day of all was pay day. A private's pay in those days was $15 a month and it came in gold, two small coins, a five-dollar piece and a ten-dollar piece. The little coins were not too practical, Mr. Kain chuckled, in the games that immediately sprung up, "but who needed money?"

Many of the friends of those days have answered taps, he wrote. Those remaining "couldn't carry a rifle more than two blocks." But if anyone were really interested to know who won the war, he should have been on hand for the gathering.

It was a different war. But Jerry Pickerell of the Banner-Journal at Bruning recalled something else. It was the matter of his radio . . .

Jack Lough of Albion and a few other newsmen were sniping at the ladies several weeks ago. Dorothy Payne of the Hooper Sentinel put some of the local (male) golfers in their place rather neatly, and with a few well chosen words . . . "We gals aren't the only ones who kill a few snakes along the way. I saw a certain very good Hooper golfer miss a chip shot and have to replace a very healthy sized divot. Sure made me feel better. Of course, he had been on vacation and hadn't played for a week or two . . you know how it goes"

It was near Rome and he had purchased a used radio from another GI for $5. When it quit playing, he took it to Rome to find an English-speaking Italian repairman. He couldn't find one, but did wind up in an ice-cream parlor. Here he checked the radio. The proprietor "didn't like the Nazis. He did like the Americans and he wanted to see us happy when we come to town on pass."

Two days later he remembered where he had left the radio, but he never got back that way. Anyone heading toward Italy is asked to stop by Mario's Ice Cream Parlor on Via Venuto in Rome and make solemn inquiry.

Two Hastings secretaries were discussing the installation of a labor-saving machine in one of the downtown offices. "I know it takes the place of three men," commented one, "but personally I'd prefer the men."

Then And Now

Plymouth, Neb.

We hear these days that we need more teachers and better education. I will agree with this, for I had very little education myself. I went to school a little while, then thought I knew more than the teacher. Then I had to shuck corn and herd cows, and now I miss that education. I can't agree with all that today's education covers, however — football, basketball and baseball. Are they ever in school?

I am in favor of 12-month school — the first three months for us parents and the next nine for the children. I do not believe in child delinquency; a great deal of today's trouble is parent delinquency. Seeing a crowd of young people on the streets these days with their long hair-dos reminds me of a story when I was young that people originated from monkeys. It makes me wonder if it is not so, and think perhaps we should give the country back to those we took it from.

Young people these days think they have it pretty hard. My sister and I walked five miles to school. Today if it's five blocks, they have to be taken or provided with a car. They come to town in air-conditioned cars, sweating for fear they might have to do a little work. When I was at home, a neighbor hired me to plow 40 acres of ground at a dollar a day. I had four horses on a walking plow and was afraid to stop for a drink of water because the boss might see me killing time. Today they think nothing of a two-hour coffee break.

I plowed with a walking plow, sulky gang steam and tractor plow, manned a threshing machine, corn sheller and buzz saw, and thought the city folks had it good. When President Hoover got through with me, I moved to town where they had it so good. I got a hammer and saw and worked as a carpenter. I worked in a lumberyard in the 30's. The manager told me we had taken in nine dollars all week, so I was laid off. Then I sold cars and machinery but business was poor.

If someone saw a farmer with a load of wheat, the city folks would say, there goes another hundred dollars, all profit. It would work out better if we would all be satisfied. A person should farm 10 years, then go into business in town for 10 years. Farmers think if there is a hailstorm, the city doesn't suffer, but the merchant and business are hurt, too.

I have never seen Mr. Curtis so helpful as he is right now. Always before, the only mention of him in the paper was when a "no" vote was recorded.

War And Honor

Crete, Neb.

We are now in the political season, with candidates promising everything under the sun and moon. I wish they would explain about this "national honor" war in Viet Nam. Who decided that our armed forces should be committed to national honor, and for what reason? Isn't there enough of stealing and murder going on right here in the United States?

I feel very sorry for the men fighting on the front lines, also for their wives and mothers. I was in the eastern theater during World War II, and know what war is all about. It seems so futile that our best young men must be drafted, trained and shipped off to be killed and crippled — for national honor.

Segregation

Lincoln, Neb

Regarding the racial policies at the penitentiary, whoever heard of a warden running a prison and permitting the prisoners to tell him in which section they preferred to reside? Warden Sigler is quoted as saying there is a hard core who will not accept integration. What he is really saying is that he himself is not willing to accept integration. We cannot make excuses for anyone other than ourselves.

The Negro knows that whenever there is a separation of the races, it is done so at the Negro's expense. This is the main purpose of segregation—to deny the Negro something, even in prison.

Hushing the matter up or talking it down will not eradicate the tensions. Bad conditions when not improved can only get worse. Legitimate grievances have to be met with positive action. And a beating or solitary confinement or threat of death or death will not stop the Negro from fighting racial discrimination. Racal segregation and discrimination are real and alive and have corroding effects. They do not go away from a lack of acknowledging their existence.

KLOSTERMAN SAYS . . .

Tax Act Rejection Would Prompt New Try

The 1967 Legislature will be asked to consider another income tax bill patterned after the 1965 law if that act is repealed by a vote of the people next month, the chairman of Nebraskans for Fair Taxation said Thursday.

"We're not going to give up until we get the job done," John Klosterman of David City told newsmen.

If the 1965 tax act is rejected by the electorate in a referendum vote Nov. 8, "the same legislation will be introduced" in the next Legislature, Klosterman said.

One proposal for a combination sales-income tax "will include LB797 in this form," he noted. LB797 is the 1965 state income tax law.

Klosterman declined to say at this time whether Nebraskans for Fair Taxation would support a combinaton sales-income tax in the 1967 session if LB797 is repealed.

Rising Tide

"A rising tide of support for letting LB797 stand as a good beginning on the tax reform we need is sweeping across Nebraska today," Klosterman said.

"The emotion which followed its passing is being replaced with calm reasoning as people are deciding to vote for 300 (the referendum's ballot designation) on the nonpolitical ballot."

The tax, he said, will be economical to administer and, despite its flat rate provision, it is progressive as a result of built-in exemptions and deductions.

Nebraskans for Fair Taxation supports a vote for the income tax law and a vote for the initiative proposing a constitutional amendment to prohibit the state from levying a tax on property.

Preferable

The initiative proposal is "preferable" to Constitutional Amendment 14, which would tie a broadened tax base to state aid to education and permit the state to continue to finance capital construction projects through a property tax after the base is broadened, Klosterman said.

Approval of the initiative question "would force tax reform in Nebraska, regardless of the outcome of the vote" on the income tax law, he noted.

Approval of the income tax "does not in any way preclude the possibility of eventual adoption by the Legislature of a combination tax," he pointed out.

Klosterman said his organization will spend money campaigning for the income tax law. It has thus far spent more than $17,000 in support of the act, including the costs of the lawsuit challenging the validity of the referendum petition drive, he said.

Low Bids On State Cars Told

State Purchasing Agent Dale Karnopp announced Thursday Misle Chevrolet of Lincoln submitted the apparent low bid for 190 general-use state vehicles.

Karnopp said the firm bid $1,626 per car. He said contract should be awarded next week. Last year the state paid $1,684 for each Ford it bought.

The apparent low bid on State Safety Patrol cars was $1,785 also submitted by Misle, Karnopp said. In 1965, the low bid from Ford was $1,884.

Karnopp said the state will also buy 40 six passenger station wagons from Gerelick Ford of Omaha which submitted a bid apparently low at $1,096.

Gotfredson Motor Co. of Lincoln had the low bid for nine-passenger station wagons at $1,987 for each Plymouth.

Grange Keeps Stand On Tax

The Grange members did resolve that they would consider a sales-income combination, providing the production exemptions were included for agriculture.

In another Grange resolution support was favored for urging passage of the income tax law as it was passed by the 1965 legislature.

Grange members voted to wait on road recomendations for a crash highway building program until current study results are available after which time the state executive committee in consultation with the subordinate Granges would take a position that the farm organization members believe will best serve the state's interest.

Many of the resolutions acted on by the Grange had to do with taxing problems.

The grange resolution on taxes for schools said, "We believe that a portion of any broadened tax should be returned to the local school district for property tax relief and that all of any sales tax be returned to the common schools in proportion to the number of public school students."

It was recomended that the 1967 Legislature start legislation calling for a constitutional convention.

"The Nebraska State Grange believes that the present constitution of Nebraska adopted in 1875 and revised in 1920 is too limited and inadequate to meet present day legislative needs," said the Grange.

Townsend Calls Progress 'Miracle'

Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend Thursday labeled as "a miracle" the progress the department has made in implementing fiscal reforms authorized by the last Legislature.

Townsend told the legislative council's executive board he is satisfied with the progress although consultants have advised him "serious problems" still exist in the department's computer operation, which he called "the heart" of the new fiscal system.

"Our problems basically stem from the fact that we tried to do too much in too short a time with too small a staff," said Townsend. "Now we're getting to the place where some of the difficulty is being cleared up."

The executive board interviewed Townsend and other department personnel as it began a two-day investigation of the operations of the much-maligned agency created by the 1965 Legislature.

"We've heard many bad rumors," said board member Elvin Adamson of Valentine. "Now we're looking for facts. From what I've learned so far, I'm optimistic about the department's future."

Board Chairman W. H. Hasebroock of West Point said he would make a statement Friday following conclusion of the discussions.

The department, established to centralize and coordinate state fiscal activities under a new computerized system, has come under attack from agencies for errors and mixups in accounting, budgeting and payroll matters.

Townsend said it still is too early to tell when the department will be operating smoothly, but he said a three-man consulting team is at work identifying problems and recommending solutions.

Rep. Callan Says Hooper, Walthill, Table Rock Post Offices Are OKd

Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., announced in Washington Thursday that new postal facilities have been approved for Table Rock, Walthill and Hooper.

He also reported that the village of Hubbard in Dakota County has received a $3,450 grant from the federal Water Pollution Control Administration toward the $12,500 cost of an interceptor sewer and waste stabilization pond.

The proposed Table Rock post office will have an interior of 1,207 square feet, a 120 square foot platform and a 3,400 square foot parking area.

The Walthill building will have 2,250 square feet inside, a 120 square foot platform and a 4,600 square foot parking area.

The Hooper facility will have an interior of 2,305 square feet and a parking area of 4,300 square feet.

The buildings will be constructed under the department's lease program and the department will begin obtaining options on sites within 30 days, Callan said.

Deception Charged To Administration

Washington (UPI) — Top leaders of the Republican Party Thursday accused the Johnson administration of deceiving the public by not telling the whole truth on policy matters, including Viet Nam.

A statement issued by the Republican Coordinating Committee implored the administration "to be frank with the American people." But it added:

"Since the Democratic Party cannot be frank with the American people, the Republicans will tell them the truth."

The committee, which met here to discuss campaign strategy, is composed of Republican leaders in Congress, five governors, party officials and all living GOP presidential candidates.

The committee's statement charged that the administration was guilty of issuing conflicting statements about the extent of U.S. involvement in Viet Nam and of fuzzing budgetary issues and decisions.

It quoted a statement, attributed to a news commentator, which claimed that "the political lie has become a way of bureaucratic life." The commentator was not identified.

"In an era in which the United States seeks, and needs, friends, how can we expect the peoples of other lands to trust our administration's statements when our own people are becoming increasingly suspicious of its motives and actions?" the statement asked.

Demilitarized Zone Defoliation Charged

Tokyo (AP)—North Viet Nam charged Thursday that the United States sprayed tons of toxic chemicals on the western sector of the Demilitarized Zone Sept. 29 for the second time within 10 days.

In a message sent to the International Control Commission (ICC), the communists said a number of civilians in three villages in the northern part of the Demilitarized Zone were affected and the vegetation and crops in the area destroyed.

The U.S. Command in Saigon has acknowledged limited defoliation of areas south of the Demilitarized Zone in efforts to deprive North Vietnamese infiltrators of natural cover. The U.S. Command, however, previously has denied reports that the zone itself was being defoliated.

The message said that the United States has been continuously conducting air and ground operations in the 45-mile-long, six-mile-wide strip set up by the 1954 Geneva agreements as a military-free buffer zone between North and South Viet Nam.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in New York Wednesday that air attacks on the eastern part of the buffer area had been suspended. The White House previously described this as an effort to permit the ICC to investigate alleged violations of the area by North Vietnamese infiltration of troops and supplies into South Viet Nam.

In Saigon, reliable sources reported U.S. and Vietnamese planes halted bombing of a 24-mile-square area of the zone 10 days ago so commission teams could carry out inspections.

Physicist Sees Intelligence Behind UFOs

Tucson, Ariz. (UPI) — A University of Arizona physicist says he believes some unidentified flying objects come from outside the earth's atmosphere and are "operated or controlled in some way by thinking beings."

He said the most common explanation is that they result from two natural phenomena—swamp gas and ball lightning.

In the "several cases I have investigated, atmospheric conditions were not such as to allow either of these to occur," he said.

McDonald also said the Air Force method of investigation "is a scientific scandal." He said none of the investigators had training in astronomy, physics, or related sciences.

He said he has "absolutely no idea where the objects come from, or how they are operated," but "after 10 years of research I know they are something from outside of our atmosphere."

McDonald said they seem be be "extra-terrestrial probes."

"Some of the sightings are bound to be more than optical illusions or imagination," he said. The physicist said he never has seen such an object himself.

Try Sukarno, Remove Him, Say Students

—The powerful Student Action Front issued a statement declaring it no longer recognizes him as Indonesia's president.

—Unofficial student sources said new demonstrations against Sukarno appear likely.

—The student paper, Harian Kami, said in an editorial that Sukarno again has refused to condemn the Communist party for its role in the coup attempt.

Sukarno, meanwhile, said history will show who is right—himself or his critics. He made the statement during a tour of naval facilities near Jakarta as part of Armed Forces Day celebrations here.

Unofficial student sources said the students would not retreat in their demands that Sukarno be toppled from power and brought to trial. But they said they had agreed to call a halt in demonstrations during Armed Forces Day celebrations.

$20,210 Awarded Seward Co. For Educational Study

Seward — A federal grant of $20,210 has been awarded to study the educational and cultural needs and resources of Seward County. Superintendent of Schools Verl Scott reports that the funds were awarded under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

The survey will involve parents, students, educational, civic, and religious groups. They will be given opportunity to voice their concerns about education in Seward County. The study may well result in curricular changes that will improve educational and cultural opportunities in the county, Scott said.

Everett W. Holmgrain from the University of Nebraska has been named the project director.

School Milk Bill To White House

Washington (AP) — Congress sent to the White House today a $545.5 million child nutrition bill including a four-year extension of the school milk program and the start of a breakfast program for needy children.

Most of the money, $465 million, was authorized for carrying the milk program in the schools through June 30, 1970.

Sen. Hruska Blasts Demos' Ag Record

Humboldt (UPI) — Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., Thursday night said that Governor Morrison and Congressman Callan share with Agriculture Secretary Freeman "a shoddy record of failure to the farmer and rural America."

Speaking at a joint meeting at Richardson, Pawnee and Nemaha County Republicans, the senator said:

"The farm family today has only two-thirds the per capita income of the non-farm family and the responsibility for agriculture's failure to share in the national economic well-being must be shared by these three men who embrace the same political philosophy."

Approximately 100,000 farms will go out of existence during 1966, the GOP audience was told, as a result of Johnson-Freeman farm policies.

"These are family sized farms which will either be absorbed into larger farming units or go back to weeds because the operators can no longer tolerate the cost-price squeeze. They are men and women who have devoted their lives to the soil but cannot cope with rising production costs which have soared by $4 billion since 1960 and farm prices which have remained virtually unchanged or have even dropped," Hruska said.

Since Freeman became secretary of agriculture, Hruska said, "the exodus from American farms has totaled two and a half million men, women and children and half a million farms have disappeared."

Sorensen Asks Clear Tax Stand

Wayne (AP)—Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen Thursday challenged his gubernatorial opponent to "say what his tax position will be should the voters repeal the income tax but not the property tax."

Sorensen, the Democratic candidate for governor, said Republican Norbert Tiemann's "somewhat cloudy position" has been taken only in case voters throw out both the present income tax and the property tax in the November election.

"My opponent certainly has not made himself clear as to what he would do if the property tax survived," Sorensen declared in a speech prepared for a luncheon meeting in Wayne. "And that is just what the polls now seem to show as the likely situation in November."

Sorensen said his own position is clear: if the income tax is not repealed, that should be Nebraska's tax; if the income tax is repealed, and regardless of what action voters take on the property tax, he will favor a combination sales-income tax to reduce the property tax burden.

Experts Disagree On Soviet Response To West Troop Cut

By ENDRE MARTON

Washington (AP)—The experts give contradictory opinions on whether Russia will reciprocate if the "searching reappraisal" of Western needs for European defenses results, as expected, in a cut in Anglo-American troops in Germany.

But the officials seem to agree on one point: even if Russia does not reciprocate, the forces will be reduced if the forthcoming tripartite review shows that a credible deterrent can be maintained with fewer forces without encouraging Soviet probes of Western determination to defend itself.

The question of what Russia's reaction will be has been raised frequently since President Johnson and West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard agreed last month to have a reappraisal and the British government consented to participate.

One Opinion

According to one school of thought, no Soviet move should be expected because Moscow would be in an awkward position if it cut its forces in view of Red Chinese accusations that Russia is "colluding" with the United States against Asian communism.

Other experts are not so sure.

Moscow, they speculate, must have recognized by now that whatever it does, it cannot change Peking's hostility so it might as well go ahead cooperating with the United States to ease tensions, at least in Europe. There are small signs, including the recently announced resumption of U.S.-Soviet air route talks, which seem to justify this view.

Much Possible

If Moscow decides to reciprocate in kind, there is a lot that could be done. Soviet forces outside the Russian border are formidable, and the communist nations of Eastern Europe also maintain strong national armies.

Though it is not a communist custom to discuss publicly the strength of their forces, there are apparantly no secrets in this area, and Anglo-American military experts claim to know the number of troops on the other side of the Iron Curtain.

Out of the 140 Soviet divisions, totaling two million men, 26 are outside Russia's western borders; 20 in East Germany (300,000 men); four in Hungary (50,000 men); and two in Poland (25,000 men). In addition, 75 divisions are in European Russia relatively close to the western Soviet border.

All 26 divisions in East Germany, Hungary and Poland are "combat ready," and so is the majority of the 75 divisions in the European U.S.S.R., the experts say.

To the 26 Soviet divisions in Central-Eastern Europe one should add at least the East German and Czechoslovak armies. These two countries have a common border with West Germany, and perhaps the Polish and Hungarian forces, being geographically one step behind. The Romanian and Bulgarian armies, however, could be ignored, as they are remote from NATO's Central European area.

East German ground forces total 80,000 men, the Czechoslovak army 200,000 men. The Polish army consists of 215,000 men, the Hungarian of 100,000. These together with the 375,000 Russians give an impressive total of 970,000 men, counting ground forces only.

On this side of the Iron Curtain, again counting only NATO forces in the heart of Europe, there are: the U.S. 7th Army, presently 218,000 men; the British Army of the Rhine of about 55,000; 12 German divisions of 278,000; 20,000 Canadians; 83,000 Belgians; 33,000 Danes and 92,000 Dutch troops. That's a total of 779,00 men.

Numerical Stand-Off

Officials frown on any attempt to compare figures. The number of troops, they say, is only one factor, but acknowledge that considering the figures alone already shows an approximate standoff.

Should the West cut troops in Germany, it can be assumed that there will be a growing pressure on Moscow to withdraw at least partly from Poland and Hungary, some experts believe.

While there is some military justification for keeping Soviet soldiers in Poland to secure access routes to East Germany—which the United States still considers a Soviet occupation zone—there is no such justification in the case of Hungary, a country which has no common border with Germany, but with neutral Austria.

Swedes Spot 2nd Alien Sub

Stockholm (AP) — The navy Thursday night reported another suspected foreign submarine in Swedish waters.

The report followed a series of similar incidents during navy maneuvers off the west coast, climaxed Wednesday night when a Swedish helicopter dropped a depth charge close to one reported intruder to scare it off.

A navy helicopter Thursday reported the new contact, strongly suspected to have been a submerged submarine in an area northwest of Vinga Lighthouse off Goteborg.

The suspected sub was within the Swedish three-mile limit on a westerly course, like previous ones, and the helicopter kept the contact until it left Swedish waters, the defense department said.

The nationality of the suspects has not been determined. The navy maneuvers are displaying Sweden's most modern naval weapons.

Mayor Honored For Handicapped Hiring Practice

The Mayor's Committee for the Employment of the Handicapped honored Mayor Dean Petersen Thursday for his "fine record of considering and hiring handicapped unemployed."

The award, presented by chairman Larry Westphalen, praised the mayor as setting "a fine example of considering individuals for their abilities rather than disabilities, thus giving these individuals a chance to prove they can compete, if placed on the right job."

Mayor Petersen presented a special citation to Miller and Paine for work in the handicapped field.

Educational TV Serving 106,000 Nebraska Pupils

The Nebraska Council for Educational Television reported Thursday it now serves 106,000 pupils in more than 200 member schools.

Coverage was extended when two new stations opened last month—KPNE Channel 9 at North Platte and KTNE Channel 13 at Alliance.

NCETV began in 1960 with six member schools — Lincoln, Beatrice, Wilber, Syracuse, Nebraska City and Omaha Westside.

Member schools pay $2 per pupil to belong, and member schools now include more than 50% of all the pupils in the viewing areas, according to Victor Christensen, NCETV director.

Delinquents' Group Homes Formulated

A special committee drafted guidelines Thursday for proposed legislation authorizing establishment of so-called group homes to provide special supervision for juvenile delinquents.

The study group, sponsored by the Public Institutions Advisory Committee, said it will issue a formal report later.

Institutions Director George Morris has said he will seek funds from the 1967 Legislature to establish a group home program. Enabling legislation will also be necessary.

The committee said the group homes would serve boys and girls who were committed to the institutions department and either had no need to be sent to the training schools or lacked suitable home environments after being released from the schools.

Under the proposal, the institutions department would contract with private citizens to supervise the youngsters in private homes.

Sen. Rasmussen Congratulates 3 Power Districts

Hooper (AP) — Sen. Ross H. Rasmussen of Hooper Thursday congratulated Nebraska's major power districts for voluntarily negotiating a realignment of their properties "to more efficient use public funds in providing electrical and irrigation services.

The Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor said the agreed-upon realignment involving Loup, Platte Valley and Consumers Public Power Districts should result in better service at lower rates.

Grain To Pakistan

Rawalpindi, Pakistan (UPI) —The United States agreed Thursday to supply Pakistan with more than $26 million worth of wheat and other food grains in the next few months. The additional aid brings the total of U.S. aid under an existing agreement to $57.9 million.

Backlog Of Untrained Reservists Poses Army Growing Problem

Washington (AP) — The Army is facing some critical decisions in the next few weeks, officials said Thursday, because of a growing backlog of untrained National Guardsmen and reservists.

At the present level of enlistments and training of these reservists and guardsmen—restricted by the active Army needs for Viet Nam and elsewhere — the backlog is expected to swell to more than 150,000 by June.

At the end of fiscal 1966, June 30, a total of 133,100 in the program, were still untrained. This has brought persistent, sharp criticism from Congress that the program is a haven from the draft while other men are being drafted for Viet Nam.

But thus far no steps to cut off enlistments or boost training have been taken and the reserve units are continuing to add new men as vacancies occur.

Cutback Planned

Top-level Defense Department officials long have been known to be considering a cutback in enlistments or a boost in training in an effort to stem the growing number of untrained personnel in the Reserve Enlistment Program (REP).

Training programs have cut down the backlog to an estimated 121,000 as of last month, but sources said this was due to a loosening of regular Army training schedules this spring that enabled a few more thousand reps to get training.

The recent increases will be adjusted, officers said, by smaller REP training allotments in the coming months as the Army training bases strain to meet the heavy Viet Nam manpower and rotation needs.

The over-all rate of REP training is not expected to exceed a 7,000-a-month rate, officials said, barring a top-level decision.

Another National Guard officer estimated that about 5,000 openings show up every month and he described that rate as "a pretty good indication of the attrition." At that level, the National Guard will induct about 60,000 men by the end of the year, some 30,000 less than in 1966.

Army Reserve induction figures were not available, but Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and others have estimated the attrition of those units at about two per cent monthly—meaning about 60,000 men would be needed to keep the 250,000-man reserve force at its authorized strength during this fiscal year.

To boost the training of reserves, it was explained, active combat divisions in the United States must increase their share of the training load. Some training now is done in the 1st and 2nd Armored Divisions in Texas and the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division in Colorado.

Officials said the over-all reserve training program is based around the 3,000-men a month it takes to keep the selected reserve up to authorized strength. The selected reserve force is up to strength, one reserve offic said, "the big backlog is the other units."

Ted For Drafting 19-Year-Olds First

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Thursday all 19-year-olds should be first in line for the draft, preferably by the lottery system, with only limited deferment allowances.

Kennedy, himself just 34, said the Selective Service System's order to administer pre-induction physical examinations to men between the ages of 26 and 34 pointed up the nation's increasing concern over the over-all draft system.

Neither the concern nor the fact the Selective Service was being forced to dig deeper and deeper ino the nation's manpower pool was surprising, Kennedy said, "for the current method of drafting some and exempting others is outdated."

LAP Board Supports Housing Referendum

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

The board of directors of the Lincoln Action Program went on record Thursday in favor of the Housing Authority referendum to be voted on in the Nov. 8 election.

The board, in its resolution, stated that because a recent survey by the Lincoln Action Program indicates a "great need for low-cost housing," it would fully support the referendum which would give the Housing Authority authorization to obtain federal funds for the purchase, construction, and operation of low-cost housing in Lincoln.

"We believe that it is urgent that the Lincoln Housing Authority receive a favorable vote of the electorate of Lincoln to enable it to purchase, construct and operate such housing facilities," the board stated, pointing to the need, especially for senior citizens, shown by the survey.

Offers Staff

LAP further offered the use of time from its staff to assist the Lincoln Housing Authority in effectively informing the general public of the facts related to the issue.

Arthur T. May, executive director of LAP, urged board members to bring the subject up and discuss it in various groups of which they may be members.

He pointed out that the program has "nothing to do with urban renewal" and emphasized that this point should be stressed in view of the fact that many favor the low-cost housing program but are against urban renewal.

Borrow Money

At the last LAP board meeting, president Robert Barlow told board members that passage of the resolution would enable the authority to enter into contracts allowing it to borrow federal money to buy Lincoln Air Force Base houses or start construction of others.

Barlow and May explained Thursday that most Air Base housing is not adaptable to senior citizen housing, since those homes are family-type living units.

It was also pointed out that the survey showed that the senior citizens like to reside close to a shopping area to which they may walk and at the present time the Air Base units do not have such an area within easy access.

One Third Of Base Housing Occupied

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Lincoln Housing Authority chairman Kenneth King said Thursday that 312 of the 1,000 federally-owned housing units west of the old Air Force Base are now occupied, following the Air Force pullout.

The authority is now under a three-year contract with the government to operate and maintain the units, once filled with military personnel and their families and civilians who were connected with base operations.

Rental rates to various categories of tenants range from $70 to $250 per month.

King noted that if a special referendum is approved by city voters Nov. 8, the authority will be empowered to purchase the base housing facility as well as provide other low-income housing by participating in federal programs.

Students Lead

According to the figures released by King, students lead the list of tenants by occupying 108 of the dwellings, followed closely by remaining Air Force personnel who live in 101 of the units.

The remaining occupancy count listed in number of housing units:

Job Corps employes, 36; Navy and Marines, 29; low income elderly, 7; Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) low income, 6; former Huskerville residents, 13; housing authority employes, 4; temporary occupants, 7; and one "housed from Lincoln."

King noted that housing at Huskerville will never again be rented as dwellings, adding that "everybody is out of there for all practical purposes."

He said that it has not been decided whether to demolish the units or use them in some other capacity.

Rent Goes Up

Former Huskerville residents now living in base housing are now paying $70 monthly rent as compared to the $50 rate in Huskerville.

King said the goal of the housing authority, if the referendum passes, is to purchase the base housing and build other housing for low income groups, especially the elderly.

He said he doubted whether many more low income elderly would locate in the base housing because "there is not much for them out there—they are too far removed from services."

King also released housing authority answers to questions asked by the Lincoln Action Program concerning the upcoming referendum.

He stressed that no city, county or state tax funds would be used for future housing authority programs.

The questions and answers:

Q. What is the purpose of the special referendum on housing?

A. To make it possible for the Housing Authority to aid in the providing of low-income housing by participating in federal programs.

Q. What is the Lincoln Housing Authority?

A. A public body consisting of five non-paid commissioners appointed by the Mayor and City Council for the purpose of administering public housing programs.

Q. What is low-cost housing?

A. Housing meeting minimum standards or better which is made available to families or individuals of low income at a rental rate which they can afford.

Q. Who pays for low-cost housing?

A. The difference between the actual cost of the units and the rents collected will be paid by annual contributions from the federal government.

Q. Who may use low-cost housing?

A. Persons whose income is below that set by the Housing Authority.

Q. Who sets qualifications and rentals for low-cost housing?

A. The local Housing Authority.

Q. Does Lincoln need low-cost housing?

A. From a recent survey, there appears to be a serious need for a minimum of 500 units for the low-income elderly.

Q. For whom would low-cost housing be provided in Lincoln?

A. In addition to the housing at the air base, our major emphasis would be on housing for the low-income elderly.

Q. How would the Lincoln Housing Authority determine the number of low-cost housing units to be used in Lincoln?

A. The Housing Authority would be guided by surveys and demonstrated needs.

Q. Would passage of the referendum involve the spending of money from Lincoln, Lancaster County, or Nebraska tax funds?

A. No.

Q. Would passage of the referendum enable the Lincoln Housing Authority to purchase air base housing?

A. Yes.

Q. How will the referendum appear, and what is the wording on the ballot, November 8th?

A. The question appears on a separate, white ballot and is worded as follows: "'Shall the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, be authorized and permitted to exercise the powers granted by the Housing Cooperation law as set forth in Chapter 71, Article 15 of the Nebraska Reissue Revised Statutes of 1943, as amended, in order to aid and cooperate with the Housing Authority of the City of Lincoln, Nebraska, in the planning, undertaking, construction or operation of housing projects for persons of low income, provided that no city tax funds are used for the purchase or construction of public housing units.' Vote FOR or AGAINST."

Trade Patterns Could Hurt U.S.

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Herbert Hughes of Imperial, a member of the President's National Food and Fibre Commission, told those attending the Nebraska World Trade Council conference at the Nebraska Center Thursday that patterns of trade now being developed could work against United States in the future.

Hughes objected to the U.S. policy of not selling to Communistic countries while "our friends and allies do not subscribe to our policy."

He said the biggest cash market for wheat is developing in the communistic countries and with the U.S. policy of not selling into these areas we are letting patterns of trade develop that could exclude the U.S. in the future.

Hughes also objected to wheat being singled out as the commodity that must be shipped in at least half U.S. ships for export sales.

"I don't know why this policy is not challenged by our congressmen," said Hughes.

Warren Wells, executive vice president of Consolidated Blenders at Fremont, in describing his impressions of a trade mission to Europe said.

"I can't say enough for trade missions. If you have a product that is needed you will be amazed at how easy it is to do business if you can meet the people you are doing business with. This develops a trust that can't be established any other way."

Dr. E. E. Peterson, extension economist for the University of Nebraska, said his experience from visiting 18 foreign countries shows that quite frequently market development work done by the U.S. is taken over by another country in sales.

He noted each country strives to become agriculturally self-sufficient and that just being price competitive is not enough in going after export business.

James Naive of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. told members of the World Trade Development Council that U.S. agricultural exports had a value of $6.2 billion in 1965, about double 1952 exports, with an expected goal of $8 billion by 1970.

"Farm exports are becoming so important that future U.S. farm production will be determined more and more by U.S. export policy and less and less by our actual capacity to produce," said Naive.

Treatment Of Addicts Approved

Washington (AP)—The Senate approved a new approach to the problem of drug addiction Thursday by passing a bill providing for civil commitment and treatment.

The House has passed a similar bill and a Senate-House conference committee is expected to iron out the differences. The legislation was urged by President Johnson as part of his anti-crime program.

Under the bill an addict charged with a federal crime other than crimes of violence could be committed to the custody of the U.S. surgeon general for treatment and rehabilitation rather than sent to prison.

The maximum period of confinement to a hospital would be limited to 18 months, but the bill also would provide for a three-year period of post-hospital treatment and supervision as a safeguard against a relapse into addition.

In addition, the legislation would permit the commitment and treatment of addicts not accused of crimes upon petition to a federal court and a finding of addiction. The commitment could be initiated either by the addict or others.

The bill would provide for federal grants of $15 million a year for each of the next three years for building, developing, staffing and operating treatment facilities.

Western Subversion Charged

Kinshasa, Congo, (UPI) — Congolese President Joseph Mobutu Thursday accused Western nations of having "woven a network of subversion" in the Congo.

This was the reason he had ordered all consulates outside the capital closed, the president said in an interview with the official Congolese press agency.

He said Eastern countries were often accused of subversion, "but it is Western countries, in the name of Christian civilization and under cover of technical assistance which had woven a network of subversion" in the Congo.

He blamed consulate officials for fomenting a rebellion in July at Kisangani which his army put down after bloody fighting two weeks ago. He said similar rebellions were being organized at Lubumbashi, Albertville and Bukavu.

Portuguese nationals in the Congo "have nothing to fear. They have nothing to do with the actions of (Portuguese Premier) Dr. Salazar and former (Congolese) Minister Tshombe," Mobutu said. The government claims Portugal allowed Tshombe to train mercinaries in its territory of Angola to the south.

Housewives Advised To 'Go European'

Washington (AP) — Housewives struggling against rising food costs were told Thursday to "get off the old meat and potatoes routine" and try cheaper European gourmet dishes.

One more thing: leave your husband home when you shop.

These, and more hints for beating the cash register, came at a news conference by grocer and government spokesmen who plan nationwide distribution of a pamphlet with food-saving ideas.

Clarence G. Adamy, president of the National Association of Food Chains, said the Europeans know how to do it. "Lots of prize gourmet dishes in Europe are really very cheap when you look what's in them.

"We're experiencing a general inflationary pressure," Adamy said. "Prices are higher. You just have to know how to do it."

RFK Not Candidate In 1968

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said Thursday that he was not in the running as a possible candidate for either the presidency or vice presidency in 1968.

In an interview published by the Washington Post, Kennedy said that he would not run as vice president even if President Johnson asked him to.

He expressed strong support for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Public opinion polls have given Kennedy a substantial lead over Humphrey among Democratic voters in their listings of who they would prefer to see run with Johnson in 1968. There has also been widespread speculation that Kennedy was interested in the possibility of being Johnson's running mate.

2 Killed In Conflict

For all practical purposes Friday begins each and every weekend. But if this were not true suburban residents wouldn't be even remotely concerned. At this moment they are as busy as the proverbial bee making plans for a variety of interesting things — such as guests, parties — and even a trip or two.

PARK VALLEY HEIGHTS

Mrs. Fred C. Hall celebrated her 87th anniversary Thursday at a luncheon for which her daughter, Mrs. Orvin Erway was hostess. The party came a day early, but Friday also will be full of festivities as Mr. and Mrs. Erway host an evening party for members of the family.

Guests at the Thursday luncheon were Mrs. Ronald Hall, Mrs. L. E. Case, Miss Elizabeth Hall, Mrs. Ruth Hall, Mrs. Emily Hall, Mrs. Anna Gilman and Mrs. William Dauer.

Mrs. Sarah Brinkman is saying goodbye to a houseguest this morning. Mrs. Brinkman's daughter, Miss Carolyn Brinkman, is returning to her home in Chicago, Ill., after a five-day visit in Lincoln.

Broken Bow was the destination of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Eastman last weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Eastman, and their youngsters, Shawna, Lisa and David, were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brock and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wenquist. The family was especially pleased to see Mrs. Brock who recently returned from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Norm Weideman and their children, Brian and Kamala, will be doing a lot of visiting and traveling next week when they drive to Ladimer, Iowa, and Edina, Minn. In Iowa members of the Lincoln family will be the guests of Mrs. Weideman's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donn Wolf. After a few days stay the fivesome go on to Minnesota to be the houseguests of Mrs. Weideman's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Strobel in Edina.

One member of this Lincoln family has been doing some celebrating on her own. Sunday evening Miss Kamala was the center of attention when relatives honored her second anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Sapp will be moving from their Lincoln home at 910 No. 58th St. on Saturday for a new residence in Auburn. Departing with their parents will be Bruce and Mark Sapp.

SOUTHBROOK SUMMIT

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bice entertained at their home in honor of Mrs. Bice's birthday. Guests for the festive evening were Mrs. Bice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vosta, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lehr of Hastings.

Introductions this morning are for Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Pearson who are the new residents at 5000 Newton St. Mr. and Mrs. Pearson and their son, Fred, who is a sophomore at Union College, are former residents of Berthoud, Colo., arriving in Lincoln on Sept. 19.

BRIDGE

possible or impossible

B. Jay Becker

QUIZ

There are some sequences of bidding which, for practical purposes, are regarded as impossible — that is, you cannot have a hand that fits the bid or bids you've made. In each of the following five cases, specify whether the last bid by South is Possible or Impossible.

1.	South	West	North	East
	1♣	Pass	1♥	Pass
	1♠	Pass	2NT	Pass
	Pass
2.	South	West	North	East
	1♣	Pass	2♦	Pass
	2♥	Pass	3♦	Pass
	3NT	Pass	4♦	Pass
	Pass
3.	North	East	South	West
	1♦	Pass	2NT	Pass
	3♦	Pass	Pass
4.	West	North	East	South
	Pass	1♠	4♥	5♠
5.	North	East	South	West
	1♣	Pass	1♠	Pass
	2♥	Pass	Pass

1. Impossible. In line with the general theory that responder's jump bids are forcing, South is required to bid again. North's two notrump bid in this sequence shows 13 to 15 points, though he may occasionally have only 12 points. The same general principle would apply if North's last bid were three clubs instead of two notrump. This also would be a forcing bid which South could not pass.

Of course, a partnership could easily arrange for jump bids by responder to be nonforcing — for example, with 11 points — in which case passing two notrump would become permissible, but that is not the way most people play.

2. Impossible. The two diamond response by North shows at least 17 points and it therefore becomes impossible to play the hand at less than game. It would be utterly inconsistent with North's bidding for South to be permitted to pass four diamonds.

3. Impossible. The two notrump response showed 13 to 15 points and committed the partnership to game. South must therefore bid again over three diamonds.

4. Possible. The generally accepted meaning of the five spade bid is that South has a slam-going hand which depends almost entirely on not losing the first two tricks in the adversely bid suit. Thus, South may have a hand such as ♠KQ84 ♥952 ♦— ♣AKJ983.

5. Possible. North, having bid his suits in reverse order, shows an excellent hand with at least 17 points, but, as played by nearly everyone, the bid is not forcing and South is permitted to pass. The sequence is roughly equivalent to 1♣-1♠-3♣ or 1♣-1♠-3♠. South is being urged to bid again, but with a poor hand he is expected to pass.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Bray-on-Thames is a winding little village an hour out of London center. When England's kings wavered between Catholicism and the Reformation, the vicar changed religion several times to suit the current mood.

"And this will I maintain
"Until my dying day, sir.
"That whatsoever king shall reign,
"I'll still be Vicar of Bray sir."

The Hind's Head is an old, sagging door restaurant with good food. Well worth the drive out for lunch or dinner.

The leggy miniskirt swings on every London street, and shoulder-length hair on most teen-age boys.

Every chick under 25 is miniskirted way up thataway. Good legs. Bow legs. Knock knees. I never realized there were so many bad legs. On the other hand, there's a lot of good legs.

There is nothing like a dame. But how did they manage to package them so differently?

The world's second largest city seems small and intimate. The streets curved to circuses. The Georgian neighborhoods built around tiny, grassy squares.

I come to London with a feeling of coming home. No other city but my own makes me feel that way.

Amid the sunny noon, the Englishman carries his umbrella, furled to the thin lines of a rapier. The weather will change. And anyway, it's part of the uniform along with the bowler hat.

Weather reports (dial WEA 2211) do not say "occasional rain." They say "occasional bright periods." It's all in the way you look at it.

The government has put new, sealed measures on the liquor bottles in pubs.

The drink comes "small" or "large" — "large" is double. The "small" is a little less than our jigger measure. The "large" is a little bit more. A "large" costs just about what our regular measure does — 80 cents to $1.

Whisky is served in a stemmed glass — when you call for whisky, it means Scotch.

There are pub closing hours. But they don't apply to hotel guests. Under ancient British law, a traveler is entitled to food and drink at all hours and oats for his horse.

Very few of us order oats.

Costs are up here — as they are everywhere. This is the time, if you come, to bring a bundle to Britain.

Dr. Samuel Johnson was the most quoted talker of the 18th century. He banged off his quotes at the Cheshire Cheese.

The admiring Boswell said: "Johnson's conversation was much too strong for a person accustomed to obsequiousness or flattery; it was mustard in a young child's mouth."

The talk today is of "the squeeze." The government is making it tough to build any industry that doesn't export. Bring in fresh money.

For some peculiar reason this includes new hotels. Though Britain's tourist business is its No. 1 fresh money industry — "We don't even have to send anything or go and collect for it. They bring it to us."

From May to October it is impossible to get a hotel room unless you have advance reservations. "And it's going to get worse," they told me.

That's London this bright October.

Denney Supports Four Types Of Aid To Education

First District Republican congressional candidate Robert Denney says there are four types of federal aid to education which he supports.

He listed them as direct grants for buildings, tax credit for educators who undertake advanced training, grants for advanced research, and funds that permit educators and colleges to assist in foreign educational projects.

The comments were made in an address to the University of Nebraska Faculty Club.

Don't all airline stewardesses?"

This is Patty O'Neill. She used to call Omaha her home. Now she likes to tell people she's from Frontierland. An expert figure skater, Patty is also an expert at making your Frontier flight more pleasant. Like all of our stewardesses, she's just naturally neighborly. See which gas light and gas grill will look best on your patio.

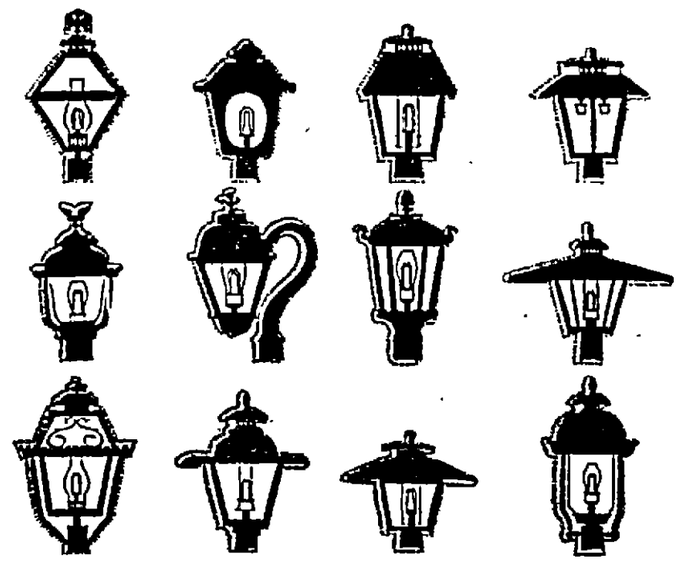
gas lights:

A gas light does more than stand around and look pretty. Its soft, gentle glow can guard your yard with all-night light. Light up steps so people won't stumble. Or turn a patio into an extra room. About all it won't do is attract bugs (there's no glare with a gas light).



gas grills:

A new gas grill is ready to cook instantly. You don't have to wait and wait for the coals to get just right. The cooking's better, too, because you control the heat on a gas grill just as you do in the kitchen. What you get with a gas grill is a real "charcoal" cookout with none of the bother. So get one.

FASHIONS are fun for students' wives

What the well-dressed, college student's wife will be wearing this fall and winter—or rather what would she like to be wearing—was on parade in the Student Union ballroom Wednesday evening when the University of Nebraska Law Wives sponsored a fashion show.

Joining the Law Wives for the evening were the wives of Architecture, Pharmacy and Dental College students.

coed is autumn bride

For the wedding of Miss Carol Bieck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bieck of Lexington, and David Bogardus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clive Bogardus of Red Cloud, which took place Saturday afternoon, Sept. 10, white poppon chrysanthemums and salal foliage decorated the candlelighted altar of the First Presbyterian Church at Lexington. The 4 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Donn Jann.

Silk crepe and Venise lace in muted autumn green fashioned the floor-lenght frocks of Miss Jean Pittman, Columbus, the maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Linda Muff, Sioux Falls, S. D.: and Mrs. J. William Henry, Omaha.

Gary Bieck, brother of the bride, served Mr. Bogardus as best man, and the groomsmen were Stanley Killinger, Hebron; and Carroll Cederburg, North Platte.

The bride-s period gown of white crepe was trimmed with Chantilly lace. Lace edged the elbow sleeves of the Empire bodice and was repeated in a wide banding on the slim skirt, which was draped into back fullness and continued into a chapel train.

Mr. and Mrs. Bogardus are making their home in Lincoln, at 1227 D. A graduate of the University of Nebraska and of the College of Medical Technology in Omaha, the bride is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi honor societies, and is a past president of Gammi Phi Beta sorority. BRIDE at evening wedding

Lighted white candles in hurricane shades formed the background in the United Church of Christ at Ravenna, Sunday evening, Oct. 2, for the marriage of Miss Enny Jay Redekop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Redekop of Cuauhtimoc Chihuahua, Mexico, to Frank James Marrs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Marrs of Ravenna. The Rev. Jonathan Bunge read the lines of the 7 o'clock ceremony.

Miss Margaret Redekop of Phoenix, Ariz., as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Maria Redekop, Lincoln, and Miss Alvina Redekop, Henderson, all sisters of the bride, wore Empire frocks of blue-green brocade and blue crepe. They carried pinnacle bouquets of fern.

Serving his brother as best man was Dale Marrs, Chicago, and the corps of ushers included Aaron Redekop, Kearney, brother of the bride Dale Muff, Omaha; Jacob Dernig, Crete; and Gary Jurgenson, Fremont.

The bride chose delustered satin in traditional white for her wedding gown. The sculptured bodice was designed with a rounding neckline and fitted sleeves, and the slender skirt, banded with Alencon lace, was pleated into back fullness and extended into a chapel train beneath a Watteau panel of satin and lace. Her bouffant veil of illusion was held by a crown of pearls and crystal beading, and she carried a cascade of sweetheart roses.

Mr. Marrs and his bride will live in Lincoln, following a wedding trip to Mexico.

ABBY: don't confuse worth with education

DEAR ABBY: My husband has had 5 years of college. He works long hours (no overtime pay) in a position of responsibility with a large, highly respected firm. His judgment is heavily relied upon. But some of the men who operate the machinery make more money than my husband. This hurts.

For instance, our neighbor never even finished high school, but because he has a unionized job of manual labor, his income far outstrips my husband's. It doesn't seem fair that with all my husband's education he isn't able to give his family as much as some uneducated laborers.

I am not saying common laborers should make less, but in a society screaming for youngsters to get an education, it's ironical that uneducated laborers should make more than college graduates. I hope you aren't too frightened by big business to answer.

EDUCATED BUT HUNGRY

DEAR EDUCATED: I don't blame you for being resentful, but perhaps what you term "common laborers" are skilled laborers in their fields. Many men who have never seen the inside of a college (or high school) have a technical knowledge equal in importance to some college educations.

I, too, would like to see higher education bring greater rewards, but don't confuse a man's worth with his college education or the lack of it.

DEAR ABBY: Men think nothing of wearing a suit for 4 and maybe 5 years. Some even longer. So can you please tell me why a woman won't wear last year's dress?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: Some don't want to. Others can't.

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. J. H.: Instead of yearning for some kind of immortality, remember the words of Benjamin Franklin:

"If you would not be forgotten,
As soon as you are dead and rotten,
Either write things worth reading
Or do things worth the writing."

Huskers Are Due

Nebraska followers can expect the Huskers to bust loose in a big way one of these first Saturdays, but you can go broke trying to figure out when it will be.

Those with a long range view would prefer that it wait until Oct. 22 at Boulder, Colo. Those who have already laid their money down, would prefer it be this week.

The sentimental folks are hoping it won't be next week, but it's likely to come against lowly Kansas State, the team coach Bob Devaney would least like to run the score up against.

Figuring the Huskers may start on it this week, but will still make enough errors to keep it close: NEBRASKA 24, Wisconsin 10.

Errors, Palmer Sabotage Dodgers In World Series

. . . WILLIE DAVIS HUMILIATED

Los Angeles (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles took a commanding two-game lead in the World Series and nearly reduced it to pure comedy Thursday by capitalizing on six errors, including three by Willie Davis, and Jim Palmer's four-hit pitching to humiliate the Los Angeles Dodgers, 6-0.

It was a day in which the eager, ambitious young Orioles could do nothing wrong and one in which the fumbling, bumbling Dodgers could do nothing right as they tied a World Series record for futility and saw their 27-game ace, Sandy Koufax, sabotaged by a butter-fingered defense.

Palmer, a nerveless, 20-year-old right-hander from Scottsdale, Ariz., had the satisfaction of becoming the youngest pitcher ever to hurl a shutout in a World Series contest, the previous Waite Hoyt, who did it when he was 22 way back in 1921.

And Palmer, who struck out six men, walked only three and was in only one tight spot all afternoon, also came up with another distinction. He tied Bullet Joe Bush as the youngest pitcher ever to turn in a victory.

"When you beat their best," happily declared Baltimore's Hank Bauer, meaning Koufax, "you have to feel good. And when you're going home you have to feel even better."

He was alluding to the switch in the site of the series, which after a day off Friday for travel, will resume Saturday in Baltimore where the third and fourth games will be played, along with the firth, if necessary.

As far as the Dodgers were concerned, they were happy to leave town—even if it was only the second World Series game they ever had lost in their own ball park.

The six errors they committed—three by the pitiful Willie Davis and one each by Jim Gilliam, Ron Fairly and reliever Ron Perranoski — equaled a World Series record held by three clubs, the last of which were the 1917 White Sox.

Things got so bad as the Orioles collected eight hits and ran the bases at random that the crowd of 55,947 booed their sad sack one-time Dodger heroes, particularly Willie Davis, any time a ball was caught.

That wasn't too often.

Most of the trouble came in the fifth inning, which turned out to be a personal nightmare for Willie Davis.

Davis, 26, will never forget it if he lives to be 1,000, chances are neither will Koufax.

There was no score in the ball game and no real sweat on Sandy's part when Boog Powell singled to left leading off the fifth for the Orioles' first hit since Luis Aparicio had opened the game by out-legging an infield roller.

Dave Johnson followed with a foul pop to catcher John Roseboro that accounted for the first out and contained no hint whatsoever of the catastrophe which was to follow.

Paul Blair, who used to root for the Dodgers as a kid in Cushing, Okla., set the stage for the high drama that was to come by sending a high fly to Fairly deep center field.

The ball was hit well, but it was a routine type of fly, the kind Willie Davis has stuffed in his hip pocket thousands of times in his career. This one didn't end up in his hip pocket, though, or even in his glove.

As he set himself to make the catch, Davis seemed to come unhinged at the last instant, possibly because the sun got in his eyes or maybe because he took his eyes off the ball for a moment.

Anyway, he dropped it and the startled Powell, who is no gazelle, scooted all the way to third while Blair streaked to second.

Koufax doesn't lose his composure too easily, but it was obvious he was a little shaken by the turn of events.

Bearing down with runners on second and third, Koufax ran the count to 2-and-2 on Andy Etchebarren, then induced the Orfole catcher to hoist another innocent looking fly ball to short center.

Davis loped in easily and again it looked like a simple matter for him to make the catch. He came in so far, in fact, that it appeared he'd have no trouble holding Powell at third.

First, of course, Davis would have to catch the ball He didn't!

The ball skidded out of his glove the way a wet grapefruit does when you reach for it too quickly and then, applying panic to sheer excitement, Davis finally scooped up the ball from the grass and hurled it at least 15 feet over Roseboro's head.

Powell scored easily on Davis' double error and so did Blair while Etchebarren made it all the way to third without really drawing a deep breath.

Koufax somehow found the energy to strike out Palmer, but Aparicio doubled down the third base line to drive in Etchebarren with the third run of the inning.

Sun Caused Bobbles

Los Angeles (AP)—"I just lost both of them in the sun. There's nothing you can do about a case like that."

So said Willie Davis, the unfortunate goat of the second game of the World Series as the Baltimore Orioles blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-0.

The Dodger center fielder set a Series record when he committed three errors on two successive plays as 55,947 fans in Dodger Stadium and a national television audience gasped in disbelief.

First Willie dropped a fly ball hit into center field by Paul Blair. Then he muffed another fly ball to the same area hit by Andy Etchebarren, recovered the ball and threw wildly past third for the third error.

Before it was over, the Orioles had three runs in and Sandy Koufax was soon to go to the showers.

After the horror, Koufax put his arm around Davis' shoulder as the two headed to the club house runway between innings.

"I told him not to let it get him down. Those things happen," Sandy disclosed later

Manager Walt Alston was asked if he said anything on the bench to Davis.

"I didn't have to. I saw what happened. He lost them—at least the first one, I'm sure—in the sun."

"I got a quick peek at the ball the second time," Davis continued as he explained the bobbles to the baseball writers surrounding him in the dressing room after the game.

"I made a stab at it but it was no use. Sandy put his arm around me later and told me, 'Things happen like that.'

"I missed only one other in the sun this year, at Pittsburgh," Willie continued.

"If I could see the ball, you know I'm gonna catch it."

As Willie Davis stood backed up in his tiny dressing cubicle, Don Drysdale signalled over the heads of the writers for Willie to move out of discussion range. But Willie stayed as long as the writers, who appeared in waves, wanted him to talk.

What about a third fly ball that dropped between him and right fielder Ron Fairly off Frank Robinson's bat and went for a triple in the next inning?

"Neither one of us called for it," Willie said.

"I was just getting ready to call, then he hollered at me," said Fairly. "He'd run a long way, and I've got to take as much blame as either of us. If I'd taken charge sooner, it might not have happened."

Alston said he took Koufax out after six innings "because I thought he was laboring a little, his arm maybe hurting so I just decided to get him out of there."

Left fielder Lou Johnson, who eased the booing pressure on Willie Davis between innings, said, "This was the toughest sun I ever seen."

Willie, Johnson and Fairly were tossing the ball back and forth in the outfield after Willie had been unmercifully jeered. Each time Willie caught a toss, the crowd cheered wildly.

Johnson suddenly dropped a throw from Willie — obviously on purpose—and the crowd roared in good humor.

Koufax described his pitching as normal.

"My curve was coming in high but I'd say I was pitching normal—no worse, no better." Will he be ready to pitch in Baltimore Sunday, following Claude Osteen Saturday?

"I'll be ready whenever the man asks me," said Sandy, referring to Alston.

Match Play Meet Pairs Old Pros

Nicklaus will play Casper and Palmer will face Player Friday in a renewal of the 36-hole elimination matches. The winners will clash Saturday for the $14,000 first prize put up by a cigarette company.

The powerful Nicklaus, of Columbus, Ohio, holder of the Masters and British Open crowns, fired the best single round — a ten-under-par 64—but Palmer, bidding to reclaim the title he won two years ago, scored the most decisive victory in the opening matches.

Nicklaus grabbed a 5-hole lead with his sensational morning round and lost only three holes in beating Dave Thomas, a bull-shouldered Welshman, 6 and 5. Palmer, coming from a six weeks layoff, looked like the imposing charger of old in crushing Roberto DeVincenzo of Argentina 10 and 8.

Casper, the U.S. Open champion from San Diego, Calif., canned an eagle putt of 60 feet from off the green at the fourth hole for an early lead and went on to beat Peter Thomson of Australia, five times winner of the British Open, 3 and 2.

Player, who won the American Open, Canada Cup, World Series and this event last year, had the hardest time of it. One down after 18 holes, he rallied for a 1-up triumph over Neil Coles, the British Ryder Cup ace.

The Player-Coles match was touch-and-go all around the 6,997-yard, par 36-38-74 course, the Englishman going three holes ahead after 13. But Player finished the morning round with two birdies and got even at the 20th. The South African was 2-up at the 32nd but lost the 35th. Player shot rounds of 69-69, Coles 68-70.

City Prep Gridders On Road

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln's prep football teams are hoping to earn "King of the Road" labels this week with three of the four contests slated on foreign turf.

Pius X invades Fremont, Northeast travels to Beatrice and Lincoln High goes to Grand Island while Southeast stays in town to entertain Bellevue.

The Knights will be going without regular quarterback Craig Lutz in their battle with the Chieftains.

"We're not certain just what the extent of his injury is, but we won't use him this week," says coach Bill Stephenson of Lutz, who was forced to leave last week's Fremont game with a knee injury.

Moving in will be Scott Dworak, the defensive cornerback who was pressed into service last week.

Stephenson is hopeful that the Knights, now 2-2, can bounce back after their setback at the hands of Fremont.

"We actually played good football except for those two blocked punts and that intercepted pass. You just can't afford to give a team the ball three times deep in your own territory," he points out.

SCOTT DWORAK

"Bellevue really should have beaten Tech last week," says Stephenson of the game in which the Chieftains lost to the No. 1 ranked Trojans, 21-13.

"They're a tough bunch of kids, but we've always played well against them," he says of the series.

Fremont (3-1), loser to Northeast in its season opener, shoots for an upset of unbeaten Pius X.

Meanwhile, Northeast is in the unfamiliar role of making a comeback as it invades unbeaten Beatrice. Coach Art Bauer is still looking for more offensive punch from his Rockets.

Lincoln High takes its 2-1-1 record to Grand Island (1-3) and if comparative scores are meaningful the Islanders could provide a stiff test. Last week the young Third City club stopped Columbus, 27-0, while Lincoln High managed only a 20-12 win over the Discoverers four weeks ago.

Coloradoans Invade NWU

. . . PLAINSMEN AFTER FOURTH WIN

A stunting defense and potentially explosive offense pose the next hurdle in Nebraska Wesleyan University's effort to post its fourth football win.

Colorado College will try to snap the Plainsmen win streak at three in a 7:30 encounter at O.M. Magee Stadium tonight.

They'll run from all kinds of formations, and we expect them to throw a lot, "Plainsman coach Ray Westover said.

The Tigers trounced St. Mary of the Plains 48-0 to post their only win of the year against a crew that topped perennially tough Peru State.

Colorado College is 1-2 for the season with a last minute loss to Doane (14-20) and a 6-28 loss to Colorado Mines.

"Defensively, we look for them to throw a lot of different formations at us. We've been working all week on blocking assisgnments and plays, trying to polish our offense

"We need to be more consistent. We can't always wait until the last quarter to play football," he said, recalling last week's fourth quarter surge that gave the Plainsmen a 16-6 win over Dana.

Bill Rohrig, senior halfback, will be called on regularly for the important yardage. Against Dana he had runs of 32, 24, and 21 yards.

Rohrig's 147 yards against Dana makes him the offensive leader with 273 yards rushing on 48 carries for a 5.6 yard per carry average.

NWU opponents have been held to a 5 points per game average and to an average of 182 yards total offense per game.

Sooners Prime For Longhorn Tilt

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma football coach Jim Mackenzie was cautiously optimistic Thursday about his team's condition for Saturday's annual clash with the Texas Longhorns in Dallas.

"We're in pretty good shape physically, I hope we are mentally," Mackenzie said after putting his charges through a brisk hour and 50-minute workout in sweatclothes.

"We worked on our kicking game today," Mackenzie said. "We're going to have to work extra hard to beat Texas . . . they have a great kicking game."

JFK Hosts Runners In Annual CC Invite

Ames, Iowa — Iowa State will open its 1966 cross country season Saturday, facing teams from Nebraska and South Dakota in a series of dual meets.

The running will be on the George F. Veenker Memorial golf course at 10 a.m. The race will start and finish at the fourth tee.

Coach Jack Mitchell said he will alternate his three sophomore running backs—Shanklin, John Jackson and Junior Riggins. Shanklin is one of the nation's leading rushers.

"Riggins has shown more improvement than any kid we have," Mitchell said. "He's strong, and he's catching the ball."

"This is one of those games you don't know if you're ready for. I'd feel better if we could practice two more days."

The squad will fly out of Topeka at 1 p.m. Friday and work out in Des Moines in the afternoon.

Pancakes, Gum Aid To Palmer

. . . PITCHES HELP TOO

Los Angeles (AP)—Jim Palmer, Baltimore's young right-hander, came to Dodger Stadium Thursday with four pancakes, three pieces of bubble gum and two pitches.

He had the pancakes for breakfast, the bubble gum for superstition, the pitches for the Dodgers and a shutout for his efforts.

For Palmer followed the advice he was given and pitched a four-hit, 6-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers, becoming the youngest pitcher in World Series history to throw a shutout.

And, as Palmer stood in his cubicle in the Orioles' dressing room after the game, he told about the things he brought to the park in 4-3-2 order.

"I had four pancakes for breakfast," he said, "just the regular kind."

Palmer then explained that he began the pancake routine early this season after he won eight of his first nine decisions.

"I don't really worry about them," Palmer said, "but then I've been getting a little publicity because of them so I figured I'd might as well eat them."

Palmer needed the publicity because he was virtually an unknown commodity this spring. Signed by the Orioles for a $50,000 bonus, the 20-year-old right-hander had a 5-4 record with Baltimore last season in only his second season of organized ball.

But Baltimore Manager Hank Bauer tapped him for a starter's role, and he responded by becoming the Orioles' biggest winner, with 15 victories.

And he kept eating pancakes because "I didn't want to find out if they had any bearing on how I was doing. The bubble gum is just a little superstition."

Despite following the pancake-bubble gum routine, Palmer said he was not nervous, even at the prospect of pitching against Sandy Koufax.

"I had a good fast ball and a good curve," he said, "and that's what we're supposed to pitch to them. Koufax? you just try to pitch as good a game as you can.

"I wasn't nervous, but I don't usually pitch as fast as I did. I had a lot of energy, and everything seemed like it was going so fast I didn't have time to think."

As for becoming the youngest pitcher in Series history to throw a shutout, Palmer said he had no idea about that and said he wasn't too familiar with Waite Hoyt and Joe Bush, the guys whose records he surpassed and threatened.

But then he was just following orders by throwing the shutout.

"I don't know who it was," he said, "but someone was teasing me in the hotel last night and told me if I could pitch a shutout I'd win."

And what did Palmer answer?

"I said I'd try."

Senate May Stall Off FB Merger

Washington (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle said today the merger of the National and American Football Leagues will be called off if Congress fails to approve it.

In a statement presented to the House Antitrust Subcommittee, the NFL commissioner said the threat of legal action against the merger by the Justice Department or private individuals makes a Congressional grant-of-immunity mandatory.

With Congress driving for adjournment, swift action by the House would be needed to meet Rozelle's ultimatum. But chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., showed no intention of being pressured into quick action.

"The antitrust subcommittee intends to explore thoroughly the extent of antitrust immunity requested and the results that would flow from any such grant of immunity," Celler said.

Celler opened hearings on a Senate-passed bill that would exempt the merger from the antitrust laws, but was forced to adjourn them by an early meeting of the House before Rozelle could testify. The hearings will resume next Tuesday.

Rozelle already had distributed copies of his statement, however.

The statement said it would be his "strong, although reluctant recommendation' that the merger be canceled if Congress fails to pass the bill.

One private suit against the merger has already been filed and Rozelle said the Department of Justice has told him "they have serious concern about the plan although they have not yet decided whether to bring suit."

Rozelle's statement indicated the salary war between the leagues for outstanding college players was the basic reason the merger was put together.

Rozelle said the huge bonuses given to some players to get them to sign have already undermined the financial stability of some clubs. He did not identify them

Celler, who is the author of the antimerger legislation that professional football now wants to get around, said exemptions from it should be given "only with the greatest reluctance and only upon a showing of an overriding need therefor."

He also indicated that if professional football is given such an exemption, it may be necessary to set up some sort of governmental regulatory body to protect the interests of the public and the players.

Celler noted that professional football has been seeking laws since 1957, claiming that its existence would be threatened without it.

Cipriano Set To Unveil '66 Cornhuskers

Nebraska basketball coach Joe Cipriano has announced that following the freshman football game with Kansas State on Oct. 14 the University will hold its annual press day for the news media.

Nebraska will have fourteen players return on the varsity this season, including four of the five starters from last year's record setting team.

Also to be on hand will be 13 freshman reporting for coach Glen Potter.

The Huskers are seeking their first outright conference championship since 1915-16 this season and have been picked by some pre-season polls to do it. Last year Nebraska finished the season with a 20-5 record, 12-2 in the Big Eight, finishing second to Kansas.

Key Tigers Still Doubtful Starters

Columbia (AP) — Decisions won't be made until a noon workout Friday on whether halfback Earl Denny and guard Jim Willsey will be on Missouri's travel roster for its Big Eight football opener with Kansas State at Manhattan, Coach Dan Devine said.

Denny has been hospitalized all week with a back ailment Willsey, who missed the UCLA game last week with a foot injury, has been slow in recovering, Devine said.

Defensive back Roger Wehrli and linebacker Rich Bernsen, out of action most of the week with shoulder bruises, are expected to be ready for full duty against the Wildcats.

Berres Remains With Sox Staff

Chicago (AP) — Ray Berres, Chicago White Sox pitching coach since 1949, announced Thursday he would remain with the White Sox as pitching instructor for their minor league clubs.

The status of Berres had been doubtful following a recent shakeup of the Sox staff by Manager Ed Stanky in which Tony Cuccinello and Don Gutteridge were dismissed.

Southeast Reserves Stave Off Fremont

Southeast also added a safety in the fourth quarter when a contered ball went into the end zone for the visitors.

Southeast led 14-0 in the third stanza, when Fremont returned the kick for a TD and a score, but the home squad held on for their third straight win.

Stock Market Drops Sharply

It was a continuation of a slide which has continued, with barely any worthwhile interruption, for about 2½ weeks. The latest phase began Monday with a break below the 1966 lows set Aug. 29. Some steadying occurred in a doubtful session on Tuesday. The drop continued Wednesday and resumed at roughly the same tempo Thursday.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 5.84 to 749.61, its lowest close since Nov. 27, 1963, when it read 741.0. That was five days after the Kennedy assassination.

The Dow industrials were down as much as 8.18 at noon, CST Thursday, so the final figure represented a partial recovery.

Some of the recovery was based on what traders hoped would be bullish statements by President Johnson at his news conference. As these reports began to come over the wires, however, brokers saw nothing much in them to spur prices.

Volume was 8.1 million shares compared with 5.88 million Wednesday.

Not one of the 15 most-active stocks advanced. Losses of 2 to 7 or more points were taken by these volume leaders.

Of 1,424 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 961 fell and 243 rose. There were 433 lows for the year and not a single high.

The same elements that have plagued the market right along were cited Thursday—tight money, concern about Viet Nam, worry about possible recession, evidence of the profit squeeze due to inflation and higher wage costs.

The stock market decline was "feeding on itself," one broker said.

Sperry Rand was most active stock for the second straight session, losing 1 at 22⅞ on 369,200 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 2.4 at 271.6, its lowest close since Aug. 8, 1963 when it read 271.0. Industrials fell 4.2, rails 1.2, both to new lows.

Prices fell on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was moderately active, with volume at 2.27 million shares compared with 1.68 million Wednesday.

Grain Market Closes Mixed

Chicago (AP)—Grain futures prices closed in an unsettled and somewhat mixed range Thursday after having rallied fairly broadly from a period of early weakness then falling from the peaks of the day.

Trade volume was believed to have been a little larger than on most other recent days with speculators active on both sides of the market, buying on the setbacks and selling on the bulges.

In all the pits, the trade was believed to have included a good deal of commitment balancing against the first crop report of the month to be used Friday.

Wheat closed ⅛ cent a bushel higher to ¼ lower, December $1.68¾-69; corn ⅛-¼ higher, December $1.25⅝-¾; oats ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, December 71-71¼ cents, rye unchanged to ⅛ lower, December $1.22¼; soybeans ⅛ higher to 1 cent lower, November $2.89¼-90¼.

Riots, Housing Issue Arouse Fear Backlash May Send Gov. Brown To Defeat

By BILL BOYARSKY

Sacramento, Calif. (AP)—Racial strife and voter hostility to open housing laws have raised fears among California Democrats that a white backlash will hurt Gov. Edmund G. Brown's chances for re-election.

Both Brown and his Republican opponent, Ronald Reagan, have said they'll try to avoid playing politics with last week's rioting in San Francisco Negro districts.

A Brown aide said the governor's action in calling out the National Guard "came off so well there doesn't seem to be any backlash."

But he echoed private fears in the Brown camp when he said, "You always figure you're an automatic loser when you have trouble. You're the manager of the team and you take the losses."

The violence, just six weeks before the election, renewed talk of the racial issue—a major one in 1964 when Californians, by a more than 2-1 vote, adopted a constitutional amendment that nullified the state law requiring open housing.

This year, the state supreme court overturned the amendment.

Despite their "no politics" statements, Brown and Reagan criticized each other during and after the San Francisco riots.

There are other issues, including charges and countercharges over what both candidates call extremism.

They also disagree over taxes, welfare, government spending, education and what to do about student conduct at the University of California at Berkeley.

Constantly reminding voters Brown is running for a third term, Reagan has said the administration has been "in power too long."

Brown, in turn, has frequently called attention to Reagan's inexperience. The actor has never held public office.

How does the election shape up today?

Morrison Answers GOP Smear Claim

Governor Frank Morrison Thursday night answered Republican charges that he was conducting a smear campaign by saying, "If you create your own smear you have to sit in your own smear."

He spoke to a Democratic rally here and party workers termed his speech "the most rousing" speech they have heard the U.S. senatorial candidate deliver.

Morrison said that Curtis's record must be an issue in the campaign and that the "smear" was only the facts of his record. He said the facts were that Curtis has talked about flood control for the Elkhorn and Loup rivers but "that the Babylonians 2000 years before Christ had more flood control on the Tigres—Euphrates River."

Curtis's refusal to place himself in the public eye where his record can be questioned is "placing Nebraskans under political guardianship" and causing them to be "spoon fed" appraisals of his record, Morrison charged.

"Do you want to help write the history of the nation or sit on the side and watch others complain about how it is being written," Morrison asked, emphasizing the need for Nebraska to take part in federal programs.

Morrison cited the progress of the state in the past eight years and said that "Curtis can't tolerate progress even when clothed in frugality and economy. He is not only attacking the Democrats but the thousands of Republicans who are helped in this record of achievment."

Mrs. Anderson Dies, Daughter Of Ex-Governor

Helen Marie Anderson, 89, widow of Walter L. Anderson who served in the Nebraska Legislature and was a member of the convention which gave Lincoln home rule, died Thursday.

She is the daughter of former Nebraska Governor Albinus Nance who served from 1879 to 1883 and for whom Nance County was named.

She was a member of the Eastern Star, the PEO, the DAR and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Anderson is survived by a niece Mrs. Linard Gambell of Lincoln.

Rocks Aid Astronauts

Portland, Ore. (AP)—The Oregon department of geology is heating water out of rocks that have been dry for 10,000 years or more. It is an experiment to help space explorers live on the moon.

GOVERNOR RECEIVES CENTERPIECE

Curtis Is Unhappy With 'Great Society' Spending

North Platte (AP)—Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., told a gathering at a Republican barbecue that the Johnson Administration's big spending and big deficit cannot be blamed on the Viet Nam war.

Curtis noted that since 1960 the expenditure for Health, Education and Welfare have increased by 200%. And, he said, expenditures by the State Department have gone up 64%, by the Commerce Department up 70%, and by the Interior Department, 91%.

In comparison, Curtis declared, the Defense Department spending, including the cost of war, is up only 34%.

Earlier in the day at a stop in McCook, the senator warned Nebraskans to beware of any plans which would result in further water controls vested in Washington.

"Every irrigator in Nebraska should become aware of the danger in the proposal to establish a Missouri Basin Commission with any additional power and authority whatever vested in the federal governmsnt," he declared.

"Some of the Washington planners haven't given up on the idea of forming a Missouri Valley Authority to control the development and operation of the Missouri River and all of its tributaries," he continued. "They would use the proposed commission as an entering wedge."

"Water rights are subject to state law. The right to use irrigation water follows the ownership of the land and is a property right that must be protected by state law.

"The federal government should not have the power to decide that water belonging to the land owner must be released at a given time for navigation, power, or any other purpose, even though the other purposes have merit."

Nebraska Artists' Sidewalk Display Set At Brownville

Lincoln Star Special

Brownville — Near 7,000 persons are expected to attend Brownville's annual fall festival Sunday, if good weather continues.

The day's activities will get started with a 1:30 p.m. parade.

Events scheduled include oldtime movies, tour of restored old homes, display of antiques including cars, plus old fashioned music. Both political parties will have representatives on hand.

A new feature of the festival will be a sidewalk display of works by Nebraska artists. Festival officials announced that artists are encouraged to bring their paintings to Brownville for display.

Sponsoring the festival is the Brownville Historical Society.

Man Reported Dead In Crash Found Unharmed

Minatare (AP) — If Mrs. Lawrence Two Bulls of Minatare was unusually happy Thursday, there was a good reason.

She went to Hermosa, S.D. Sunday for the funeral of her husband, reportedly a traffic accident victim, in Montana, and he showed up unharmed.

Two Bulls, a rodeo hand, traveled throughout the rodeo circuit. He was erroneously reported to have been burned beyond recognition in a traffic accident.

The funeral was arranged for Hermosa and Mrs. Two Bulls and other relatives made the trip to South Dakota. They found Two Bulls there. He had not been involved in the accident.
